Courtyard

The life of the student, with its complexities, joys, and frustrations, is a panorama becoming more vast through the varying stages of the student's growth. Within this panorama the student has three primary interests—academics, community, and recreation. The PIPER staff has tried to capture the student at his best in these three surroundings.

Knowledge, opportunity, growth—on these three words the future of the nation depends. As knowledge is one of the basic foundations of the universe, mankind continues to seek enlightenment in its varied fields. The high school student is probably the most inquisitive component of society, attempting to drain as much as he can from the tributaries of knowledge placed before him in his years of secondary schooling. At Thornridge, opportunity and growth are ever present, waiting for the student to grasp them. Striving always to motivate students toward success, the school directs its academic activities with the total development of knowledge, opportunity, and growth for its students in mind. Academic experience and opportunity, offered at Thornridge, constitute the first portion of the PIPER staff's photo essay on student life.

Where people of all ages gather together, a community is formed. Within this structure, life often centers around group activities. Thornridge, a hub of activity, is a part of the community, bursting with enthusiasm and eager to serve. The student, the most changeable member of this social structure, thinking of himself as a being of purpose, is eager to enlarge his frame of reference and to become a part of this community.

Academic classes over, students enjoy community experiences. Community talents blend to entertain at a variety show; community concerts bring culture to the area. Children's voices ring midst droning echoes in the pool as Thornridge students become teachers in a learn-to-swim class.

The holidays are heralded in by concerts meant to be enjoyed by the entire family. Beautiful days and happy occasions bring people together whether to cheer for a team or lend a hand in service. Look upon the next few pages and recall the emotions tied so closely with the events pictured there. Here are reflected a community and a school relating to each other for the betterment of both. These episodes are presented to the community through the eyes of the PIPER staff.

Cheers, booming from the gymnasium, depict the high school student as the world expects to find him—happy, carefree and full of enthusiasm. Having devoted himself to his studies and proved to be an important part of society through achievement and service, his energies find outlets with friends in activities at school and at home. In this atmosphere of friendly relationships, soaring exuberance, frantic activity, and quiet contemplation, the student finds fulfillment in his world outside of classes.

High school years bring many new experiences—dates, the first chance to have the car, and club memberships. All of these and more help to form the social life of a Thornridge student. Each year carries new adventures, such as a driver's license, a formal, a steady ring. How exciting, and frustrating is all this!

As the firsts come, so do the lasts. Tying up these events is commencement and hello to a new era. Old scenes fade to new; names and faces lose their significance. Those moments when the first and lasts occurred become warm memories. This essay now concerns itself with the most pleasant thoughts—moments set aside for fun, this year at Thornridge.

without ideals, without effort, without scholarship, without philosophical continuity there is no such thing as education.

ABRAHAM FLEXNER

CERAMIC students, Charlene Bluett, Gerry Ursitti, and Sharon Batek, used many texture medias to imprint a balanced design on their pottery.

Art Department Stressed Self-Expression

MISS WOGNUM emphasized proportion and relationship in parts of the human figure as she posed for sketches.

Individuality and creativity through artistic development were the ideals at which the art department was aimed. Courses in many fields of art were offered to the students. In basic art, a course for freshmen, students were exposed to art in its simplest forms. Through the use of movies and by their own work, these students were introduced to the use of line and color in a composition. If students had further enthusiasm for art, there were many varied paths that they could follow, but first they took Art I as a prerequisite. This course further advanced the students in artistic fundamentals and in the uses of various art media. Drawing and painting, crafts, ceramics, and jewelry were offered to students who were interested in artistic achievement through self-expression while working in a more complex art area.

DESIGN and shape were stressed in the jewelry of Carol Gustafson, Carol Blouin, Sharon Batek, Linda Stockus, and David Van Dommelen.

POLISHING and sawing on the lapidary machine resulted in jewelry of fine craftsmanship by Carol Soderlund and John Monyko.

HARD SOLDERING of metals on a charcoal block was the project of David Van Dommelen in the solder booth.

PLASTER, wire, and newspaper were the components of the artistic figures of Thomas McLean and Terry Ippel.

Business Education Provided Essential Training

Clicking typewriters and the hum of other business machines were ever-present sounds in the Business Department. Serving a dual purpose the department provided its students with general information and gave them specific training for a vocation.

Before any student could enroll in the more specialized business courses, he was required to take general business, an introductory course offered to freshmen and sophomores. This course provided the student with background information necessary for the further pursuit of study in the Business Department. In their junior and senior years four areas of specialization: stenographic, clerical, bookkeeping, and distributive education, were opened to the future business leaders. Each of these areas had its own required courses designed to prepare its students for peak performance in their chosen fields. The Business Department strove to equip its students for positions of importance in the ever-expanding and competitive world of business.

UNDER the guidance of Mr. Balstrode, the exacting compilation of large amounts of figures became more meaningful for Pat Triemstra and Cheryl Wright.

LEGIBILITY in outlines enabled Jeri Gibson to transcribe more quickly and accurately.

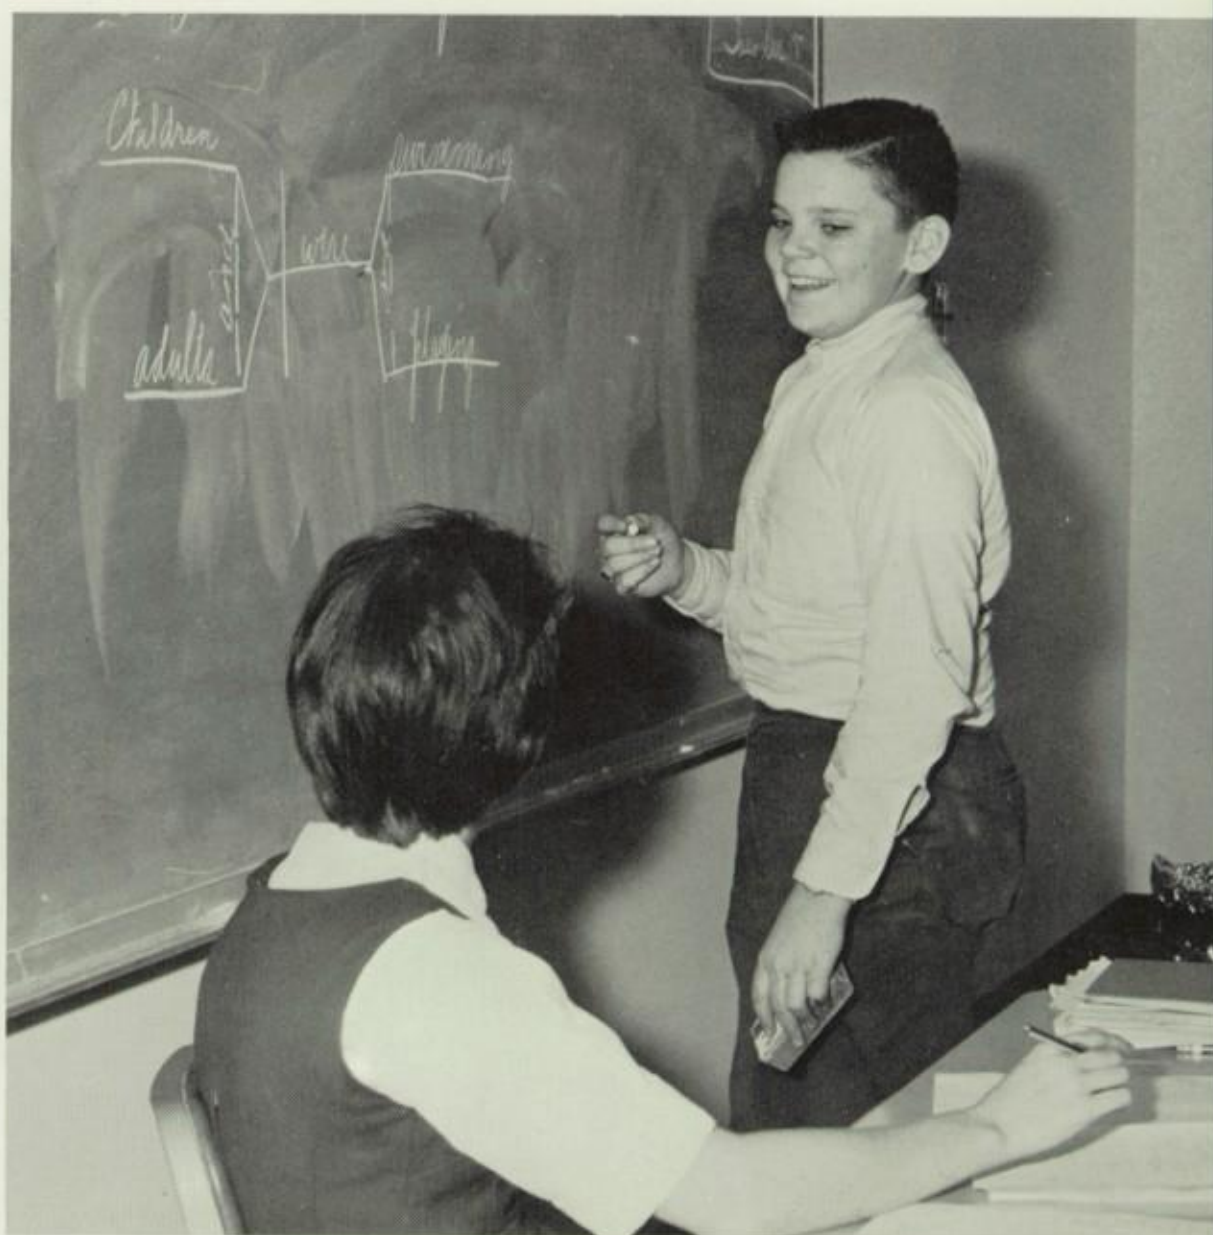

COORDINATING her fingers with her thinking speed Cindy Nichols practiced manuscript typing as Wilma Bult cut a mimeograph stencil.

AN ELECTRIC computer was one of the many machines Lauren Vandersteeg learned to use in Miss Sowers' business class.

SPEECH correctionist, Miss Christine Reid, welcomed students to her new office.

DIAGRAMING a sentence with a compound subject and verb was a problem to John Finnegan until Mrs. Schaffer explained the basic rule.

Writing Skills Strengthened in English

ORAL explanation of grammatical rules by Kim Anderson in Mr. Bean's class posed questions to classmates.

Literature, language, and life were the subjects of many discussions as students strove to improve their understanding of English. By expressing themselves rhetorically, students found the study of grammar more meaningful. The English department continued to stress originality and continuity as well as content in writing, and emphasized the correct use of everyday English. The struggle with term papers and themes continued as students swarmed to the library for reference material. Term papers and other themes are kept by the English department from year to year for reference of the students progress.

Miss Reid, speech correctionist, joined the department this year, and aided students with her program. Several Thornridge graduates have credited the English department by being excused from freshmen English courses in college as a result of the training received from their high school courses. English, a required course, put thought, word and action into use while stressing grammatical perfection.

Speech Classes

Developed Confidence

The Speech Department has become a larger, more efficient, and more important part of Thornridge's curricula since it was established with Speech II; a required course for sophomores which taught students the fundamentals in organizing their thoughts for public speaking. Advanced speech, which enabled students to work in the fields of public speaking, radio and television, oral interpretation, and theater, was also offered.

The Speech Department was in charge of the organization of all-school plays. Students entered two invitational high-school speech contests, participating in public speaking, oral interpretation, original monologue, verse, and prose. Thornridge hosted the district contest of the Illinois State Speech Contest in February and also hosted the Drama Festival, a play contest. The Speech Department cultivated the creativity and speaking talents of the student body by expanding its facets.

SPEECH II opened the doors of public speaking to Barbara De-Young and trained her classmates to listen objectively.

ADVANCED speech class members, Bonnie Bass, Sheryl Pizante, and James Byrne learned that skillfully applied stage make-up could transform a student into any type of character.

A THANKSGIVING assembly given by the advanced speech classes included a humorous skit in which David Kelly and Laurie Aubrecht portrayed a colonial couple.

Foreign Language Study Promoted Understanding

Latin, Spanish, French and German constituted the languages offered by the Foreign Language Department. Comprehension was the major objective stressed by the department. To speak a language one must understand it, so the task of learning began. The language laboratory helped develop techniques of speaking and allowed students to practice language skills in privacy. Studying the country, its people, and its origin also helped Thornridge linguists.

French, German, and Spanish second and third year students were allowed to enter a National Language competition held in the spring in Chicago. Sixteen French students were nominated for membership in the "Societe Honoriare De Francias", based on the students' accuracy, fluency, and comprehension in speaking the French language. Through the efforts of this department the pupils learned to break a barrier of communication.

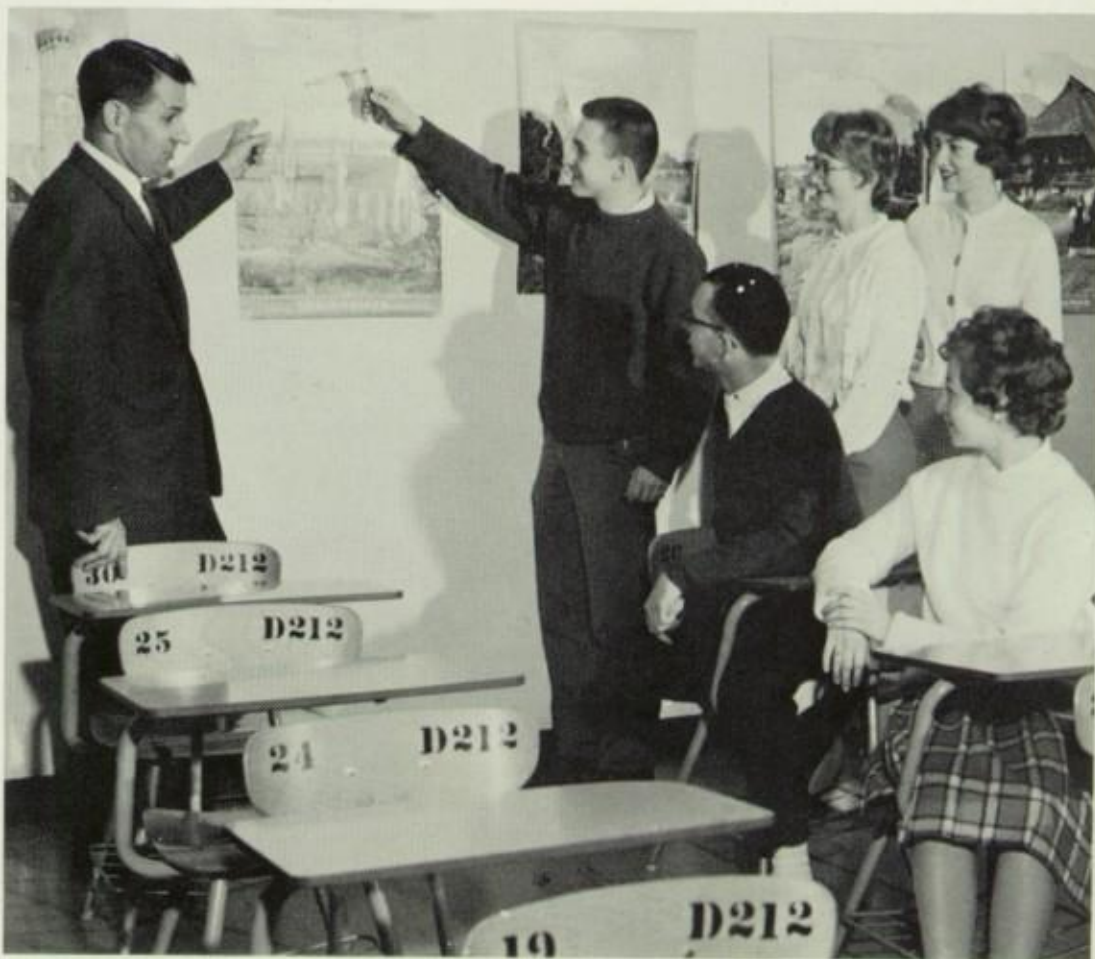

LANGUAGE lab introduced new experiences in conversation to Miss Berth's French Class.

CIVILIZATION of ancient Greece interested Latin I students John Daley, Luan Fernhaber, and Ray Kaminski.

GERMAN students made a game of naming objects and landmarks on colorful posters.

CANDY-FILLED piñata, held high by Ray Sears, was the target of blind-folded Janet Cavallo as Becky Arias and Lee Gustafson gave helpful hints.

LINGUIST, Mr. Avery, called upon Ted Koch to explain in fluent French to classmates, John Eberhardt, June Connelly, and Margaret MacKay, the geography of France.

"A WELL PLANNED meal is a sign of a good homemaker," explained Mrs. Tondryk to Gerry Munis and Bonnie McRoberts.

HOMEMAKING student, Janice Griggs, learned that an over-loaded machine could upset the cycle of an appliance.

Home Economics Classes Trained Homemakers of Tomorrow

The Home Economics Department stressed the basics in the culinary arts, dressmaking and designing, time management, and child care. Each of these subjects was taught the first year. The second year the department offered a course in effective living as an individual, and as a family member. Care for the sick, home decoration, and food preparation were components of the course.

Everyday Living classes offered study in money management, family relations, house planning, decorating, and child development. The mothers of the girls were entertained at an open house, a fashion show, and a buffet luncheon. Later on the girls sponsored a play school for their brothers and sisters to facilitate observation of childhood behavior.

TESTING the water and preparing blankets were parts of the correct procedure Chris Myszkowski, Donna Reinke, and Lois De Young used in bathing the baby.

PRESSING seams was a must for neatness in a sewing class project for Barbara Hipps and Betty De Vries.

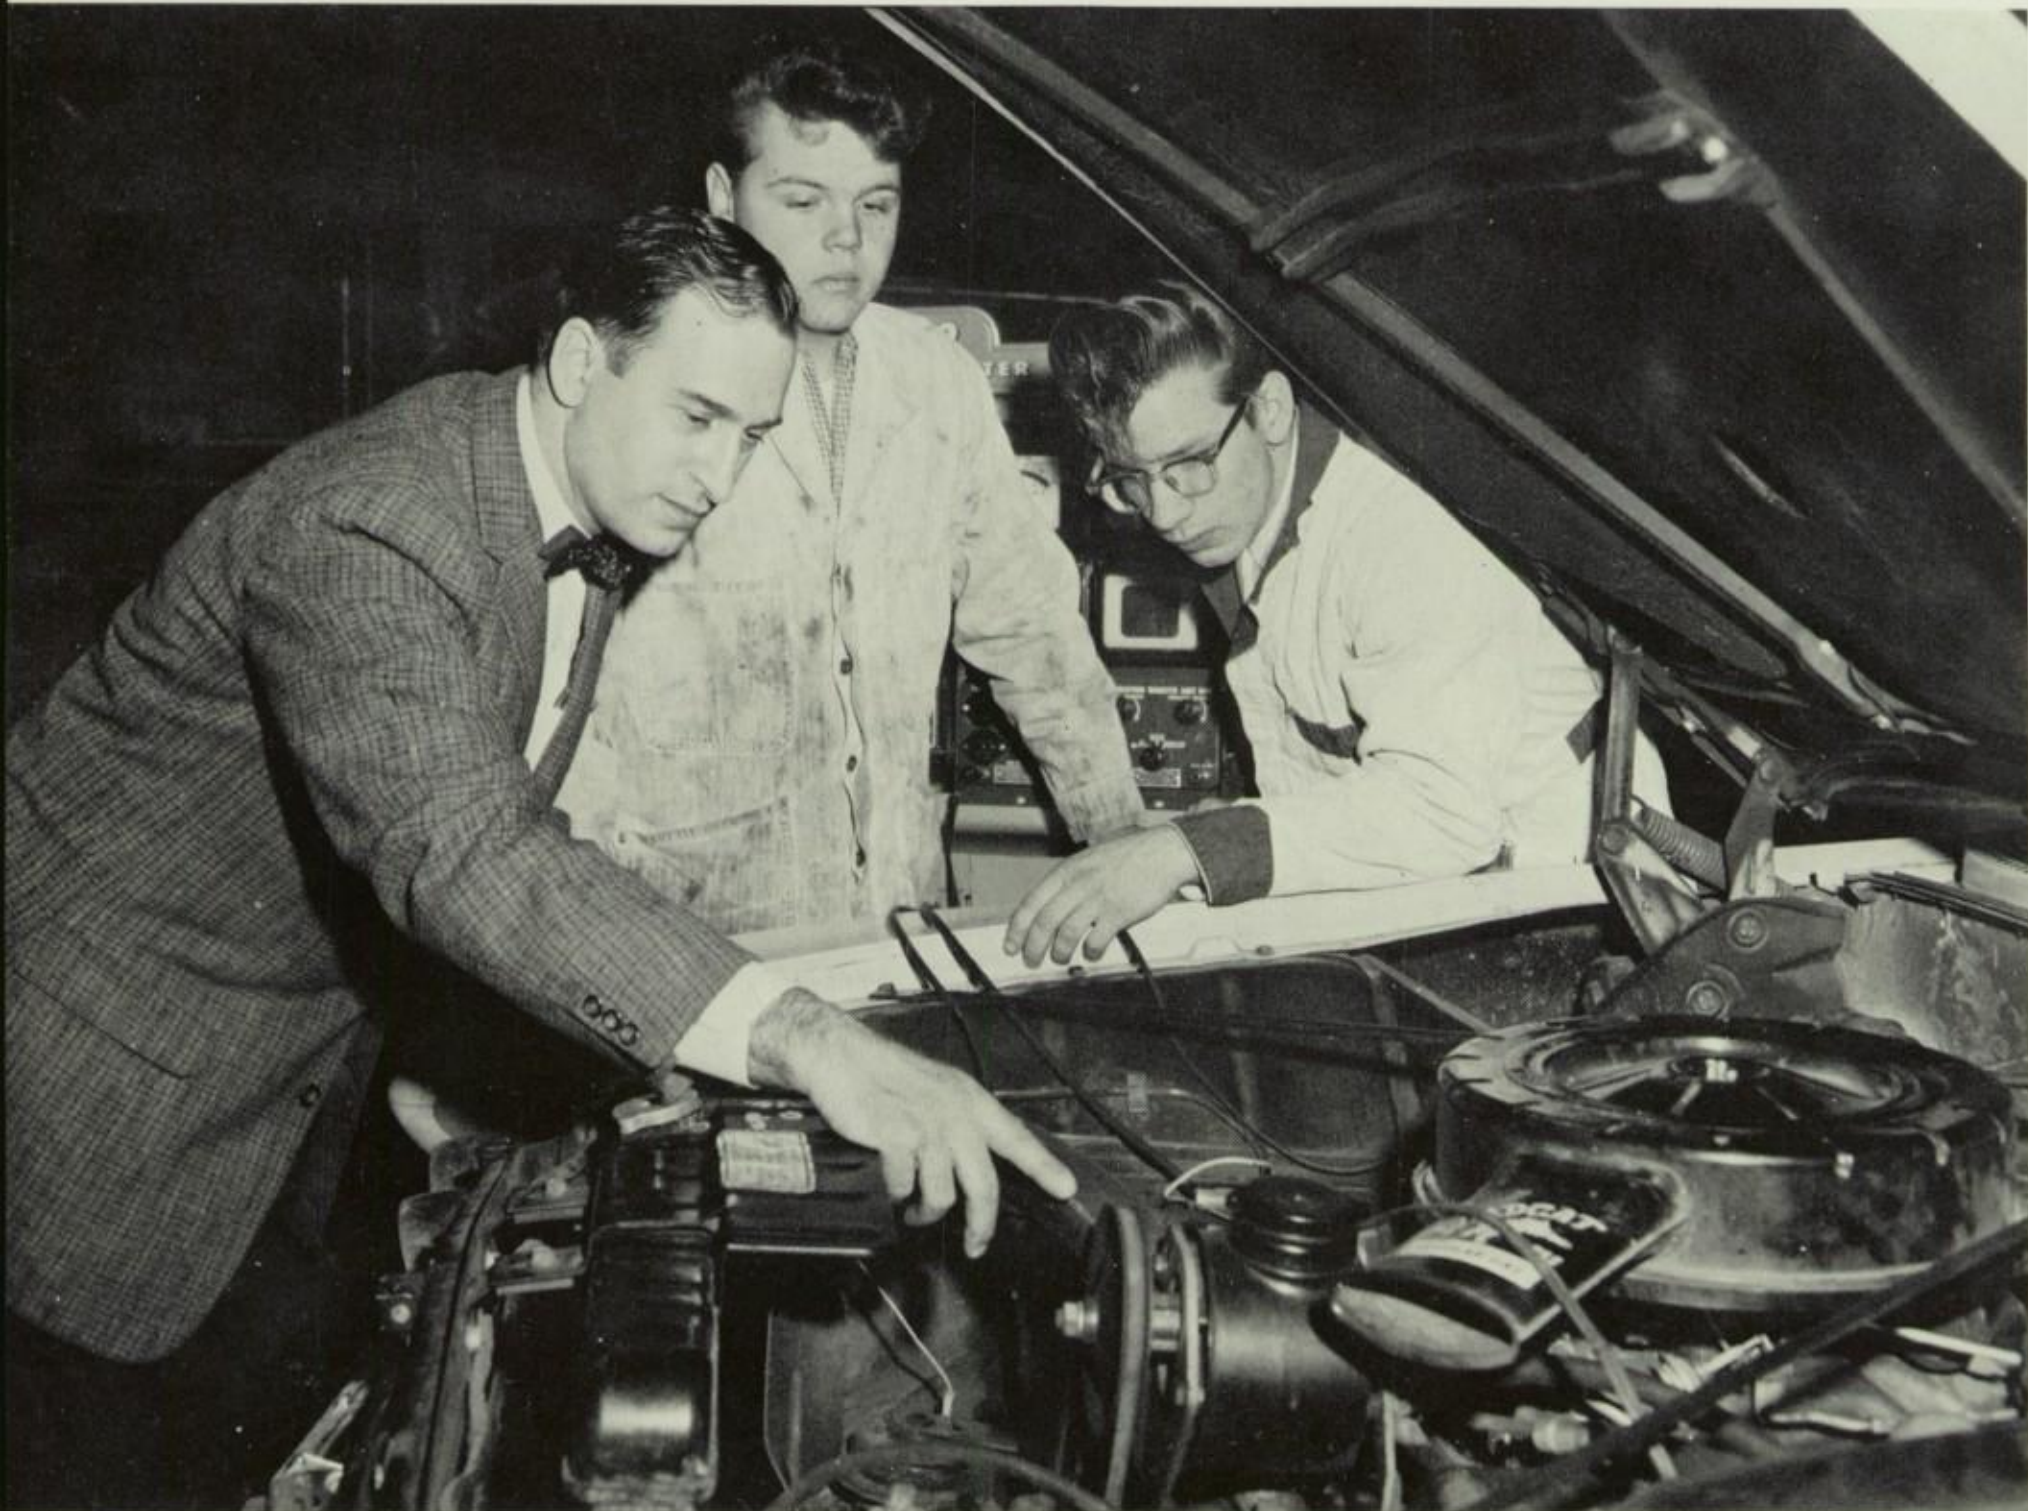

MAKING CANDY, Jackie Grisanti, Laurel Hutchinson and Suzy Preski tested the consistency.

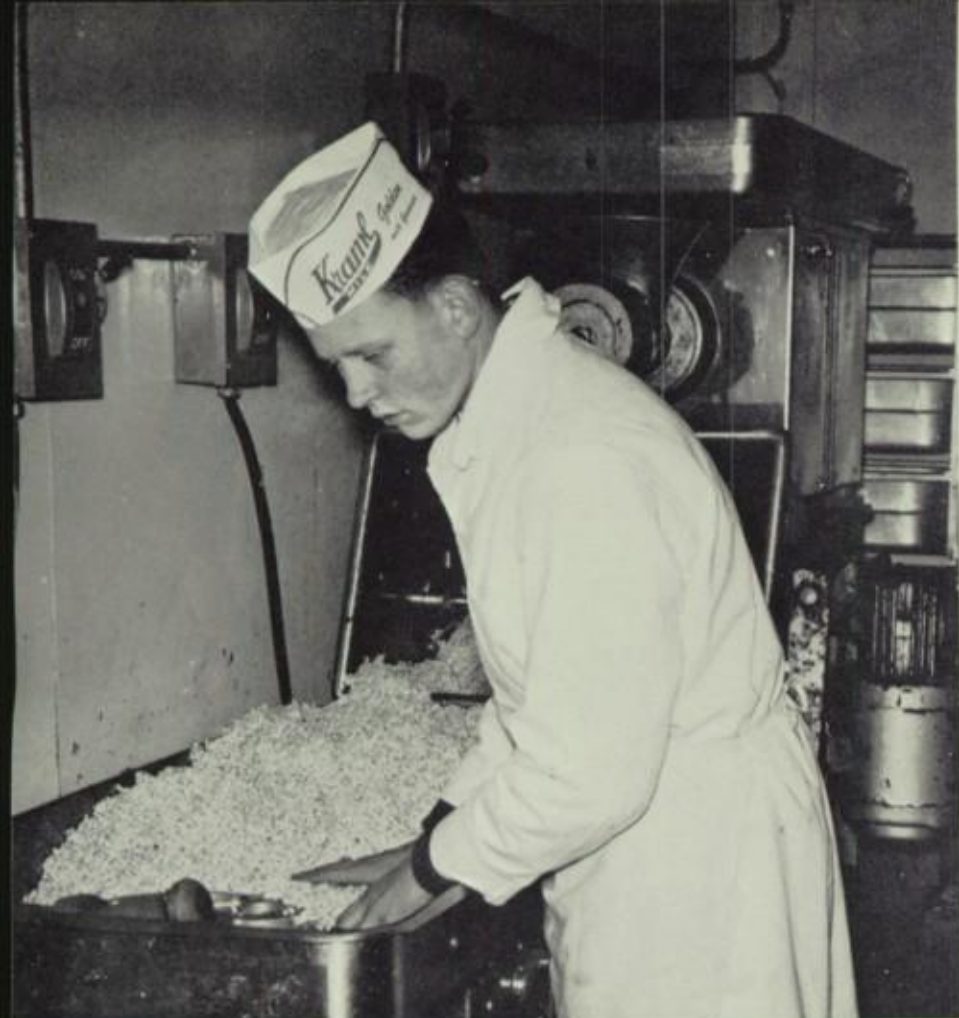

Dear Lois,
It's been nice having you in my gym class
this year. I hope you and I will get to know each other better
next year.
Good luck,
Jody

D. O. CLUB: Row 1—Kenneth Pott, vice president; Harry Nolan, president; Marlin Gordon, treasurer; Robert Kintz, secretary. Row 2—Linda Parjko, Al Voss, Ken Anderson, Paul Tamminga, Dennis Ott.

POINTING out the position of the power steering unit to Donald Peterson and Joseph Wymierski, Mr. Tipton explained how part operated when the wheel turned.

D. O. Students Learned By Doing

A program of diversified occupations was designed to provide vocational training in a trade on a pre-apprenticeship basis for students during their junior and senior years. The students worked and attended school, each on a part-time principle. During this two-year program, the students were learning a craft, earning wages while in vocational preparation and being schooled in the theory and the practice of an occupation under actual industrial conditions. After the students had completed this plan in a conscientious way, industry made way for them as mechanics, bakers, draftsmen, photographers, florists, and lab-technicians.

COD FAT was one of the meat preparations in which Harry Nolan became skilled while working at the Model Town and Country as a student butcher.

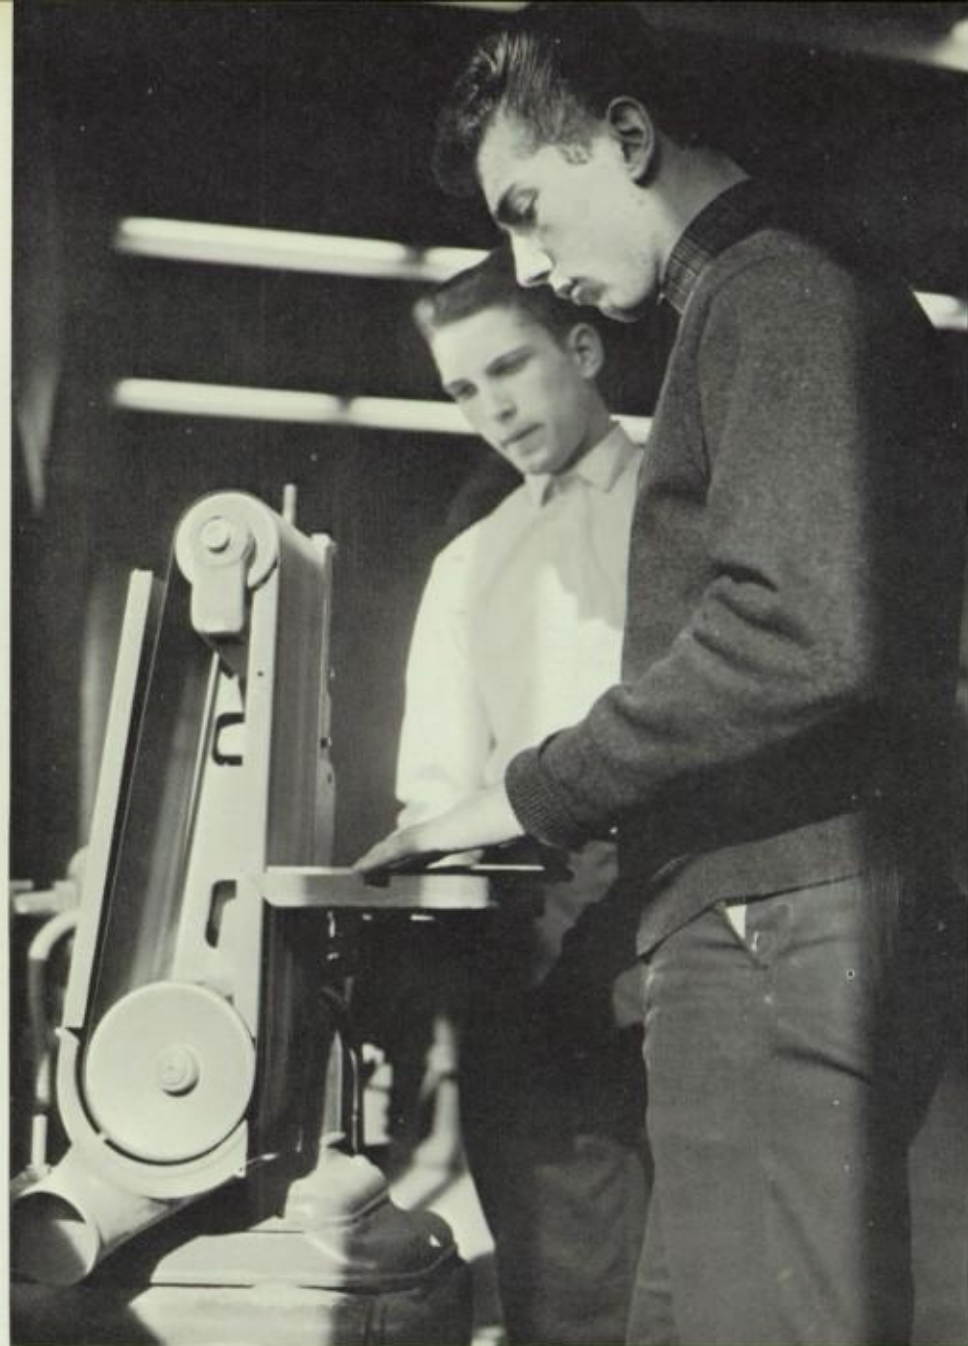

THE SWITCHBOARD and the typewriter kept Robert Gray busy at his job at the desk of Town and Country Motel.

Industrial Education Increased Vocational Aptitudes

Correct industrial shop procedures were stressed in each of the areas of the Industrial Arts department. Learning to use tools and to follow plans, each student gained knowledge in classes coinciding with his own special interest. Experiences in auto mechanics, wood working, metal fabrication, printing, and mechanical drawing helped introduce students to techniques and know-how which would prove invaluable as he entered the industrial and manufacturing trades.

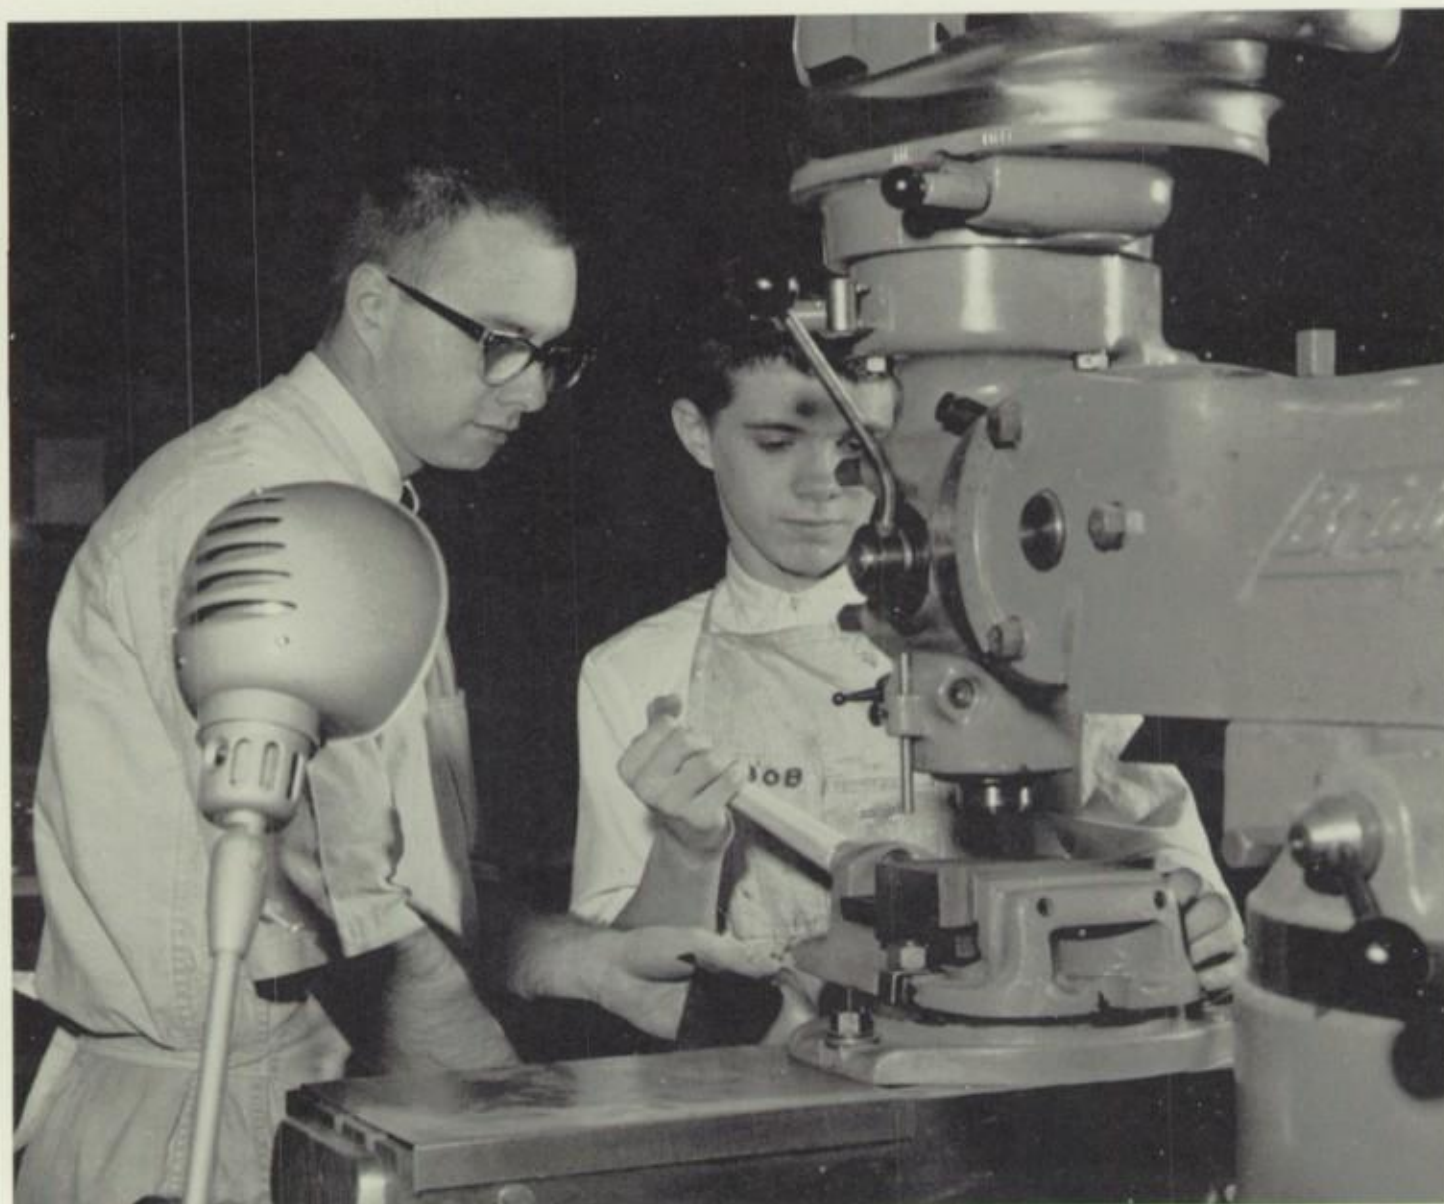

The most modern tools and equipment, as well as the most advanced approaches to industrial problems, challenged each boy as he prepared for his life's work in the highly specialized complex of today's industrial community.

THE ELECTRIC SANDER made fine finishing easy for Bill Lorenzi in wood shop.

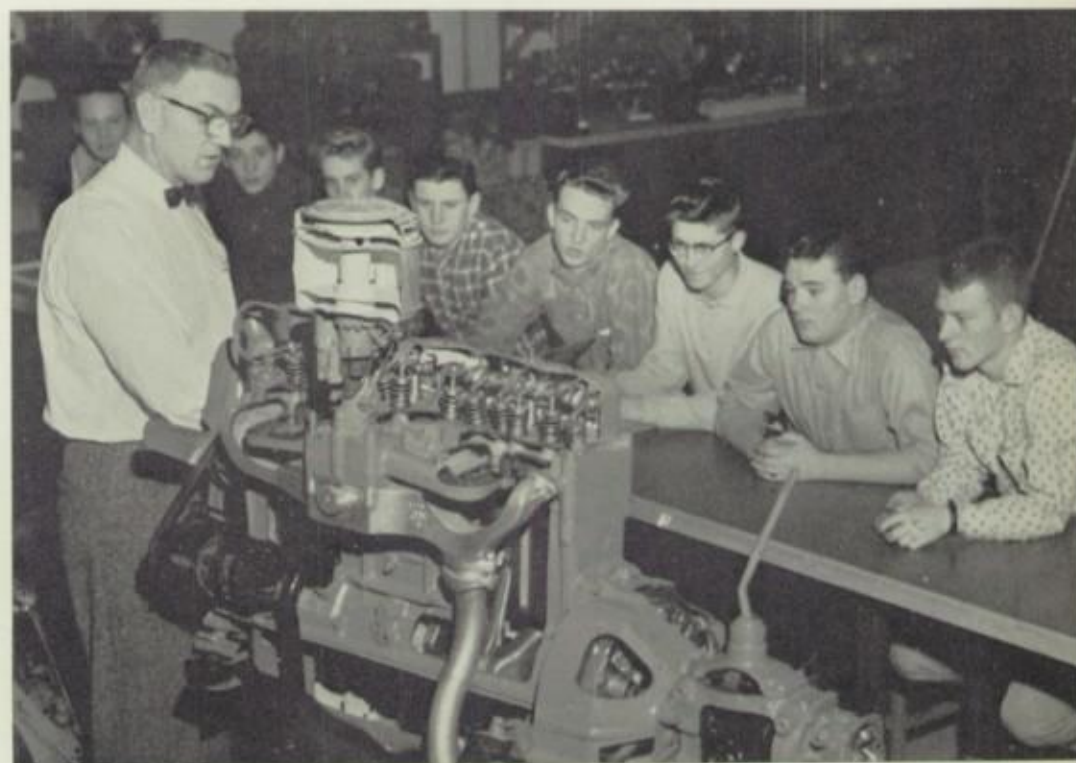

SETTING TYPE became routine as class members became familiar with type and printing.

INK APPLICATION to the printing press was accomplished by Greg Broski as Dan Van Dommelen remained an interested observer.

A NEW ADDITION to the Industrial Arts Department, an end mill machine, used for facing steel, was demonstrated by Mr. Buckman.

THE FUNCTION of a motor was explained by Mr. Sturm from a cut-away model.

GEOMETRY students, Richard Mehlan and Georgia Stump used the over-head projector to show the relationship of sides when proving the Pythagorean theorem.

Math Developed Clear Thinking

The mathematics department offered a solid foundation in the essentials of mathematics and continued the construction of this groundwork by teaching advanced courses to college-bound students. Through the use of the overhead projector, students were shown the relationships between angles and figures. Geometry and trigonometry gave many a tussle to the students as they battled the facts and figures to solve baffling equations and theorems. Protractors, compasses and slide rules constituted the equipment carried by the students as they tested their logic while solving problems. On the knowledge Thornridge mathematics students gained, they will be able to go on in higher courses to prepare for their professions.

FRACTIONS in a quadratic equation had the boys baffled until Donna Johnson logically worked the problem at the board.

PROVING angles equal in an Euclidean theorem was the mathematical challenge of Thomas Michaelis in Mr. Carten's class.

INNER EXPRESSION rang forth from Carol Herman and Lorrie Johnson as they sang "O Make Our Hearts To Blossom."

Modern Music Stressed

Round and round A building there was music in the air as choruses and bands practiced during the day. Expanding their department by one this year, the music department offered a diversified program, a group for nearly every ability level of either vocal or instrumental music. In addition, it introduced each freshman to the appreciation of great music. The department stressed not only excellence in performance but the development of musical understanding and skill in its classes, emphasizing the expressive and communicative power of music.

BAND member, Gene Franiak, had all he could handle as he balanced his tuba to practice a marching tune.

"DEVELOPING vocal control and harmony consumed hours of practice," verified Mr. Rittman and the Freshmen Girls Chorus.

PERFECTING his position for an inverted hang, John McDougal received assistance from Steve Farkos.

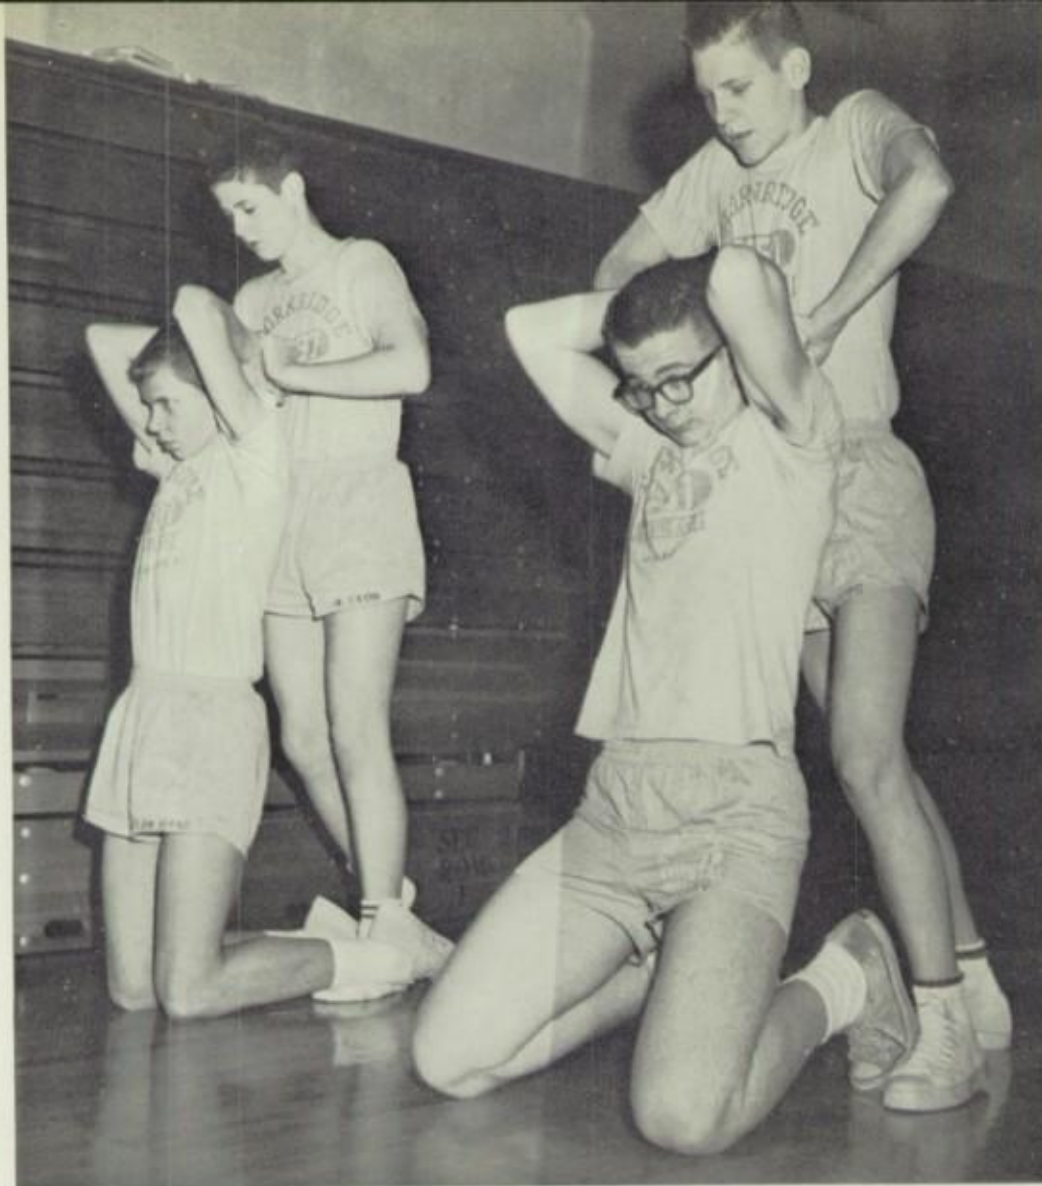

Boys P. E. Added Driver Education

The Boys' Physical Education Department developed and educated the student through a media of wholesome and interesting physical activities. To this end the Physical Education Department designated the purpose of its curriculum. Designed to serve over 1,000 boys, the program included vigorous activities planned evenly through the four years. The courses helped the student to realize his maximum capacities, both physical and mental, and to learn to use these powers intelligently.

As a freshman, a boy took gym three days a week with health education the other two days. An upperclassman chose the field of physical education that he was interested in and also had the opportunity to become a class leader. Driver education taught the fundamentals of driving skill. The Physical Education Department emphasized the fact that brains and brawn should be inseparable.

BACK PITCHES tested the physical endurance of freshmen, Edward Jambrik and Mike Overman.

FORCE applied by Dan Tydd and David Berg in elbow extension presses helped Wally Van Dyke and Jon Rau develop muscle coordination and strength.

DOING the leg-split with skill and form allowed Ed Moore to progress to more difficult stunts on the horse in Mr. Sammons' class.

CYNDE EDWARDS shot for the goal during a lively game of water polo.

THE SAMBA set the rhythm for dancers in Mrs. Moore's rhythms class.

WHILE MRS. WENTZ and amateur gymnasts spotted, Betty Magnuson rose to great heights as she demonstrated a pike.

Girls' P. E. Varied

Swimming, volley ball, rhythms, and the fatiguing exercises of the girls' physical education courses were just a few events girls tussled with during the high school year. Learning how to do a graceful back dolphin, the components of teamwork, or which hip goes what way in the samba were some problems girls encountered. The Girls' Physical Education Department offered freshmen sports, swimming, dance or sports for the sophomore and junior years, and senior sports. After four years of physical education, every girl has some knowledge of first aid, archery, swimming, and zillions of other sports as well as health. Sophomore girls also participated in driver education. Giving the girls the fundamentals in as many activities as possible and drilling them in their chosen fields was the purpose of the Girls' Physical Education Department. With shuttlecocks, golf and tennis balls flying, and the squeak of the trampoline, horse, and parallel bars, every girl was exposed to the many facets of physical education.

Dear Lois,
Best Wishes and
Good Luck throughout

WAISTLINES melted because vigorous exercises were included in the program of Girls' Physical Ed.

PLAYERS were tense as Betty Kloppenburg prepared to return the ball to the opposing team.

George F. Shouse

THE BALANCE between plant and fish life in the aquarium was surveyed by Frank Barch, Kathy Campbell, and Linda Cogswell.

AN EXPERIMENT in plant growth was the scientific project of Donna Darozynsky and Ruth Hagar under the guidance of Mr. Shouse.

CLASS DISCUSSION was led by Bob Miller and Pam Corbett as the chemists explained the relationship of oxygen to other elements.

It's me! I thought I'd get a chance for some time. Linda.

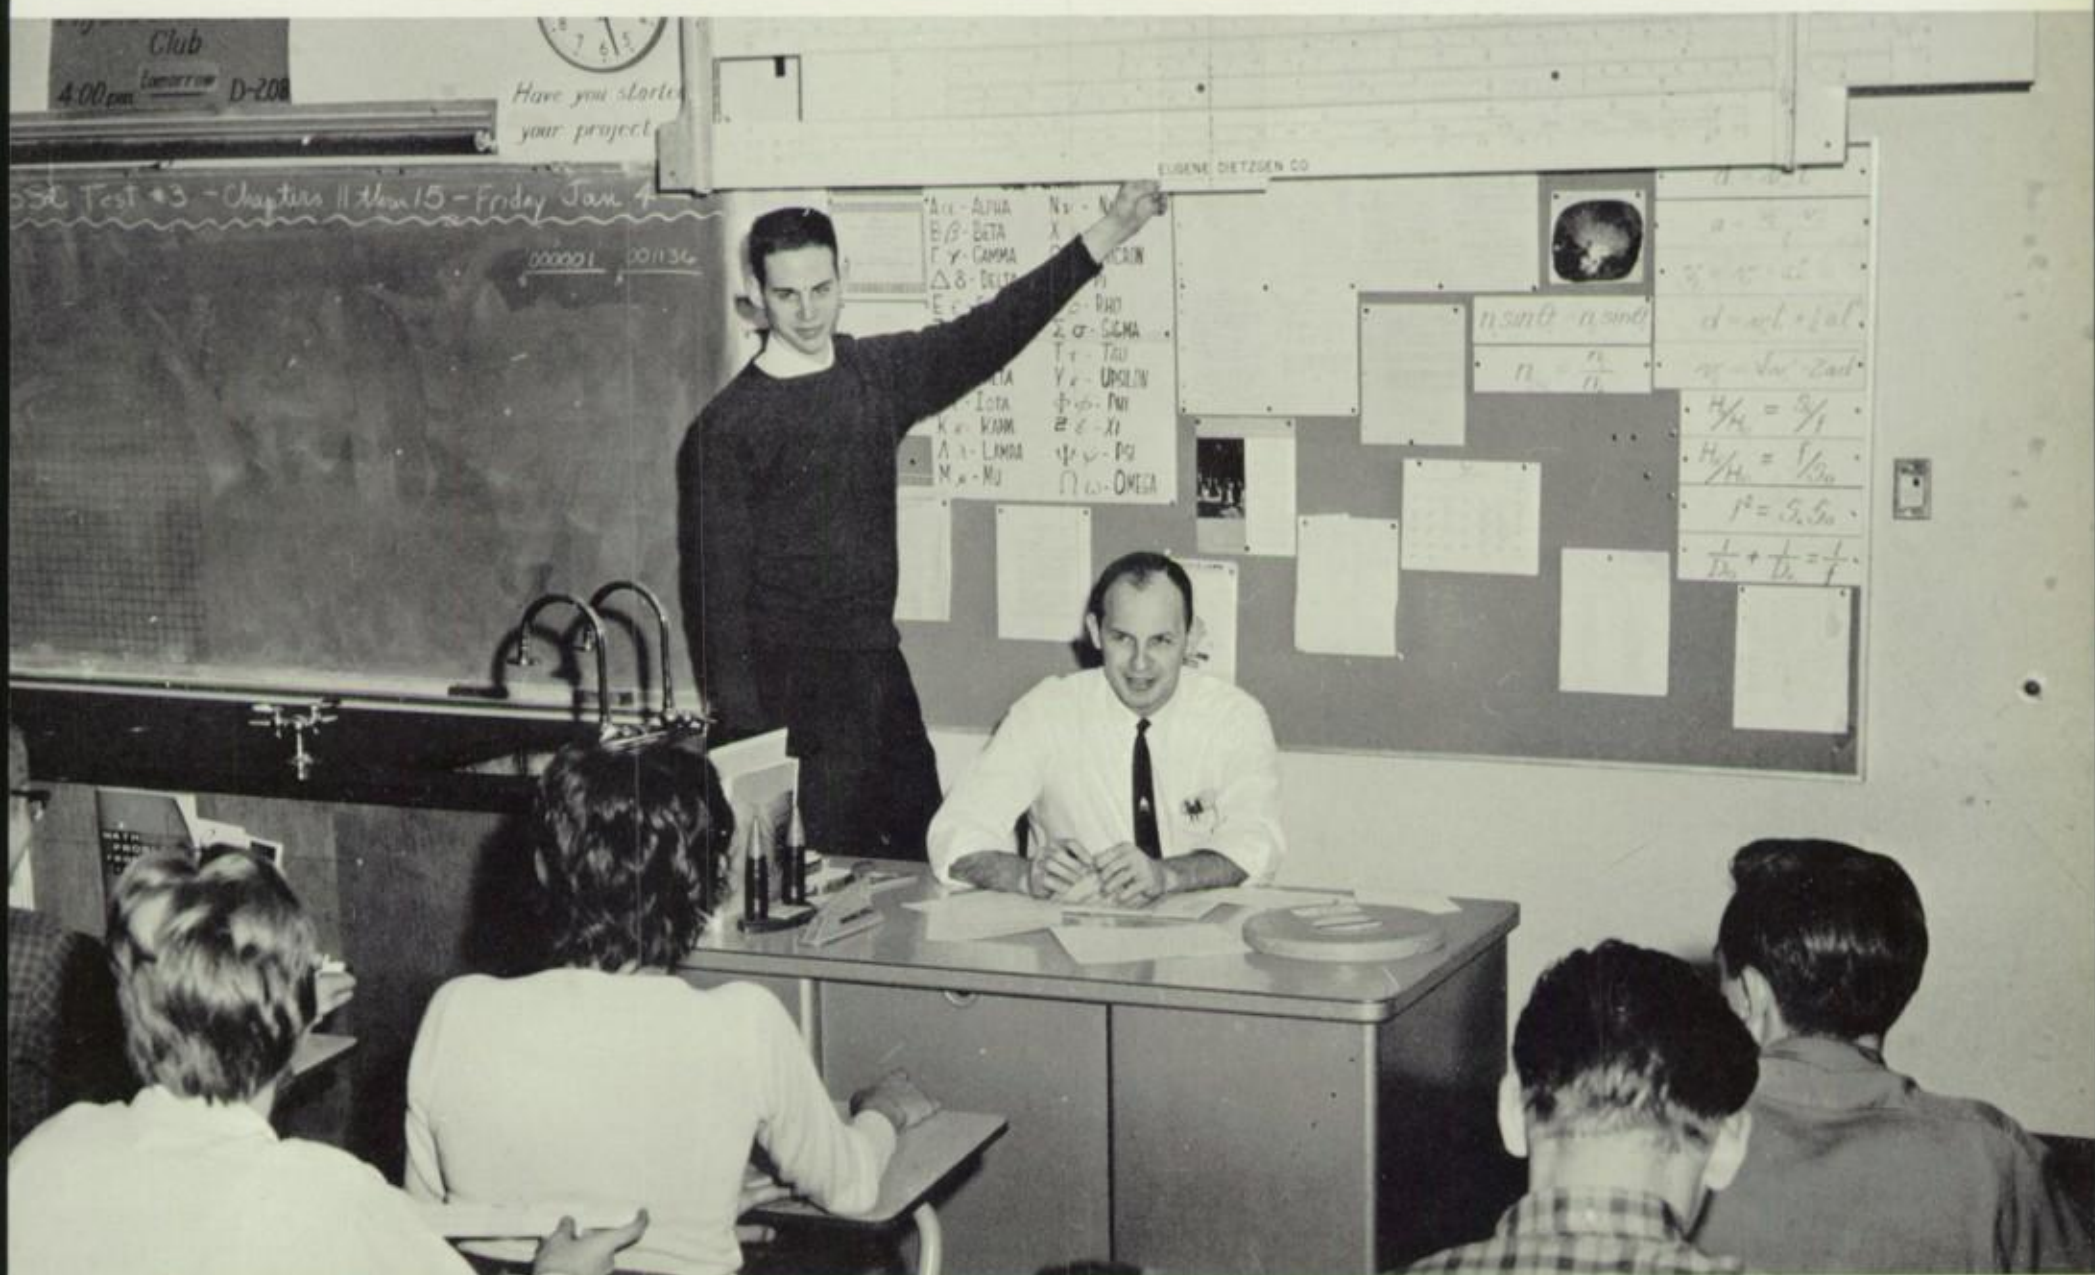

Science Advanced With Experimentation

As a result of the atomic age and the current race for space, science has become increasingly more interesting and more important to everyone. This trend is evident in the large selection of courses and the well-equipped science rooms at Thornridge. General science, physical science, biology, chemistry, physics, and science seminar were offered at Thornridge.

All of the physics classes were taught P.S.S.C. Physics. This course, introduced last year, was developed by a physics professor from M.I.T. Other science courses were also taught with new approaches.

Outstanding science students scored high for the Westinghouse Science Talent Search. In March future scientists entered Science Fair projects. First prize winners at the Illinois Institute of Technology qualified for state competition.

USING the giant-size slide rule, Charles Tindall explained to his classmates how he solved his logarithmic problem in Mr. Appenbrink's slide-rule class.

DISPLACEMENT of hydrogen was the experiment of Randy Ropp.

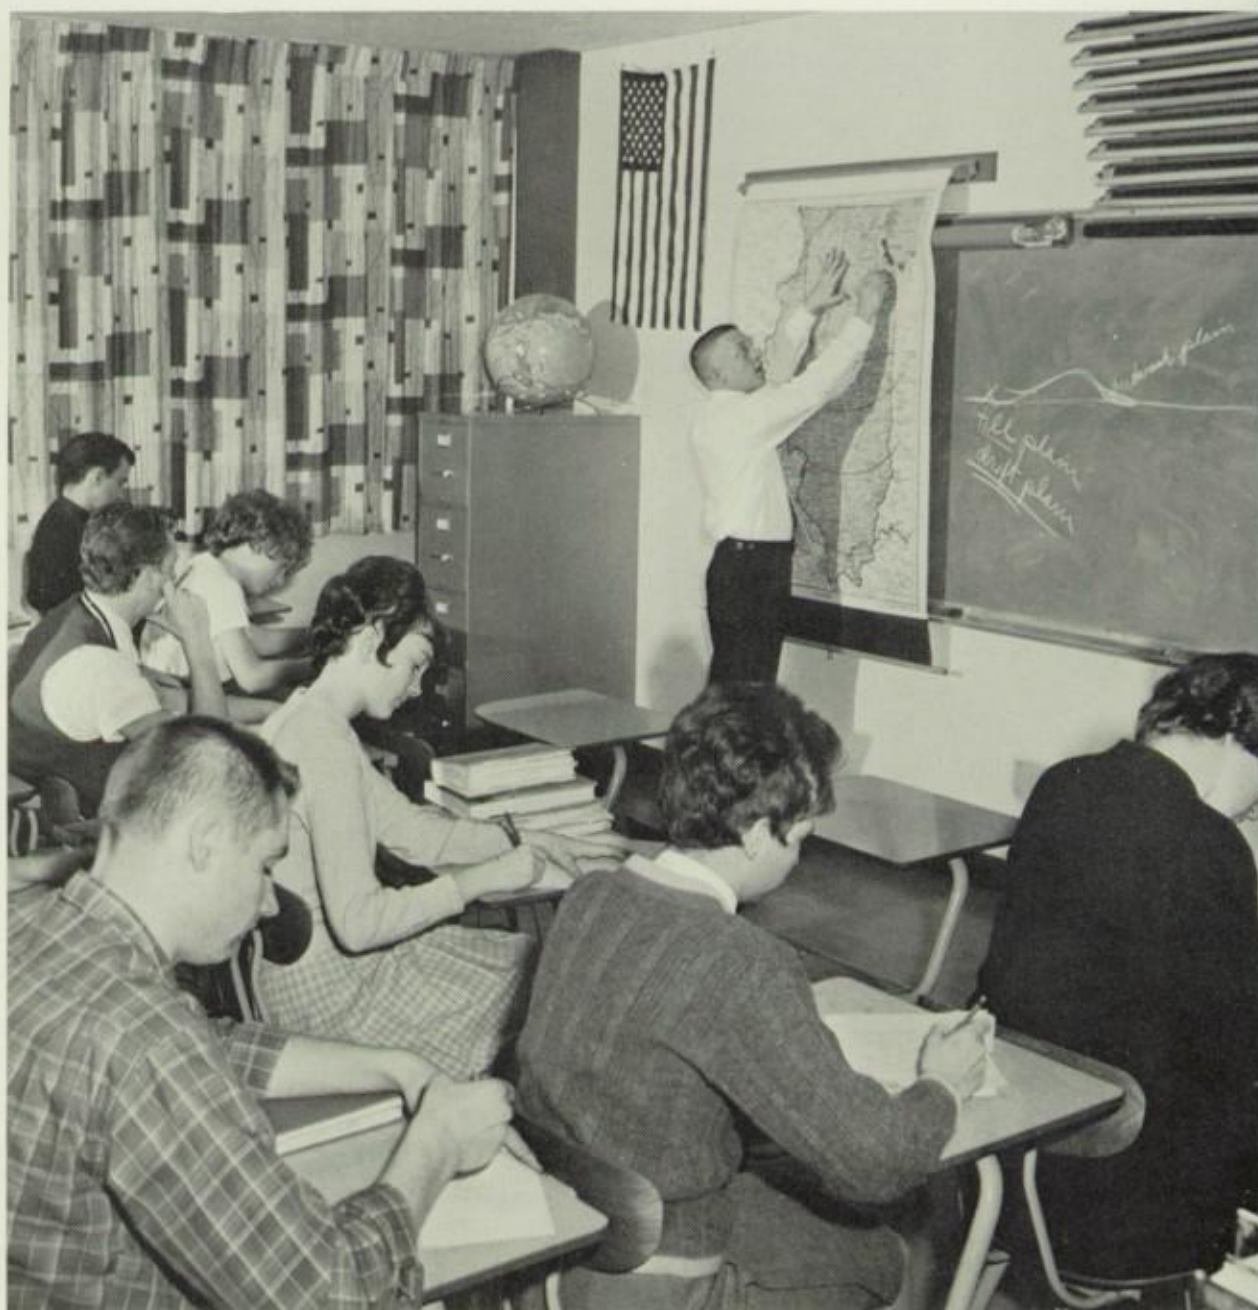

Social Studies Classes Explored World

To further a student's understanding of himself, his family, his community, and the nation and world he lives in were the objectives of the Social Studies Department. Planned as an introduction to the social sciences, Social Studies I assisted freshmen in their orientation to Thornridge. During the second semester of Social Studies I students learned about the different phases of the social sciences offered to them. American History, required by the state of Illinois, was planned to give the student a more thorough understanding of the history of our country and its foundation. Modern problems courses taught the student the major problems in the United States today and also an understanding of them, while modern history students discussed the current events which make or break today's society. The Social Studies Department prepared the student for the competitive world that awaits him, and stressed the fact that understanding others is vital to one's complete growth.

THE LOUISIANA PURCHASE, indicated by Jim Freeman, was a topic of discussion in Mr. Taylor's American history course.

VITAL ISSUES, a social studies newspaper, was perused by Mr. Fuller and Mrs. Carter.

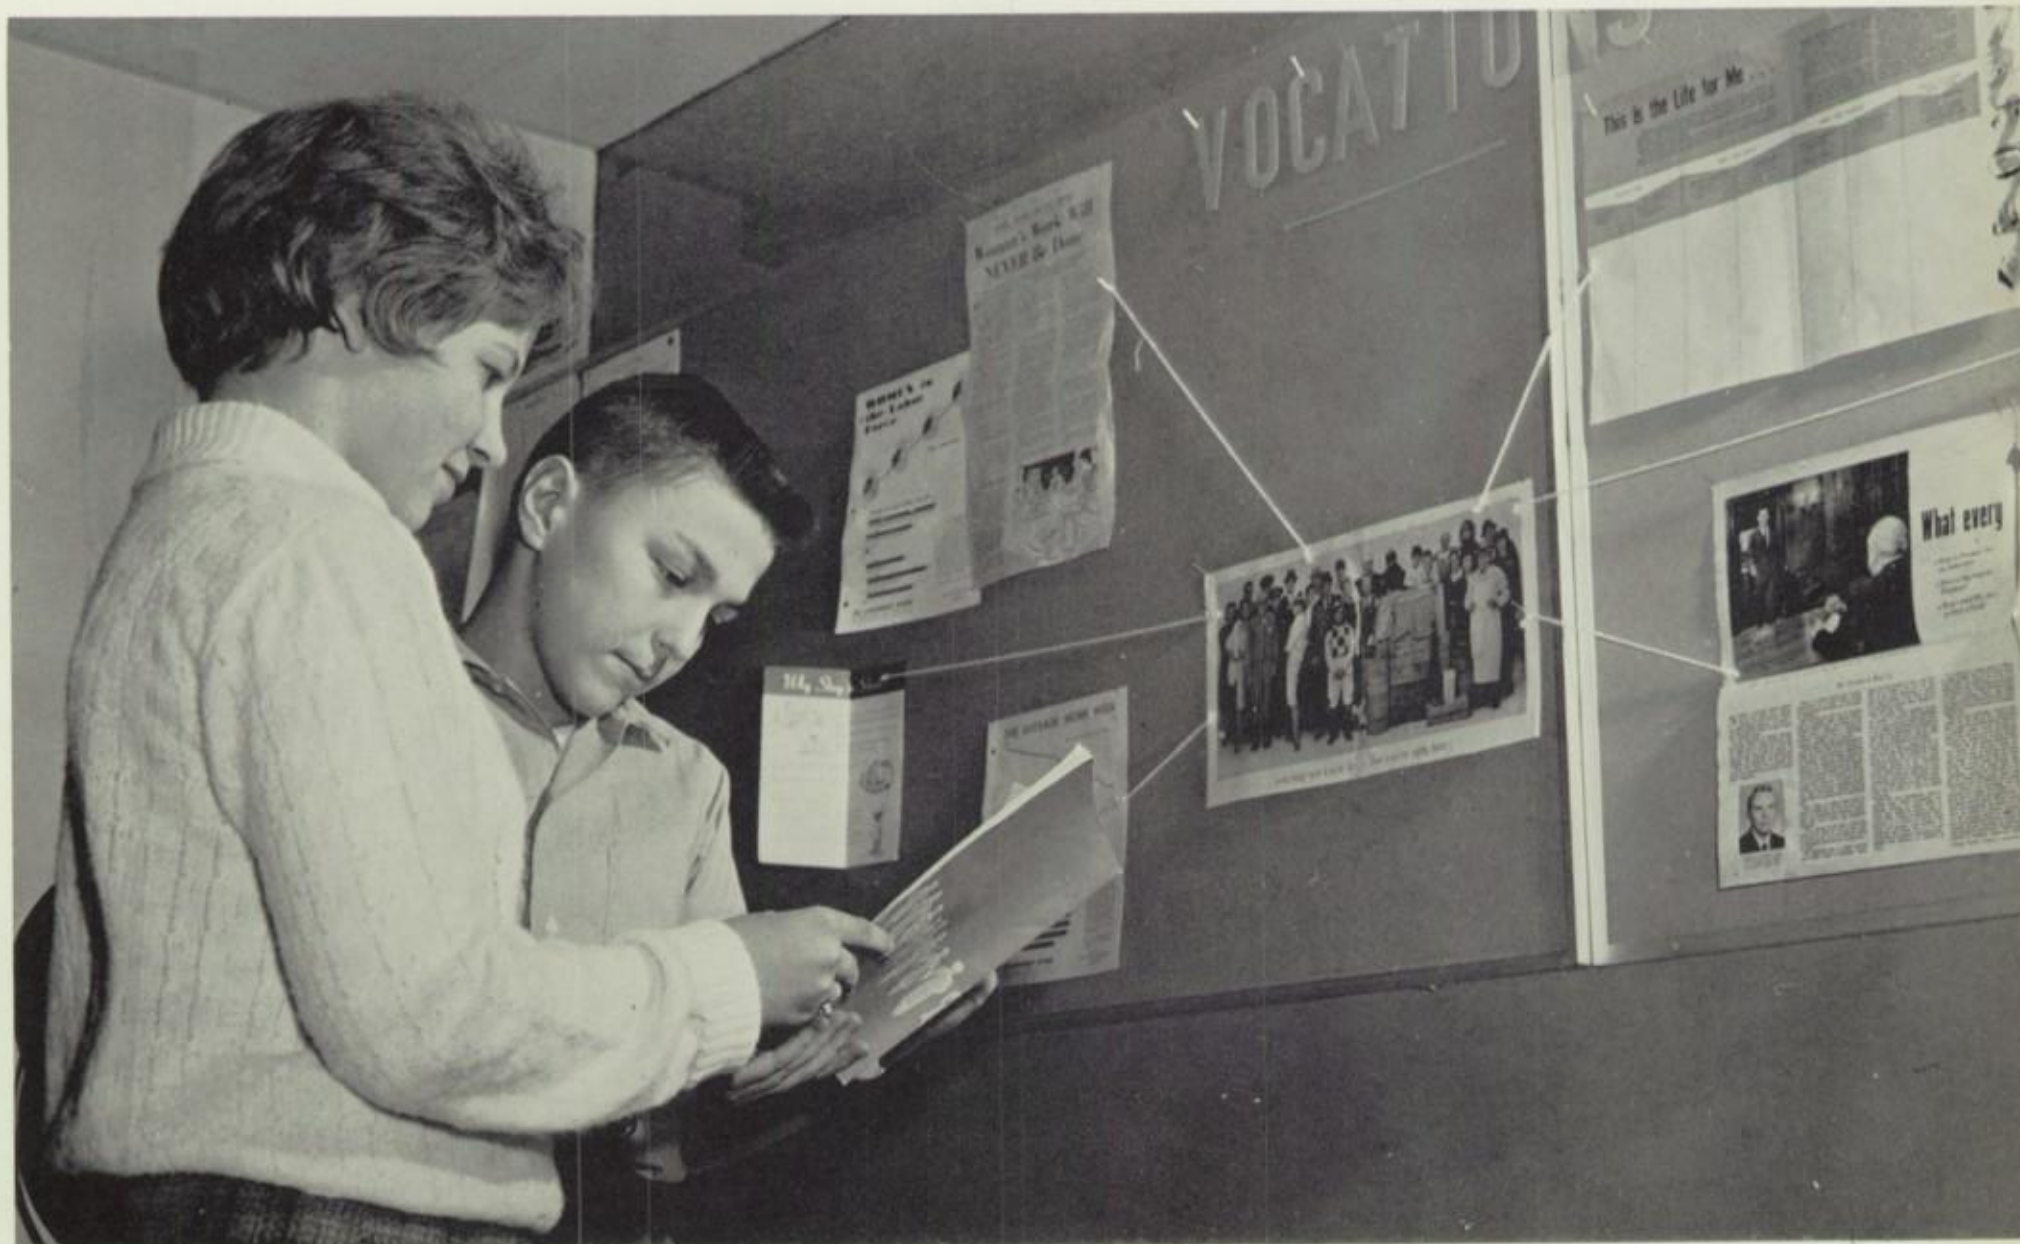

TO HELP students with a more thorough elaboration, Mr. Cook referred to the map on Illinois topography.

Social Structures

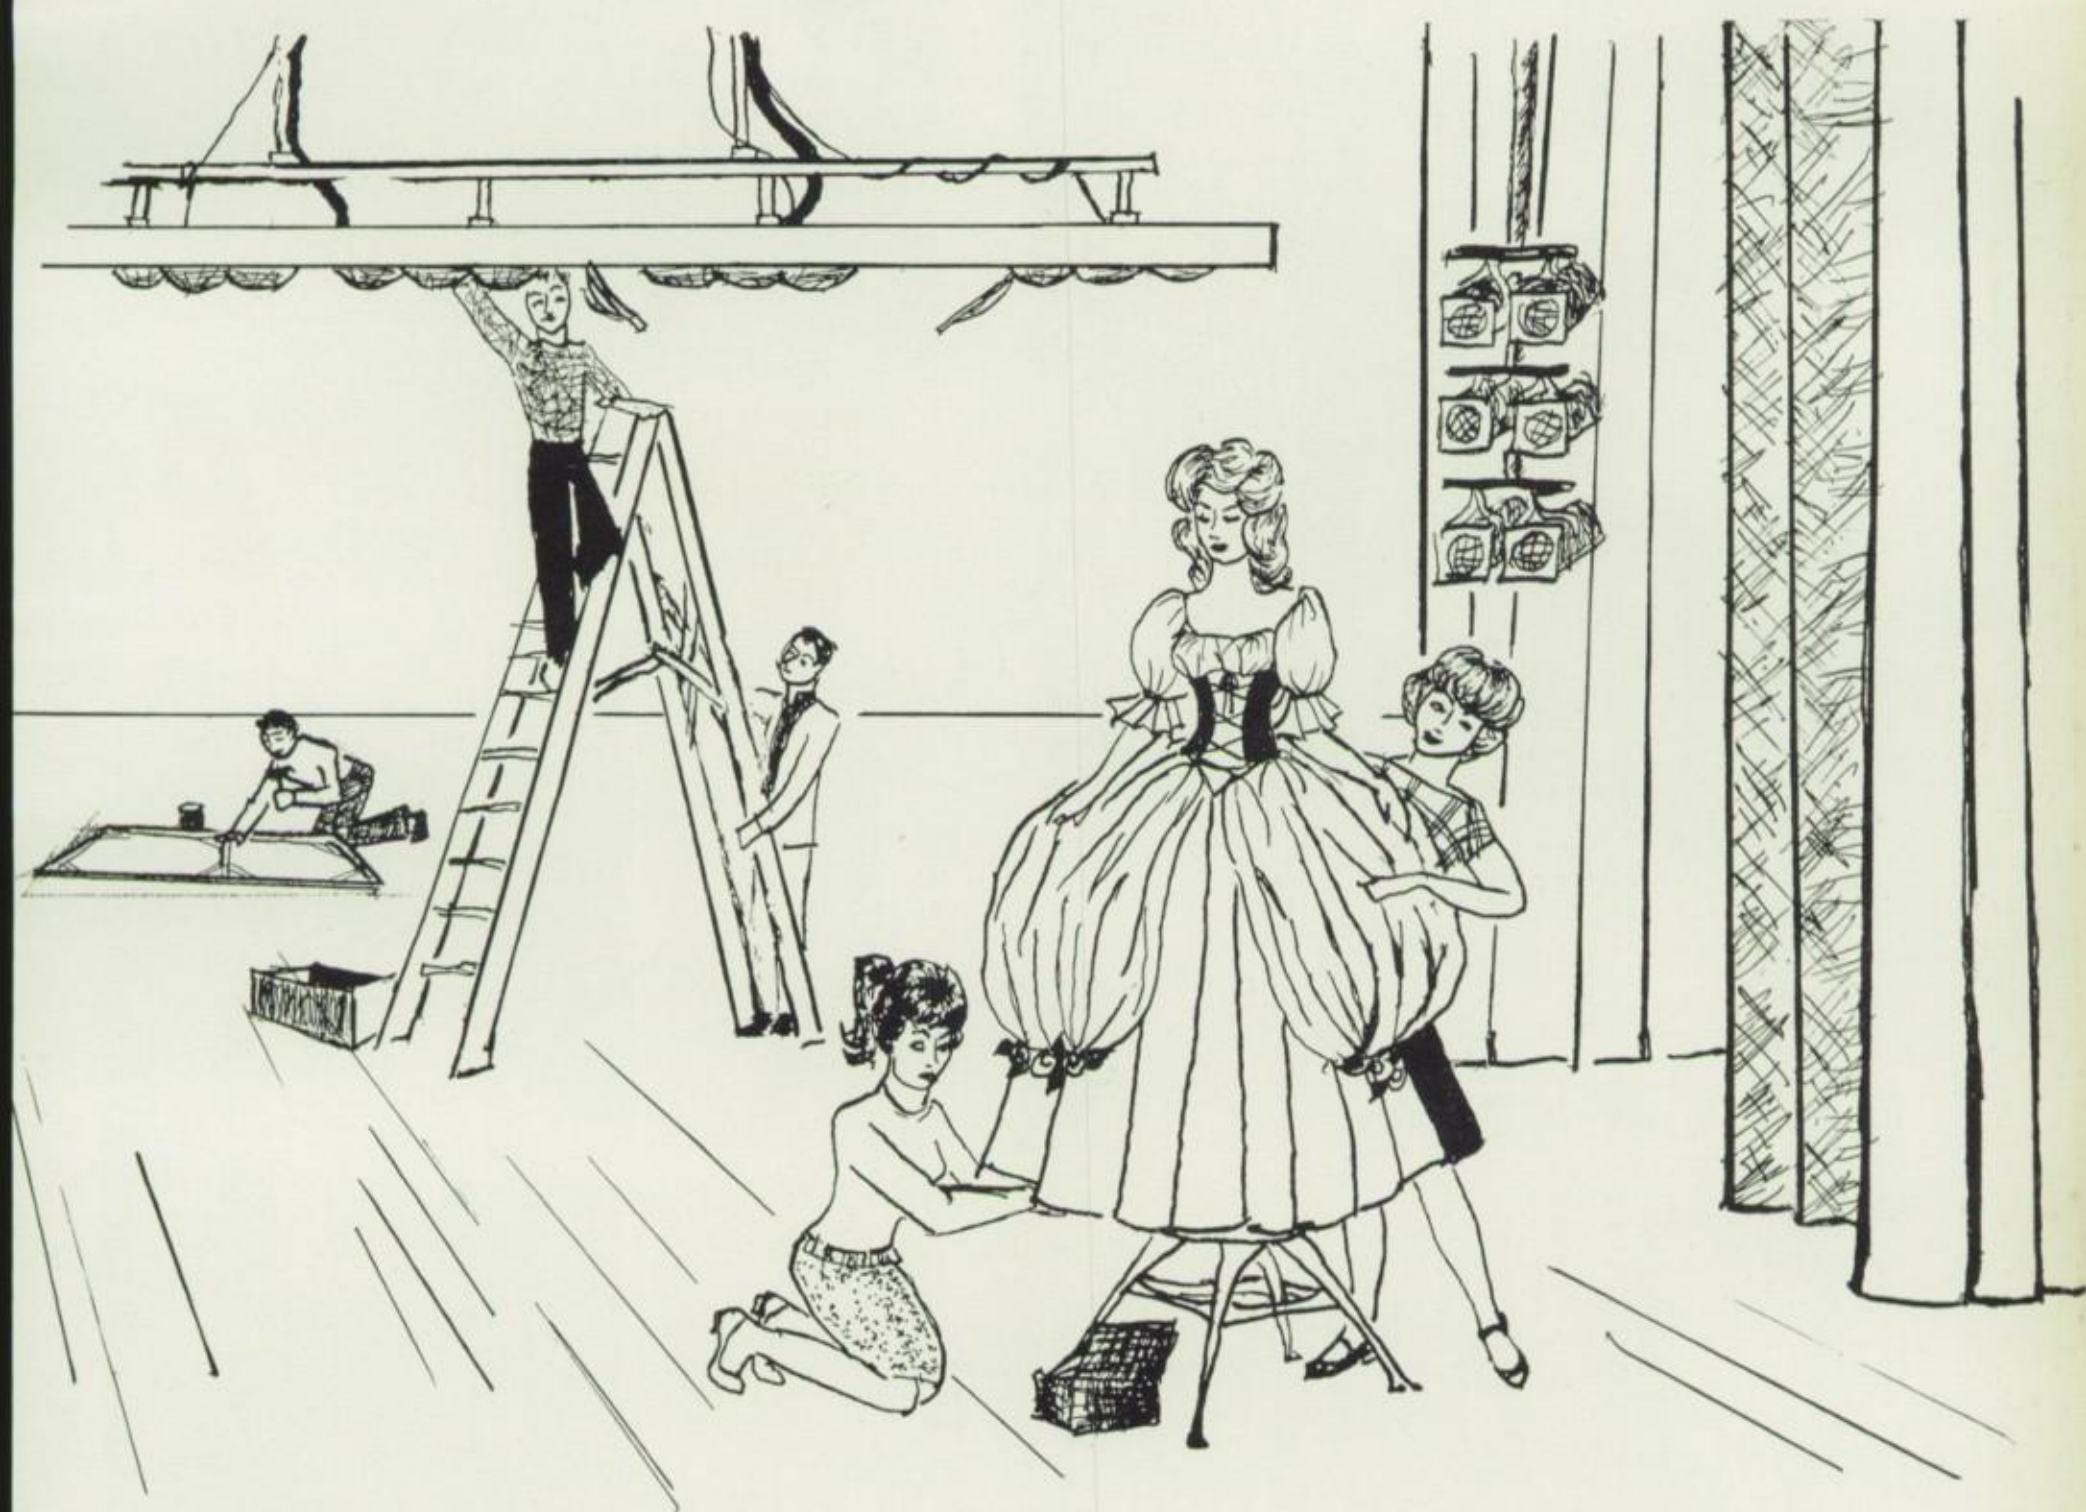

THE FEELING of closeness to faraway places became more complete when Mr. Wai showed the lovely Oriental dress to Julie Schmidt, Francis McLaughlin and John De Jong.

TOPICAL information on vocational choices held the interest of Judy Deenik and Bob Demmon in a Social Studies display.

SENECA

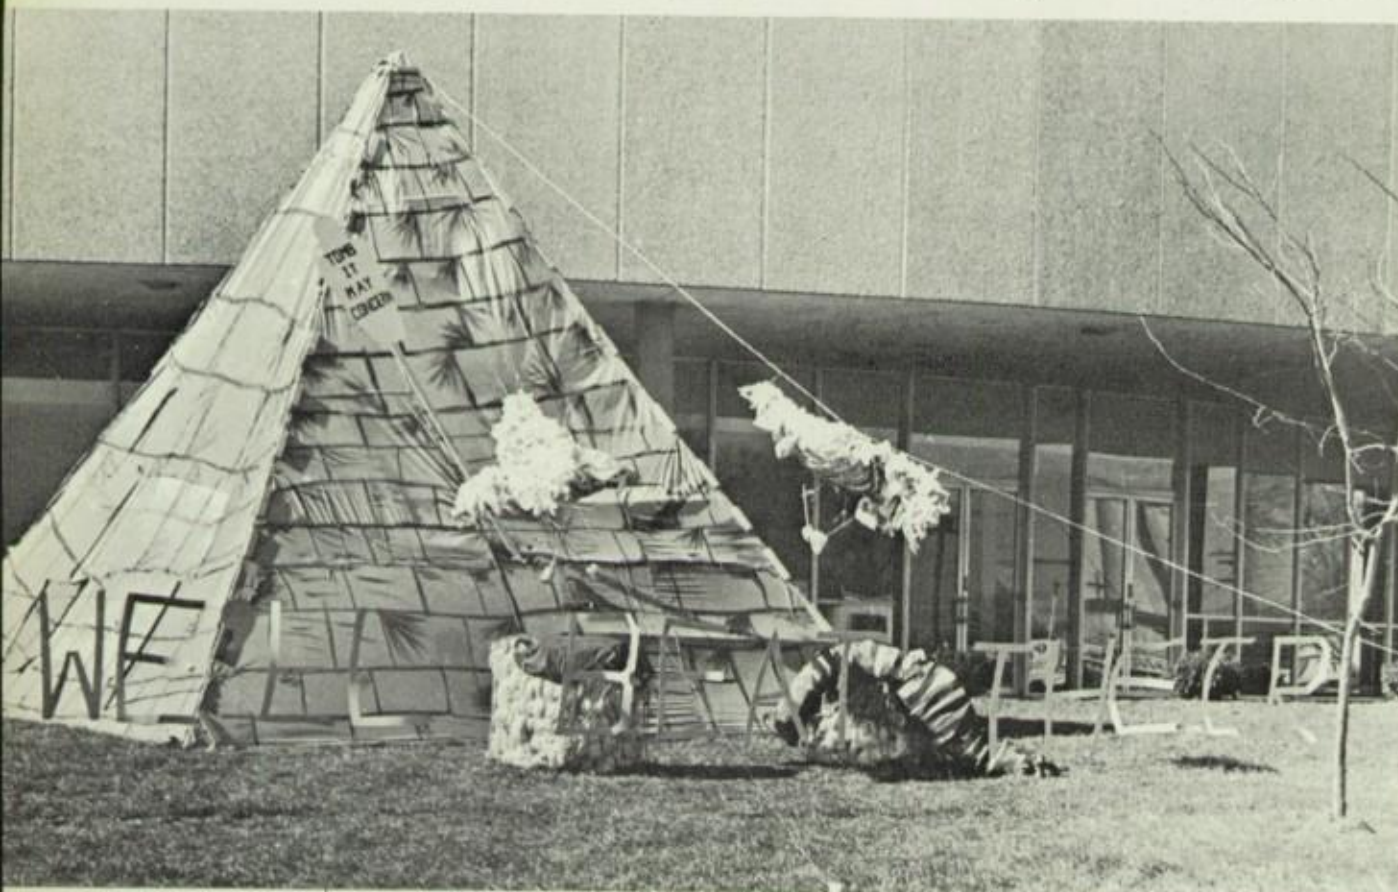

FOOTBALL FANS were awed by the brilliant spectacle of fireworks preceding the homecoming game.

"AHAB THE ARAB," Paige Pfeifer, found Candy Linam irresistible as they entertained at "Temple of the Sun."

A GIANT METRONONE constructed by Choral Club captured first place in homecoming decorations competition.

A SURPRISE ATTRACTION, Dr. Logsdon led the chorus in "Onion-etta" at the homecoming assembly.

THE PEP ASSEMBLY found Wilma Scheffers, Betty Kloppenberg, and Carole De Young involved in a bedtime story.

Homecoming Arrived On "Egyptian Caravan"

The annual homecoming weekend welcomed graduates from previous years. Special invitations were sent to the alumni giving the series of events—the pep assembly, game, Fling, and dance. The work, the planning, and finally the results of everyone's efforts made Thornridge's second homecoming, "Egyptian Caravan," a tribute to the school and alumni.

The decorations, built and displayed by various Thornridge clubs, suggested the hot, adventuresome atmosphere of the East, despite the two unexpected inches of snow we received. The gym was transformed into a shimmering gold temple for "Temple of the Sun." The alumni danced and reminisced with their old classmates, while being entertained by students with skits and songs. The crowning of homecoming royalty, King Glenn Gouwens and Queen Sandy Short, climaxed the weekend.

BLUE bulbs and green paint in the form of a Christmas tree made by Henry Piszewski brightened the Boys Club office during the holidays.

Yuletide Brought Joyous Conclusion to Old Year

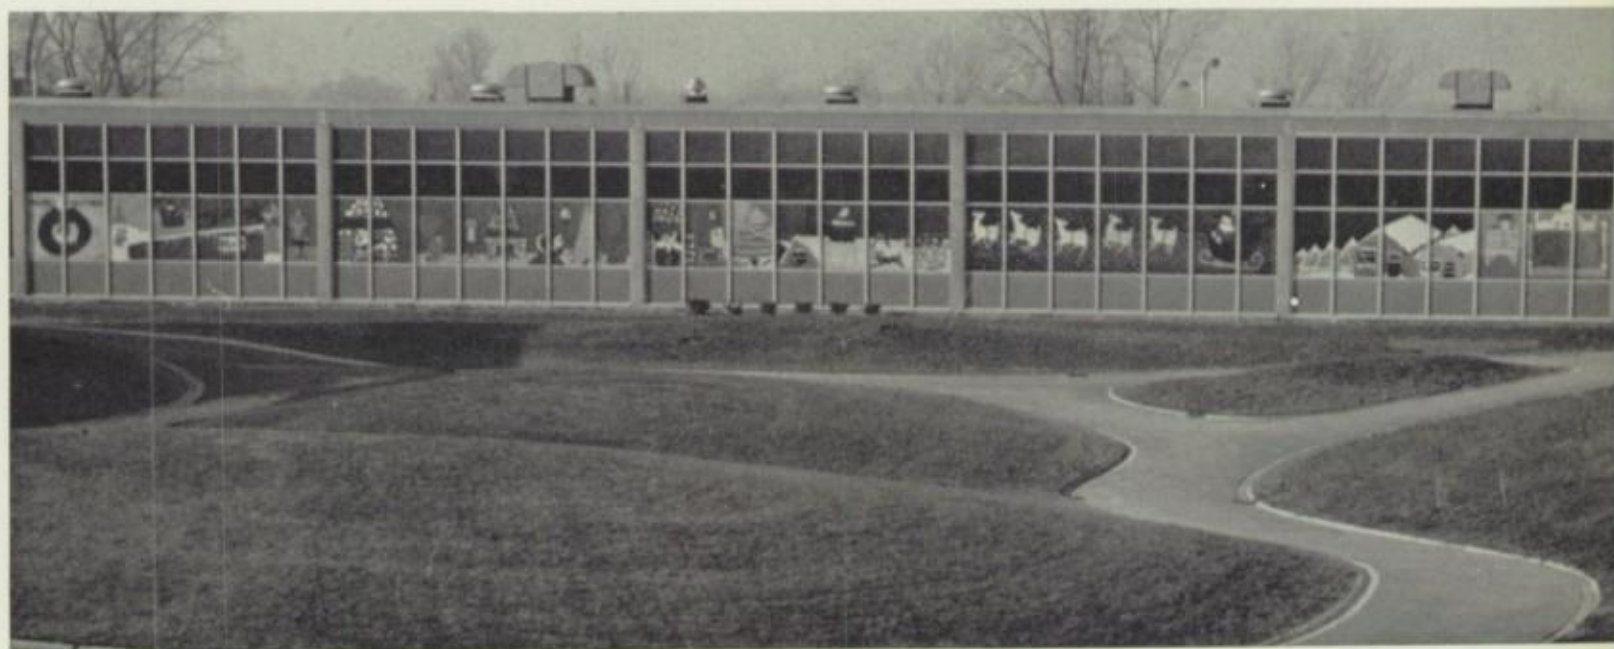

The most joyous season of the year was not forgotten amidst the daily activity and toil at Thornridge. The holiday season was heralded with Christmas decorations, made and displayed throughout the halls by the Art Department. Once again the Christmas spirit prevailed as homerooms collected food and money to fill Christmas baskets, distributed by SCOT and the Boys' Club to needy families in our area. Carols, sung in foreign tongues, rang clearly through the halls. The buildings were lit brightly by the colorful glow of Christmas tree lights, and a cheerful holiday mood was set by the Christmas concert and the band assembly. The most joyous event of the season was the welcomed Christmas vacation. The halls stood quiet and still to welcome the new year, but were again filled with the sound of students' voices in 1963.

HOMEMAKING teacher, Mrs. Tondryk, adorned her doorway with a holly decoration made from net and red-ribboned embroidery hoops.

PASTEL balloons covered with liquid starch and string were the holiday decorations of Mike Griffin, Bob Henricks, and Kathy McCain.

YULETIDE decorations included "A Visit From St. Nicholas", colorfully reproduced by the art classes.

THE CHRISTMAS CONCERT featured the Madrigals as a living greeting card.

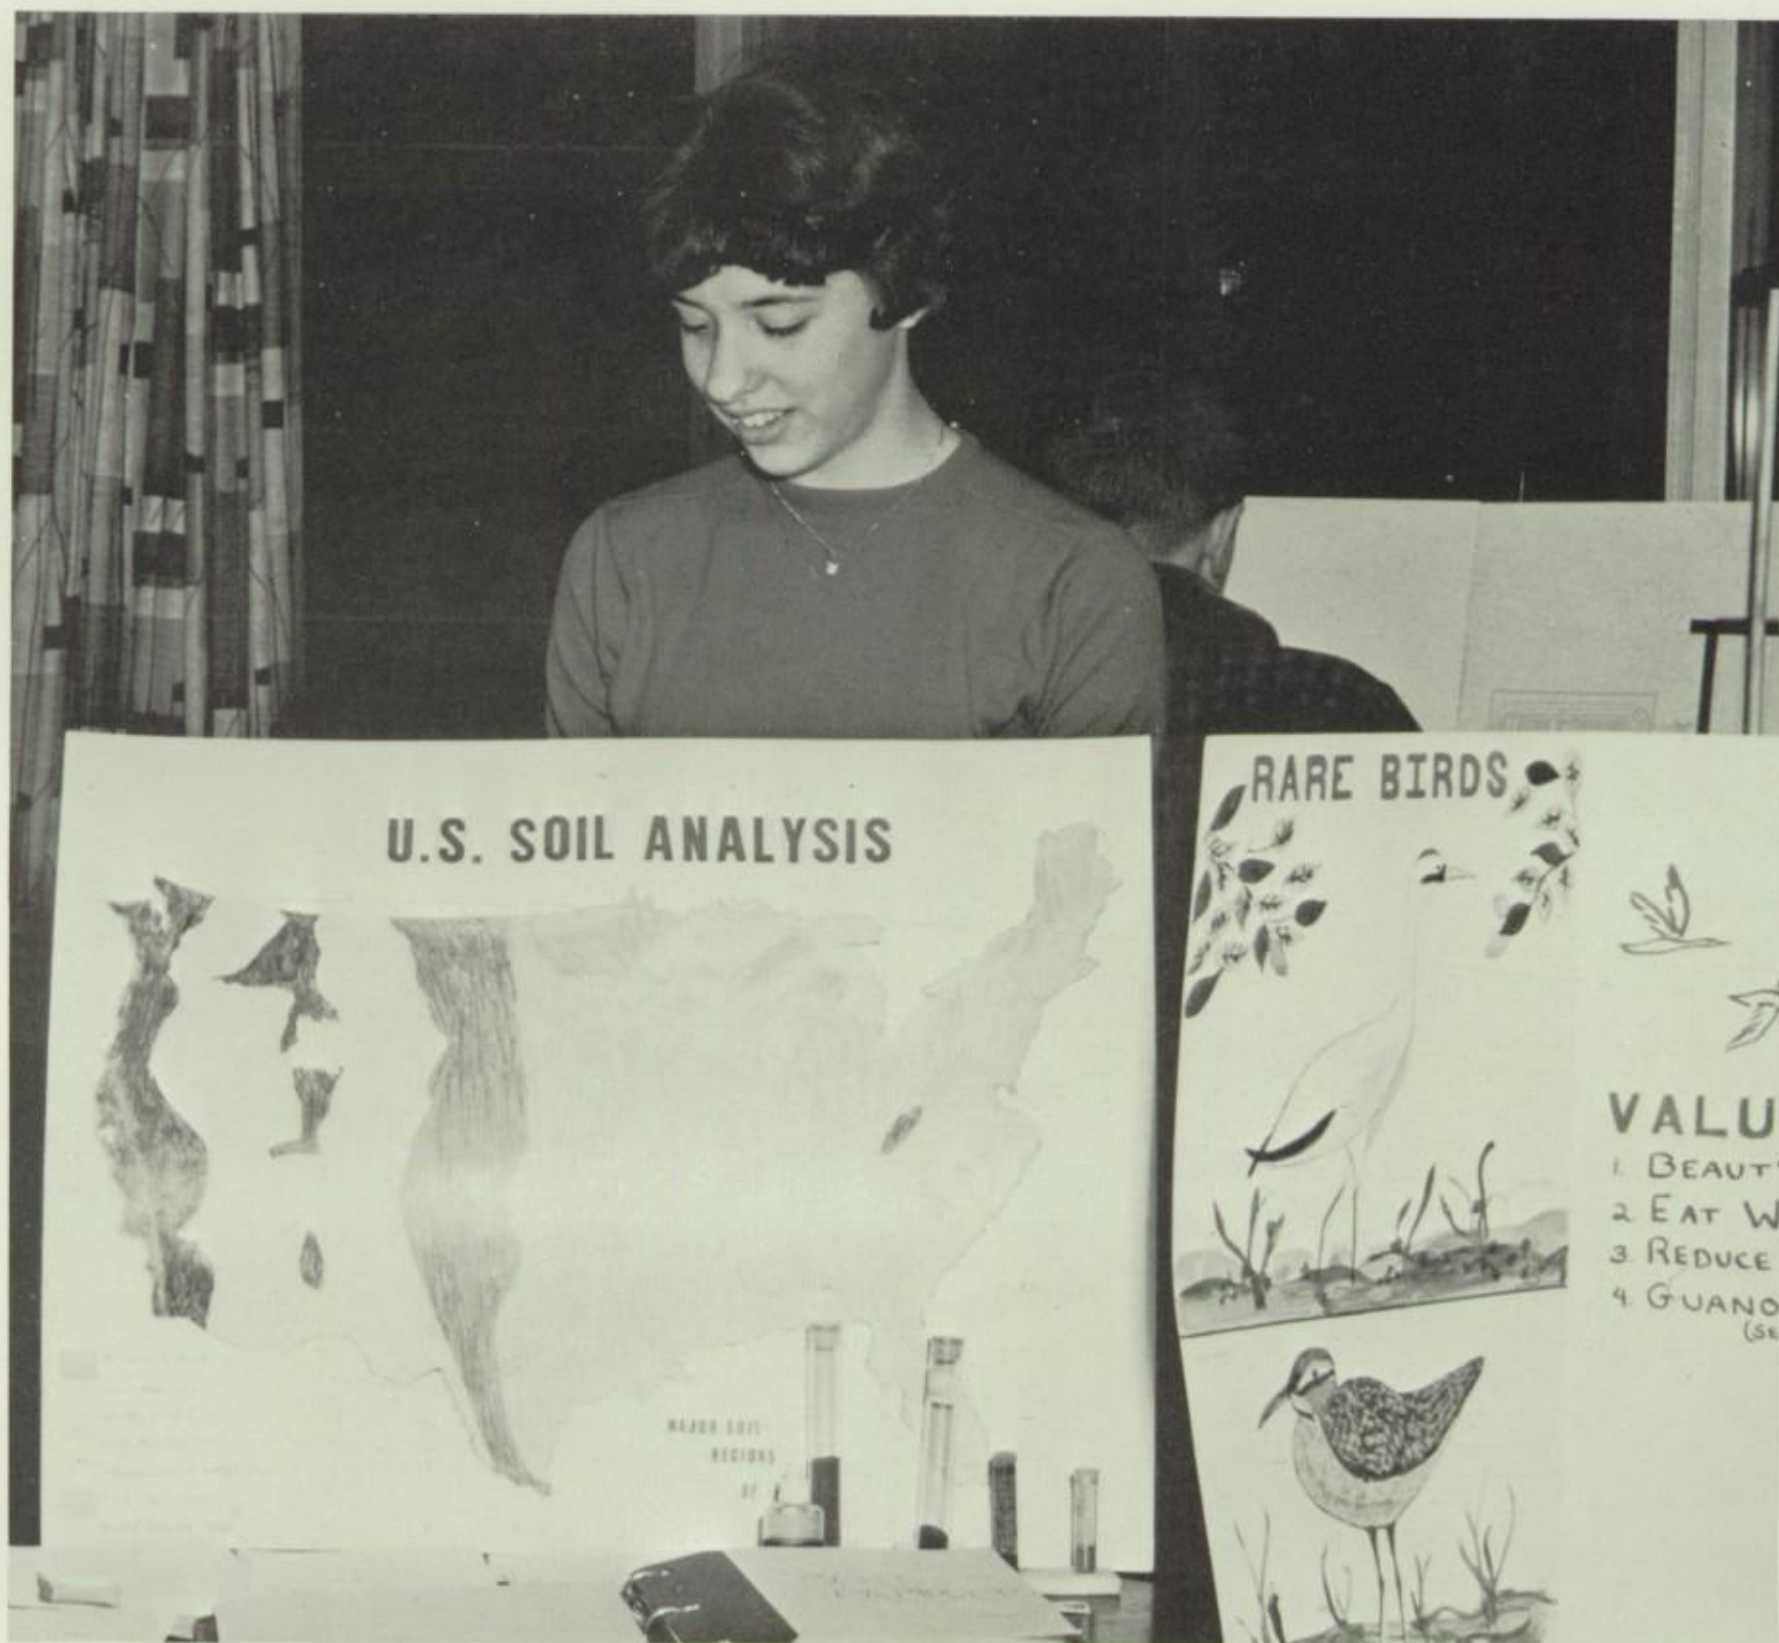

JUDGES questioned Joseph Dal-Santo on taking photos through a microscope.

Sciences Were Explored

Achievement brought admiration and awards at the science fair, "Science Explorations." The science fair enabled students to display their cumulative knowledge in the many phases of science. Exhibits in areas as the physical, earth, and biological sciences, enabled 45 projects and their originators to attend the district fair. These winners advanced to the state exhibition at the University of Illinois.

The potential scientists, while presenting their projects, interested visitors in a new generation of scientific progress. The quality of this year's science projects suggested that the science classes will produce many scientists dedicated to "Science Explorations."

ANALYSIS of the major soil areas in the nation constituted a top ranking project for Terre Pott.

FIRST PLACE winner, Ron Brngal, illustrated the electric frequency of the tesla coil.

"THINGS UNSEEN", a study in microbiology, sent Richard Zimmerman and Charles Kerber to the district fair at I.I.T.

SCIENCE-MINDED Mike Roderick demonstrated the powers of his digital computer at the fair.

Students Fell To Faculty Again

Screams, thuds, grunts, and a multitude of cheers and applause were heard rising from the gym the night of the student-faculty basketball game. Varsity basketball players and GAA members constituted the student team, while coaches of sports and other teachers represented the faculty. The first half of the game pitted the women teachers against the girls. The second half, with the men teachers versus the boys, was somewhat more organized and brought a climax to the game. Teachers became Lassies, marching and dancing the fling at half time. Although the students felt they had a superior team, in accordance with tradition, the faculty was victorious again.

STOPPING in time, Mr. Hanrahan watched in amazement as Mr. Schmidt leaped for a basket without being hindered by the long fingers of Gene Voss and Orland David.

"READY TURN," was the command given by Miss Fleeger to the faculty Lassies, Mr. Tilton, Mr. Carmichael, Miss Sever, Mr. Anoe, Miss Nestingen, Miss Beeler, Mr. Fuller, Mr. Cameron, Mr. Cook, Mr. Balstrode, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Schafer, Miss Lightholder, and Mrs. Wentz.

BAND members donned their favorite sport clothes to add variety to the yearly game.

"GET THAT BALL," cheered Mrs. Watts to teammate Mrs. Wentz who tried to release Barbara Maroe's hold on the ball.

FACULTY Lassie, Mr. Fuller, brightened the sidelines without cracking a smile as he performed in a precision march.

May Heralded Royalty

On the morning of the Girls' Club Honors Day assembly, the air was electric as the members of the 1961-62 May Queen Court were announced. The juniors had voted a few days prior to the assembly, selecting these girls on the basis of sincerity and friendship. Amid gasps of surprise, tears, and squeals of delight, the newly chosen girls made their way forward to stand before the applauding audience. Days of preparation and practice passed, and to climax the 3rd Annual Mother-Daughter Banquet, the court was presented. The tension mounted steadily as the girls took their places on the stage. Becky Speyer was named Maid of Honor and presented with a bouquet of red roses. Then thunderous applause heralded Gwenn Dacus' coronation as the May Queen.

MAID of Honor, Becky Speyer, and May Queen, Gwenn Dacus, radiated their happiness as they proudly greeted friends and mothers.

SINGING "Younger Than Springtime," Lynn Rau heralded the fashion show presented by the home economics classes.

VIEWS on the Girls Club presidency were exchanged by the new president, Gwenn Dacus and past president, Joy Feaser.

CHEERS and tears followed the announcement of the May Queen.

HEADS turned as the new Girls Club president and May Queen, Gwenn Dacus, and Mrs. Dacus ascended to the stage.

SHARING the honors with May Queen, Gwenn Dacus, are Joan Murphy, Marjorie Hollis, Janice Weeden, Joanne Tondryk, Maid of Honor Becky Speyer, Sandra Short, Nancy Nelson, Betty Kloppenburg, and Marcia McDermott.

THE CROWN of white carnations will be a treasure to prom royalties, Becky Speyer and Judy Earnest, as it was to Sharon Johnson.

MEMORIES will be kept in photo albums as well as in the hearts of Nancy Nelson, Ted Hasler, Jo Anne Zikas, and Mrs. Nelson.

Winds From The Sea Swept In Ebb Tide

ESCORTS led their ladies in the grand march around the garden of palm trees, oyster shells, and tropical plants.

May brought about a climax to the school year by presenting Thornridge's second prom, "Ebb Tide." On this enchanted night, the gymnasium was transformed into an underwater paradise creating an atmosphere which followed the prom theme. As strains of soft music flowed through the gymnasium from the giant seashell setting for the band of Joe Gallagher and the Stardusters, sea maidens in lovely pastel gowns waltzed with their special King Neptunes, handsomely attired in evening dress.

Following the grand march, members of the prom court graciously walked up the white carpet with their escorts, passed the ocean garden, and ascended to the stage for the coronation of prom princess and queen. Donna Wood surrendered the honor of prom princess to Becky Speyer and the crown of queen was placed on the head of Judith Earnest by Sharon Johnson, queen of last year's prom. After the coronation dance and entertainment, promgoers danced the last waltz to the flowing strains of "Moon River," bade farewell to their Shangri-La, and then departed for magical night lights.

MURDERESS of school spirit, Vicki Gouwens confessed her crime to policemen, Bernie Kastory and Francis McLaughlin.

DOCTORS, Jonas Ichen, Glenn Gouwens and Jack Dalenberg, diagnosed John De Jong to be lacking the sufficient spirit for student council.

VOLLEYBALL players at the SCOT gym jam wondered for a second if the ball was suspended in mid-air.

OPERATION FRESHMAN featured Marsha Faulkner and Sue Devine demonstrating the improper school attire to Tom Santefort and the audience.

THE APPAREL of Jane Rinkema on Clean-up Day during SCOT week was adorned by a red and white lacey apron.

SCOT Accented Student Participation

Once again SCOT celebrated Thornridge's birthday. School spirit was emphasized in every way. The week began with an assembly publicizing the coming events. Ribbons, buttons, pep pills, and a bus-car caravan to an away game made Thornridge's third birthday a gay affair. Among SCOT projects were the annual freshman orientation program, the annual collection and distribution of Christmas baskets, and the Cafeteria Corps. "Jam the Gym" was the theme for the first all-school athletic event.

Aiming for a year of better student government and organization, SCOT operated with a new objective: to better relate the students with their student council. The students had the opportunity to express their views through the board and officers in the Congress. SCOT, the organization in which every student is a member, established new traditions and enacted old ones.

"GO, GO, T'RIDGE" was the cry of brightly clothed spirit boosters, Sue Wasik and Merrie Hines.

"NIGHT TRAIN" was accompanied by a modern dance performed by Candy Loring, Sandy Short, and Marjorie Hollis.

SELECTED King by the senior girls, Nick Samargis had his crown placed on his royal head by his date, Nancy Kelly.

AFTER GREETING Le Consul Pierre de Audebert, Dr. Logsdon presented him to the welcoming audience.

ENJOYING the Parisian atmosphere in the sidewalk cafe, Tom Renner and Carol De Young smiled "neath Paris skies."

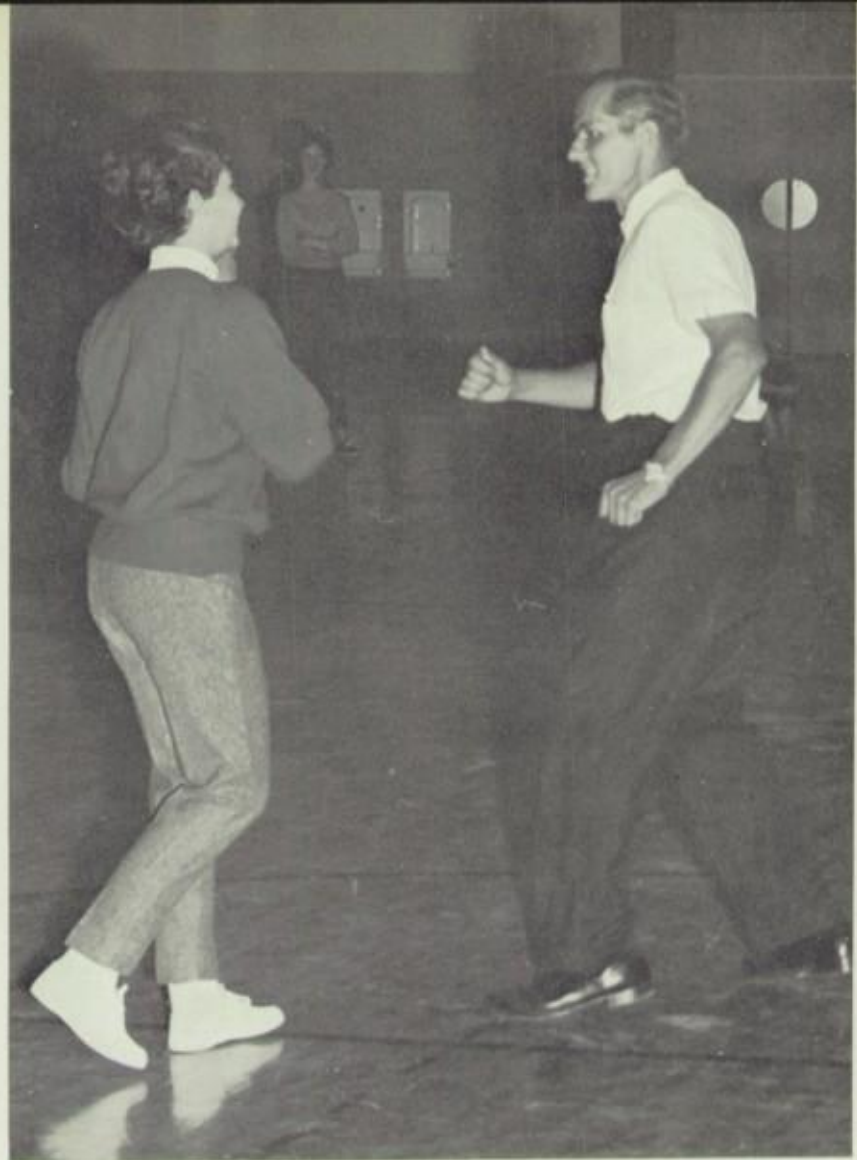

Traditional Girls Club events, the "Big Little Sister Tea," the freshman welcoming event, the "Dad-Daughter Playnite," the "Country Fair" and the turn-about dance, rang throughout the school year. Paris skies lit the gym with the glory of a Parisian street scene as the girls played hostesses for their dates. The Girls Club tag day, one of the service events, provided funds for food baskets and also made it possible for children in a Joliet orphanage to attend a show and receive Christmas treats.

March Showers Brought Paris Flowers

CARNIVAL canes at the ring-tossing booth were the aim of Curtis Voss, Robert Paarlberg, and Kenneth Smith at the Country Fair.

TWISTERS, Dianne Benson and Mr. Benson, won the dance contest at the Dad-Daughter Playnight.

"BUY A DILL from Jill," giggled Jill Lauridsen from behind the pickle booth.

THE FACIAL EXPRESSIONS of pie-eating contest winner, John Dempsey, and Karen Kupidloski made the contents of the blueberry pie questionable.

BEDECKED in her prettiest bonnet, Kathy Lynch daintily sampled home-made pastry.

BOWLING pins, placed by Tod Booth in the window of the Boys Club office, caught the attention of both boys and girls.

The Boys Club activity roster was packed with events. The boys took on the responsibilities of issuing parking stickers for student automobiles and keeping parking privileges reserved for students by patrolling the lot and giving warrants for invalid stickers. Another daily duty of Boys Club was guarding the halls and making sure that everyone in them had the proper passes. The student directory, the major project of the Boys Club, listed every student's name, address, and telephone number according to class. The boys also sponsored a bowling tournament, served as messengers for the office, and aided SCOT in various activities.

It is said that behind every successful man can be found a successful woman. The boys of Thornridge were no exception. In recognition of the women in their lives, the boys held the Mother-Son Banquet. Concluding the year, the boys selected a candidate for the Sons of the American Revolution to represent Thornridge in good citizenship.

Directory Broke Previous Sales Record

ARM bands made by Larry DeYoung, Russell Pals, Mr. McCabe, Kenneth Foster, and Harry Mabs signified the Boys Club on Club Spirit Day.

THE ACCEPTANCE of the Certificate of Athletic Achievement by Ken Smith from Mr. McCabe was a high point during the Mother-Son Banquet.

THE DISTRIBUTING of arm bands signifying club loyalty during SCOT's Spirit Week was a job well done by Dan Zaklan, Larry De Roos.

CHECKING identification of bus riders was an important duty of Boys' Club members as shown by Bill Potts and Robert Diepen.

Flings Brought Students To School On Weekends

As music poured from the gym on the weekends students poured in bringing Thornridge to life. The cause for these throbbing sounds and hoards of students was the Highlanders' Fling. The Highlander Committee organized and conducted the Flings after every home football and basketball game. Each member was responsible for some aspect of the Fling. The committees secured music, operated the coat room, supervised admittance, and were in charge of the concessions.

The Homecoming decorations would have been incomplete without the Highlander display of Cleopatra ready for the Fling. The Homecoming Fling included special entertainment put on by the members who did the Highland Fling in traditional costume. This Fling set the pace for future Flings.

MUSIC for the Flings was provided by Highlander member, Paul Feaser, over the P. A. system.

FLING goes, Carl Frazier and Marla Santefort, were stamped for identification by Highlanders, Wilma Scheffers and Joanne Tondryk.

THE HIGHLIGHTS of a victorious football game were the exciting topic of Mr. Sutter, Hal Boomsma, and Nancy Hall as they recalled the final play.

THE HIGHLANDERS' homecoming display, which won a third place award, in the major division, featured Cleopatra holding up against the wind.

REFRESHMENTS for thirsty dancers, Linda Corsello, Judy Wychelewski, Diane Demmon, and Sandra Bull were sold cheerfully by concession worker, John Davis.

Diary Brought War Story to Stage

MR. FRANK silently watched the effect the confinement had on Peter's lessons, Mr. Van Daan and Mr. Frank's daily discussions, and Mrs. Van Daan's constant flirtations.

The Theater Guild started the season with an all-school production entitled, "The Diary of Anne Frank." This was the true story of two Jewish families in Germany during World War II. The Franks, the Van Daans, and Mr. Dussel were confined for two and a half years in the attic above Mr. Frank's business office. Their only contact with the outside world during this time was Miep, Mr. Frank's secretary, and Mr. Krueger, a friend of Mr. Frank. The story was taken from Anne Frank's diary, kept while she was living in the attic. The diary told of the joys, fears, and frustrations of these people.

This play was difficult to present because it required the actors to be on stage for the whole duration of the play. The set, the "secret annex," posed problems in building because of the various rooms which had to be reproduced on the stage. Despite these difficulties, the actors and backstage crews gave their best performance and were commended for an excellent presentation.

THE ATTIC DWELLERS, Mrs. Van Daan, Sue Hauser; Mr. Van Daan, Gary Midkiff; Peter, Mike Lefler; Mr. Dussel, Tom Santefort; Anne, Karen De Camp; Mr. Frank, Duane De Young; Mrs. Frank, Terry Armstrong; Margot, Laurie Aubrecht; experienced hunger and irritation as the trying weeks of isolation continued.

THE FAMILY remembered more festive celebrations of Hanukkah as they solemnly watched Mr. Frank light the holiday candle.

ANNE'S love for dancing and merriment lightened the worries of Mr. Frank.

HAPPINESS showed on the faces of Mrs. Van Daan, Peter, Mr. Van Daan, and Mr. Frank as they dreamed of a joyful future.

PETER and Anne could finally play when the office below was vacated at six o'clock.

Sisters Transported Audience to New York

"My Sister Eileen," evolved around two small town girls who came to New York to make their places in the world. Ruth, a writer and the mainstay of the family, had her hands full with Eileen, an ambitious young actress. Trials and tribulations arose as the younger sister, Eileen, was plagued by members of the opposite sex, and the girls' apartment became another "Grand Central Station." The scene was set in a small, dingy, basement flat in Greenwich Village. With such unforgettable characters as "The Wreck," an energetic neighbor, and "Mr. Appopolus," the stingy landlord, the play was presented as the second production of the year.

The all-school cast awaited the nights when the grease paint would be put on, the lights turned up, and the auditorium would be filled with a perceptive audience. These nights arrived, as the players assumed their new identities, and departed with the reassurance that Thornridge had received another tribute through the hard work and accomplishments of the Thornridge Theatre Guild.

PORTUGUESE sailors, Greg Stone, William Huff, Dan Van Dyke, Mario Korman, Steve Franklin, and Dave Kelly, were lead in the Rock-a-Conga by Eileen, played by Bonnie Bass.

VIOLET, played by Carol Gustafson, argued with her former landlord, played by Tom Santefort, about his inefficiency to relay messages to her.

PASSERS-BY, Steve Risley and Kenneth De Camp, peeped in to see Laurie Aubrecht as Ruth suffering from a long day's work in New York.

CONCLUDING the play, Ron De Young, Bonnie Bass, and Laurie Aubrecht watched in dismay as construction worker, Don Severson, crashed through their apartment wall.

SISTERLY love grew as Laurie Aubrecht and Bonnie Bass faced life together in the strange city of New York.

EVEN after the elaborate sales talk by Tom Santefort, Karen Bovard, a perspective tenant, remained unimpressed.

During the past year many changes were made within the SCOT organization. These changes were made so SCOT could develop into a better governing body. The Forum became the Congress and the board and officers became the Cabinet. SCOT started workshops wherein the student who was interested in becoming a member of the Congress could learn about SCOT and how it operates. Students who passed the tests given during these workshops were eligible to run for the Congress. New standing committees were formed. The Ways and Means Committee, the Bulletin Board Committee, the Public Relations Committee, the Social Committee, and the Public Welfare Committee helped to make SCOT a more cohesive organization.

An added event was the SCOT Gym Jam. At the Gym Jam students participated in many physical activities. SCOT presented the new school flag at the Homecoming Pep Assembly. In addition to these many activities SCOT served the school with its Cafeteria Corps.

THE SCOT DISPLAY enabled Lois Raschick and Linda Lariccia to view the progress student council had made by co-ordinating the school functions.

Girls Club Proved Social-Service Value

The spring of the year bustled with activity as girls thought of the annual Girls' Club elections. Campaign speeches and posters announced the candidates and the final ballot told who the new officers would be. In the fall, homeroom representatives, who held the responsibility of keeping the girls in their homerooms alert to the various Girls' Club activities, were elected and put to work. Meetings, held twice a month, were busy confabs for planning all Girls' Club activities. Committee chairmen were chosen for activities and they in turn recruited members for the committees. The Girls' Club, consisting of every girl in Thornridge, again rendered many social and service activities to help make this school year complete.

Boys Club Sponsored All-School Assembly

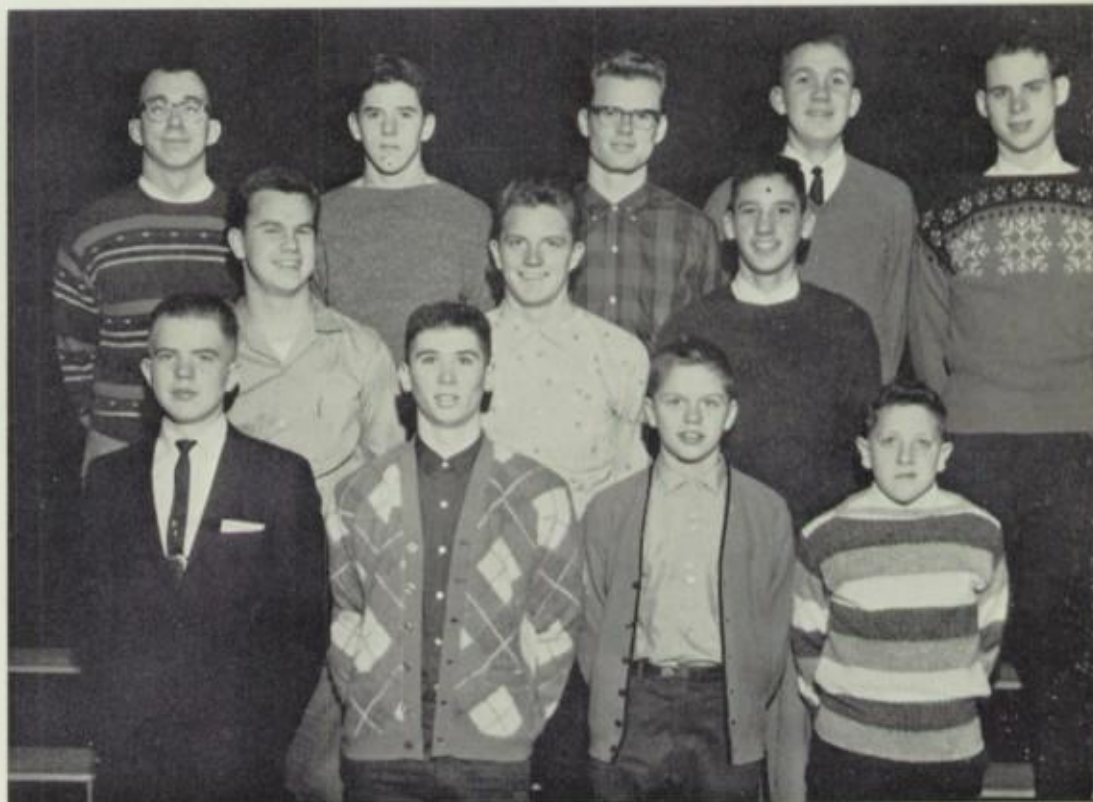

The Thornridge Boys Club, a true gentlemen's organization, welcomed all boys into its membership. Under the direction of Mr. McCabe, homeroom representatives relayed ideas and plans between the members and the officers, who met during homeroom and first period to work out problems and adopt new plans for service and social advancements. Working on a homecoming float, organizing an all school assembly, and running errands for the office were a few of the added responsibilities the Boys Club took on to aid the school and the student body.

AN ASSEMBLY program featured Edward McFaul who spoke on the importance of good manners.

CAPTIONS for the basketball spreads were supplied by assistant sports editors, Dianne Stack and Jack Fairbrother, and sports editor, Mike Lefler.

The PIPER staff followed modern trends in layout, photography, and copy writing while working under a rigid schedule. The editors covered many school events, then directed their assistants and the staff in completing the pages. Already a member of the National Scholastic Press Association, this year the editor-in-chief, the copy editor, and the business manager were accepted in the Quill and Scroll Society.

The newest addition of the PIPER, the photo essay, introduced the features of the book while emphasizing the pictorial coverage of the annual by the use of quotations instead of captions for the individual pictures. Dedication and labor brought forth a yearbook which students would always cherish. The objective of the yearbook staff in preparing the '63 PIPER could best be described in the words of Martin Farquhar Tupper: "A good book is the best of friends, the same today and forever."

BAGPIPE Selected New Nameplate

This year the BAGPIPE exceeded their own record for quality. The size of the paper was increased to 18 inches in length and 5 columns in width. The staff chose a new name plate and adopted a larger type size with more space between letters for easier reading. The new look of the BAGPIPE was further emphasized by additional columns. By furnishing a weekly activity roster and club news, the BAGPIPE acquainted students with school events. Successes of athletic teams were boasted on the sports page and pictures captured the highlights of the games. Students were allowed to express their opinions in "Letters to the Editor" and enjoyed the humor of the BAGPIPE staff in miscellaneous columns. The reliable news service that the BAGPIPE staff provided every Thursday was an interesting and informative journal of Thornridge.

Records Provided Music for Highlander Fling

The Highlander Committee planned and organized the Flings after each home football and basketball game. Issuing date passes for students and auditioning bands for the Flings were some of the duties of the members. At the end of the first semester, however, the student body voted to use records at the Flings for dance music. To climax the year's activity and hard work, the annual SCOT-Highlander banquet rewarded the committee members and set the scene for the installation of new officers.

HIGHLANDERS: Row 1—Dawn Ravesloot, Kathy Tangney, Karen Kupidloski, Pam Hurley, June Placek, Carole Roden, Becky Bothwell, Nancy Kelly, Sharon Carlin, Patricia Pientka, Donna Johnson, Paul Feaser, Bernard Kastory. Row 2—Janet Janik, Kim Anderson, Freyja Lee, Sue Trayer, Laurie Regnier, Rosetta Murray, Betty Magnuson, Walter Muszynski, Janice Gouwens, Lorri Johnson, Linda Sobbe, Nancy Hall, Robert Schultz. Row 3—Christina Lindstrom, Janice Weeden, Candy Loring, Cynthia Hoffman, Cheryl Feges, Suzanne Carroll, Charles Huff, Carolee Spiller, Carol De Young, Betty Kloppenburg, Carol De May, Cheryl Wright, Wilma Scheffers. Row 4—Sue Gouwens, Carol De Young, Janet Schultz, Don Severson, Gary Westwater, Robert Jacobs, Terry Thormeyer, Mark Kiel, Cheryl Tillery, Joanne Tondryk, Greg Stone, Tom Sante-fort, Charles Sweeney, Don Lindell, Elissa Palicke. Row 5—Sue Harman, Jill Vinke, Janet Moadush, John Hardin, Glenn Van Der Giessen, Gary Midkiff, Dave Pozorski, Nick Samargis, Dale Wheeler, Jim Withey.

BIO-SCI CLUB

Through the efforts of Bio-Sci, the combined biology and general science club, the members supplemented their science courses with various outside information. Meeting twice a month, the members had lectures and demonstrations on the various phases of the two sciences. The students discussed the basic principles and concepts of the world today and obtained ideas to help them with their science projects. A better understanding of the biological sciences was developed through a program of interest in scientific advancement.

DELTA PSI CLUB: Seated — Theodore Shapas, treasurer; Emily Shouse, secretary. Standing—William Seabergh, president; Dan Van Dyke, vice president.

DELTA-PSI CLUB

The Chemistry, Radio, and Physics Club, Delta Psi, met the second and fourth Monday of each month. Science students, interested in increasing their knowledge of science subjects, composed the membership of the club, and exchanged new and beneficial ideas during the meetings. The club's activities included educational films shown at the meetings. As an added effort, the club was host to many interesting speakers. Results of the club's program were many highly rated science projects. In preparation for the fair, the members worked and learned together.

SPANISH CLUB

This year the Spanish Club created another Thornridge "first." Previously, Spanish Club was held once a month in the individual Spanish classes. This year, meetings were held after school. These meetings consisted of reports and slides on Spain and Mexico, of skits portraying Spanish customs, and of Spanish dances and songs. The meetings were conducted entirely in Spanish, giving members an opportunity to practice speaking Spanish fluently. Besides speaking the language, they were able to learn and understand the customs, beliefs, and actions of Spanish-speaking people.

SPANISH CLUB: Cheryl Feges, Pres.; Claudia Tabernacki, Vice Pres.; Merrie Hines, Sec.; Becky Arias, Treas.

GERMAN CLUB

The activities of the German Club were aimed toward having fun while learning more about the language and people of Germany. All meetings, conducted in German, were divided into two parts: business and pleasure. During the pleasurable half of these meetings, the members enjoyed playing German games and singing German songs. One of the outside activities was caroling throughout the neighboring towns, an event which highlighted the club's extra activities. The carolers, though frozen to the bone, enjoyed this trip as did the villagers to whom they caroled.

GERMAN CLUB: Seated—Lyn Rau, Treas.; Theresa Lutter, Vice Pres. Standing—Douglas Boelcke, Sec.; David Kelly, Pres.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club, drawing its members from the French classes, met once a month after school. During these meetings, this group of students increased their knowledge of French and the French people by actively participating in the use of the language outside the classroom: conducting meetings, playing games, and singing French songs.

Their successful homecoming display, an oasis with palm trees, a pond, and sand, featuring "la victoire," brought them third prize in the minor division.

The French Club added to the Christmas season by caroling at various homes in the area.

FRENCH CLUB OFFICERS: Seated—Janet Anderson, Treas.; Susan Trayer, Soc. Chair.; Standing—Gregory Stone, Vice Pres.; Kathy Tangney, Pres.

LATIN CLUB

The classes that comprise the Latin Club studied the language and customs of the ancient Roman Empire. Because of this interest, the grandeur of Rome became a more personal reality.

During their monthly meetings, "Romani Thornridgum," while learning about the customs and life of the Roman people, also entertained themselves by doing takeoffs on "Ben Casey" and "What's My Line."

To earn money for the annual Latin Club Banquet, Latin Club members worked at various concessions. This banquet, with special guests and toga-clad students, was one of the outstanding events of the year.

LATIN CLUB CONSULS: Seated—Randall Russell, John Dalenberg, Standing—Ronald Francisco, and William McFarland.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB: Seated—Elizabeth Kelso, Colleen Kuknyo, Marsha Sikora. Standing—Donna Dorozsky, Nancy Creighton, Nancy Needham, Ruth Meyer, Kathleen Watkins.

SOC. SCI. CLUB

The Social Science Executive Council promoted interest in the social sciences by engaging speakers, obtaining films, sponsoring field trips, and forming study groups and discussions for the members. During the second semester the Social Science members were lectured on the responsibilities and transactions of the Federal Bureau of Investigation by an F.B.I. agent. Through the knowledge and understanding acquired at the meetings, the members were more alert to the social problems confronting man and his environment.

BUSINESS CLUB

The Business Club promoted a wider understanding of the business world by introducing the members to its many facets. The presentation of speakers who spoke of business occupations at the meetings informed interested members of the advantages of a business career. Among the speakers at the meetings were representatives from the Telephone Company and the Business Leaders of America. The club was honored at homecoming when it received the first place award in the minor division for its homecoming display.

BUSINESS CLUB: Seated—Karen De Camp, treasurer; Louise Riley, vice president. Standing—Candy Thomsen, reporter; Doris Ranger, secretary; Linda Sobbe, president.

FUTURE TEACHERS

Once again the FTA started its activity with a balloon blast at the homecoming game. This exciting event was followed by more educational work. The club's meetings included talks by school faculty, student teachers, and instructors in special education. The FTA members served as guides for many school functions and were honored by the Faculty Association at a tea in the fall. A fund-raising candy sale, an appreciation tea for its past sponsor, Mr. Cook, and the induction of new officers concluded the year for FTA.

FUTURE NURSES

The Future Nurses of America met after school once a month. At this time the members learned the duties and responsibilities of a registered nurse. Taking field trips to many hospitals and institutions gave the members first hand information about the profession of nursing. The members offered their services by working in hospitals on Saturdays, reading to the patients, and playing games which the girls made for the patients. FNA, through interesting activities and service, prepared to become the future leaders in the nursing profession.

FUTURE NURSES: Seated—Suzanne Dry, vice president; Elizabeth Kelso, president; Barbara Blich, treasurer. Standing—Kathy Carr, secretary; Sharon Bellamy, librarian.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Quill and Scroll, a national society for high school journalists, made expansion a key word in its activities by adding seven new members. This year students on the PIPER staff were enrolled into the membership for the first time. Eligibility rests on the achievement of a junior or senior in some phase of high school journalism.

THEATRE GUILD

The Thornridge Theatre Guild, formerly the drama club, produced three all-school plays this year. While working on these plays, the members learned about such theatre aspects as scenery, lighting, sound, and make-up. Through the increase in activities offered by the Guild, more students have become interested in and participated in theatrical activities.

THEATRE GUILD: Seated — Karen DeCamp, Sec.; Tod Booth, Vice Pres.; David Kelley, Pres.

THESPIANS

This year Thornridge was added to the charter of the National Thespian Society, which honors outstanding students in theatrical activities. To be eligible for Thespians, most students were required to play a major role in or serve as student director for an all-school play. A few other students became eligible through outstanding work in some technical aspect.

TALISMAN

Honoring the best of Thornridge's writers and poets was the job of the TALISMAN, literary magazine. The works of these students, screened by their teachers, were presented to the staff as possible entries for the magazine. The TALISMAN, which appeared in two editions, strove to encourage young writers to develop their skills by recognizing their literary talents.

TALISMAN: Seated—Sidney Rhyne, Sharyn Guarino, Kathy Bergman, Barbara Blick. Standing—Nancy Willcox, James Ballard, Kathleen Tydd, Sharon Bellamy.

CHESS CLUB: Robert Kooper, secretary-treasurer; Robert Kostanski, president.

CHESS CLUB

The first and third Tuesdays of the month set the scene for the Chess Club meetings. Playing intermural games accounted for most of the meetings. Daily, the members tried to figure out chess problems which might be presented to them during the course of a game. The challenge received from PST was a welcome test of the abilities of the members.

*Lois, It's been nice knowing you (H+H+) did ya have fun in this club? tell the truth
Hope to see ya again, Lois, Good Luck, Lois Have fun, Lois, Stay nice Lois LHeeHee*

FORENSIC SOCIETY

One of the many honors brought to Thornridge by the Forensic Society included the debate team's triumph over Thornton Fractional North on "Rebuttal." This win enabled varsity debaters, John Leinweber and Gary Midkiff, to qualify for the elimination round on the program. Meeting before and after school and during homeroom, the Society endeavored to acquire proficiency in the debating skills.

LASSIES

The high-stepping Lassies stood out sharply in their uniforms of blackwatch plaid. At pep assemblies and basketball games, they skillfully danced the traditional Highland Fling. All the routines used for their entertainment were combined ideas of the marching group, directed by Mrs. Jill Moore. Hard work and a rigid practice schedule prepared the girls for their performances. Originality in half-time entertainment led the marchers as they completed their second year.

KEY CLUB

The Thornridge Key Club, sponsored by the Harvey Kiwanis Club, engaged in various community and school activities. The club members sold Kiwanis peanuts, Key Club candy, and displayed their theatrical talents in the Kiwanis production "Caught in the Act." The annual "Key Klub Kaper," an all school event, was put on by the boys in the spring. Under the direction of Mr. Morrison, the members and officers met during 4B each Tuesday. Membership was extended to any sophomore, junior, or senior boy on approval of the members and sponsor.

LETTERMANS CLUB: Al Johnson, Sec. Treas.; Terry Kennedy, Vice Pres; Ray Preski, Sgt. at arms; Kenneth Smith, President.

LETTERMANS CLUB

All athletes who earned a letter were eligible for membership in the Letterman's Club, one of the largest organizations at Thornridge. Boasting an enrollment of approximately 275 members, the club sponsored a number of activities throughout the year. Foremost of these activities was a banquet which was held March 27, 1963. The featured speaker, Bill Rohr, entertained the boys on the night of the banquet. The Letterman's Club sponsored a gas day at two neighborhood gas stations. They also sold programs at the Homecoming game.

Good sportsmanship and the unity of Thornridge lettermen were the main purposes of this club. Responsibility for control and promotion of athletic events was another service this club performed.

PEP CLUB

The enthusiasm that radiated from Thornridge games this year was created to a great extent by the members of the Pep Club. The Pep Club generated through the student body good sportsmanship and school spirit. The Pep Club, lead by four major officers and one cheer-leading representative elected in the spring of the preceding year, sent buses to away games, sold victory ribbons and buttons, pom-poms and candy. Pep assemblies, an interesting facet of the school year, were arranged by the club. Special seating privileges were given to the Pep Club at both home football and basketball games. In victory or defeat the Pep Club carried on the Thornridge tradition of good sportsmanship and school spirit.

PEP CLUB: Cheryl Tillery, Treas; Janet Anderson, Sec.; Kathy Gaudio, Vice Pres.; Candy Loring, President.

LIBRARY CLUB

The library was aided in extending its services by the members of the Library Club. Upon personal application or teacher recommendation, students with a grade average of "C" or better became eligible for membership. These students assisted in such standard library procedures as circulation, shelving, room services, and mechanical preparation. This club enabled interested students to gain knowledge through their own experience in the functioning of a library, while helping their fellow students benefit from its facilities.

AUDIO-VISUAL

The Audio-Visual Center provided a variety of instructional materials and services for classroom instruction. Films, slides, projectuals, display materials and recordings were made available to classes. The Center strove to keep the faculty aware of new instructional materials by providing them with an opportunity to preview various new material. Throughout the school in an average year, approximately 1,000 films are supplied by the Audio-Visual Center. Repairs on all materials and equipment were made by the members of the club.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS: Seated—Penny Money, first vice pres.; Karen Bishop, secretary. Standing—Sandy Synovic, second vice pres.; Paul Hummel, pres.; Janet Cavallo, treas.

YFC

This year YFC grew by leaps and bounds increasing its membership by at least four times that of last year. The club provided more opportunities for participation in its weekly meetings. Guest speakers, skits, and films were featured throughout the year. Candy was sold as a fund raising project in November.

Twice a month the club members attended rallies at different churches in the Lake County area. The competitive spirit between the Thornton and Thornridge quiz teams spurred the group on to more diligent study of the Bible. One night of each month the officers attended Calumet Council. At these meetings the social events and special projects for all the clubs were planned.

PST

The Photographic Society of Thornridge held a vital job in the life of a school, recording events to be cherished in memory. Any student who wished to develop his photographic skills was urged to attend the meeting held each week. Each PST member was given the opportunity to take pictures which appeared in the Thornridge BAGPIPE and various local newspapers. The members' individual talents were acknowledged in photographic competitions judged by teachers and club members. At the end of the year a trophy was awarded to the student receiving the most points for his pictures. A well-equipped darkroom, where the members received excellent training in the art of photography, was one place the Thornridge camera bugs could always be found.

Progressing notably in musical literature, the Thornridge Chorale performed many choral masterpieces. Bach's Cantata No. 142 and Britten's contemporary "Ceremony of Carols" were presented in the annual Christmas Concert. Featured in the Spring Musical was Wilder's one-act opera, "The Lowland Sea." A new experience for this group was its participation in the State Music Competition.

The Freshman and Intermediate Mixed Choruses and the Girls' Ensemble again presented their Mid-Winter

Choral Concert, and joined voices with the Chorale in the spring Choral Department Assembly.

An asset to the choral department was the Madrigal Singers. Their entertaining music and pleasant personalities became familiar to many audiences in this area. Another group new to Thornridge was the boys' quartet and the Four Teens, who made their debut in the Minstrel Show last fall. These groups, as well as the choruses, expanded their musical knowledge while providing entertainment throughout the year.

Band Increased In Scope And Excellence

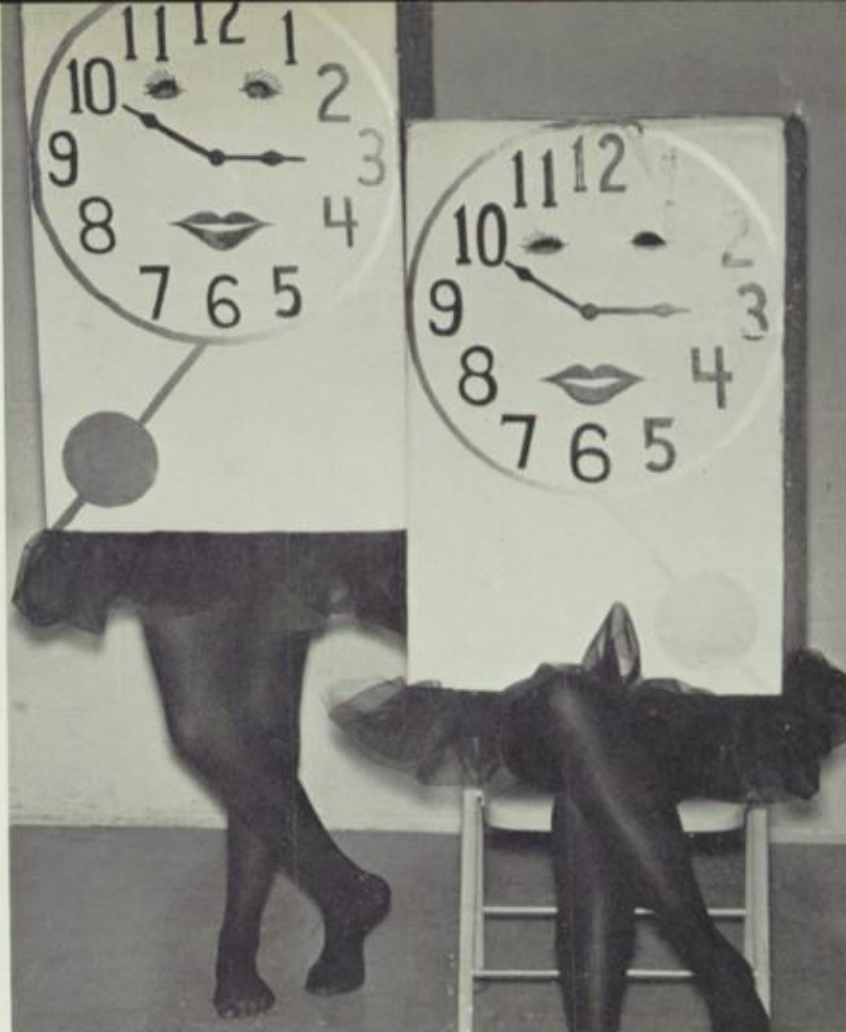

HALF-TIME entertainers, Leslie Keller, Marion Bartow, and April Heitmann marched into formation.

Last fall, the sight of the marching band practicing in the field before school was a familiar one to the Thornridge students. This regular morning drill proved worthwhile when the band proudly marched at half-time at football games. Winter brought the band indoors, playing at the basketball games and at assemblies and other school functions.

A highlight of the year for the band was the Christmas concert presented in the gym for the faculty and student body. At this concert once again, the band displayed its versatility as it played both traditional and more modern Christmas music.

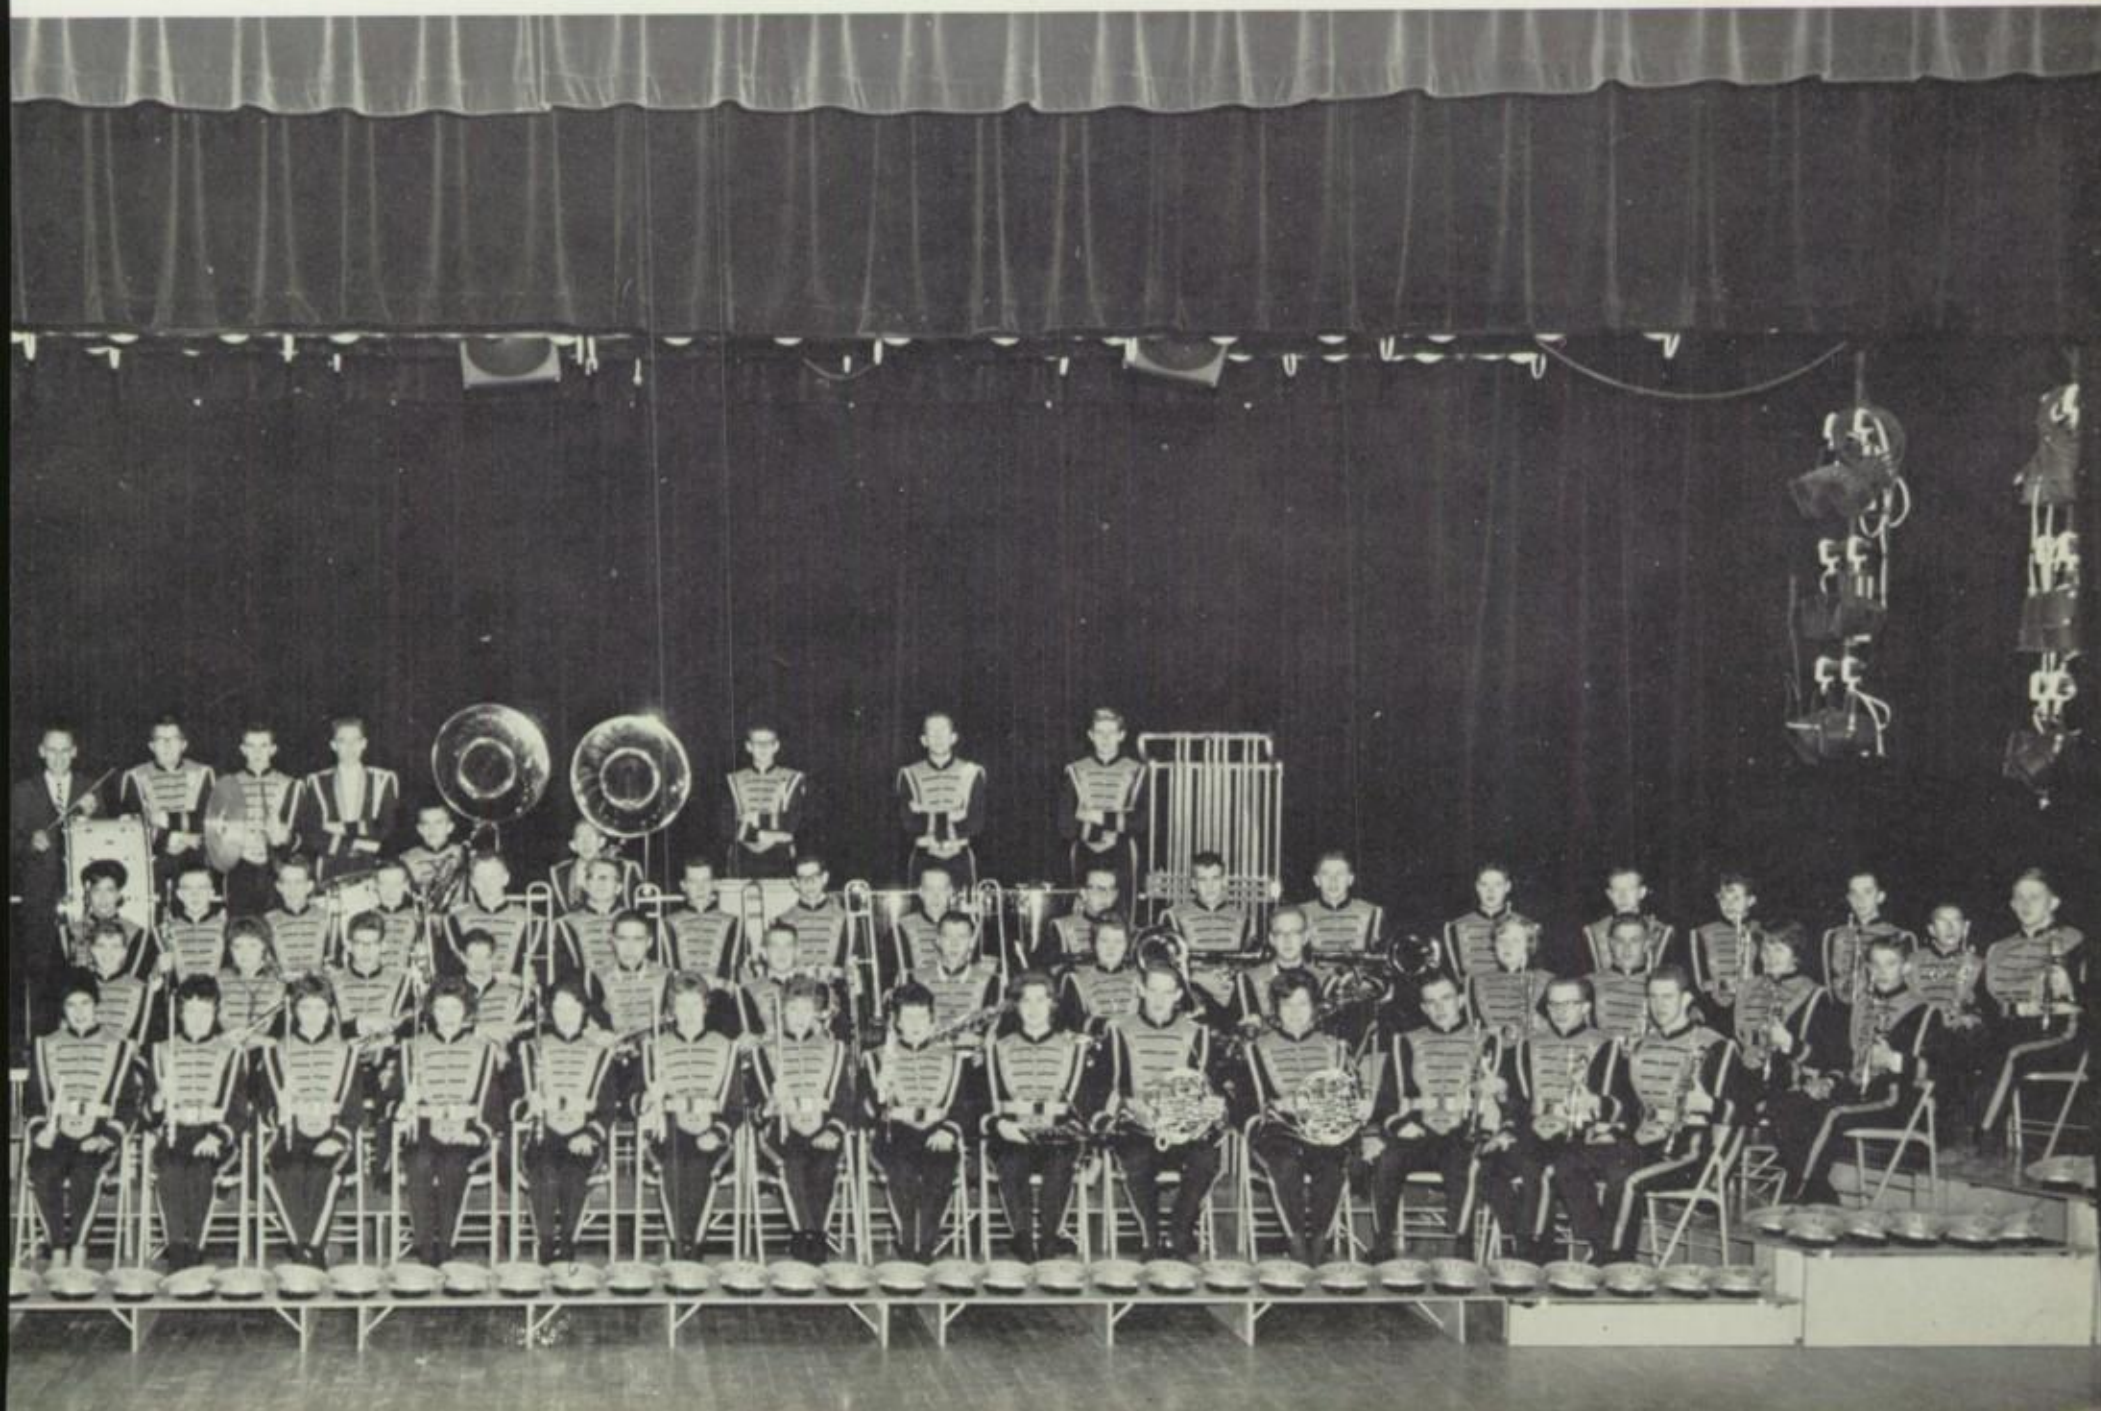

The dance band, made up of band members with special talent and interest in this type of music, entertained and set the rhythms for dancing at the Flings. During SCOT Spirit Week, band members marched through the halls during homeroom arousing enthusiasm with their spirited playing. The Thornridge bands, on many occasions, added the pleasure of their music to activities at school and in the community.

"SYNCOATED Clock" entertained at the band assembly.

LINEMEN: Harold Boomsma, John Hoese, Francis McLaughlin, Ken Smith, John Krmpotic, and Gene Johnston learn an important play.

This year's football team was again much improved. Sparked by eighteen returning varsity lettermen, the Falcons fought their way to third place in the South Suburban League.

The Falcons revealed their potential when they routed Homewood-Flossmoor 27-7 in the season's first encounter. Glenn Gouwens scored the first two touchdowns on runs of forty-five yards and forty-three yards respectively. On a pass from Ken Foster, Henry Piszewski sprinted twenty-eight yards for a touchdown.

In their second game the Falcons edged Marmion M. A. in the final minute and a half of play, defeating them 25-19.

In its initial South Suburban League test, Thornridge tied Argo 21-21. Though the Falcons out ran and out passed their opponents, they were unable to score a win because of a fumble in the closing minutes of the game.

In their second league encounter, the Falcons defeated Eisenhower 12-0. Henry Piszewski made the first touchdown in the second quarter, racing ten yards to paydirt. Ken Foster made the final touchdown with about one and a half minutes of play.

MR. ROBINSON and Gene Johnston celebrate the 25-0 victory.

The Thornridge-Thornton game was probably the most memorable game of the season because of the Falcons' lopsided 25-0 victory over the Wildcats. The Falcons outplayed Thornton, piling up a total of 358 yards to the 'Cats 175 yards.

While rain and mud plagued both Thornridge and Bloom, the Falcons slipped by the Trojans with a 6-0 score. The lone touchdown was a result of a fumble by Bloom.

The Falcons suffered their first defeat of the season when they lost to Kankakee, before a capacity homecoming crowd.

Joliet gave the Falcons their only other defeat of the season in a game that ended with the Steelmen on top 21-6.

The Falcons ended their 1962 season by defeating the Lockport Porters 28-19. Three of the touchdowns were scored by Henry Pisarzewski. Glenn Gouwens tallied the fourth Thornridge touchdown.

Looked Strong In Season

The Fledglings, our Sophomore team, finished this year with an outstanding record of 6-2-1. Coached by Mr. Salato and Mr. Nardi, the team showed a great improvement as they rose in the ranks of the South Suburban League. Their greatest disappointment, however, was a tie with the rival Thornton team. Though the Fledglings played well during the first half, scoring 13 points, the Wildkits made a comeback in the last two quarters to tie the score 13-13.

Sparked by the playing of Carreon, Mosesso, Frazier and Brandt, the Fledglings upheld Thornridge's football tradition. These and other sophomore players raised the hopes of Thornridge fans for an even better varsity team to come.

Freshmen football games, played after school on the Thornridge field, brought into play, often for the first time, many future stars. Coached by Mr. Sammons and Mr. Bush, the Freshman squad developed football skills that would prove invaluable in coming play. Performance of all of our teams this year indicated how far reaching were effects of good coaching, ability, and spirit.

MR. SALATO gave team members suggestions and encouragement.

SOPHOMORE PLAYERS waited for their turn on the field.

Kenneth Foster

James Withey

Henry Pisarzewski

Eugene Johnston

John Krmptic

The most outstanding player of the Thornridge backfield was Henry Pisarzewski. Voted the "Most Valuable Player" by his teammates, this 5' 9", 146 pound bundle of dynamite was a major asset in boosting our team to its 4-2-1 league record. Another outstanding member of the T'ridge backfield was Glenn Gouwens, who had the same league record as Henry. At the quarterback slot, the team had a one-two punch in the persons of Jim Withey and Ken Foster. Jim, though sidelined at the start of the season with a broken wrist came on strongly towards the end of the season with his deadeye passing. Ken, forced at the season's outset to be a "sixty-minute man," proved himself able and a capable field general as well.

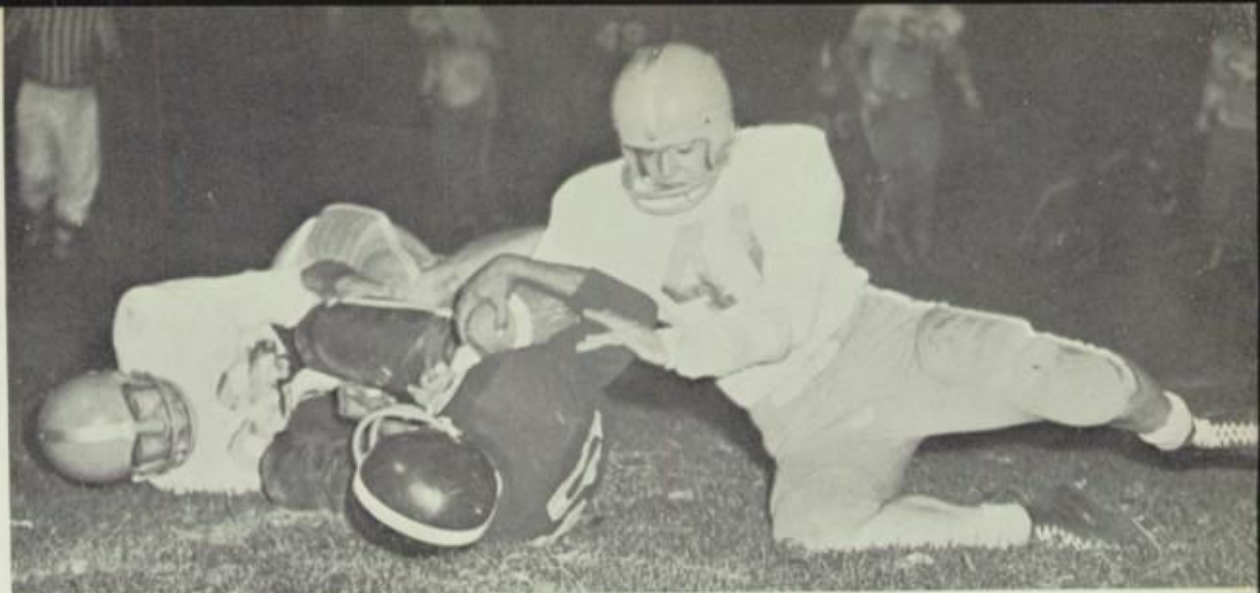

It is a well-known football fact that the backfield gets the glory, but the linemen get the mud. This year, however, the linemen got their fair share of the glory. Among other stand-out linemen were all-state nominee, Harold Boomsma; all league linemen: John Krmptic, Kenneth Smith, Eugene Johnston, and Robert Krga, co-captains.

THE PLAYER with the ball was stopped dead in his tracks.

TEAM members Ken Smith, Ted Koch, and Ray Preski made trouble for a Thornton man trying to score in last quarter.

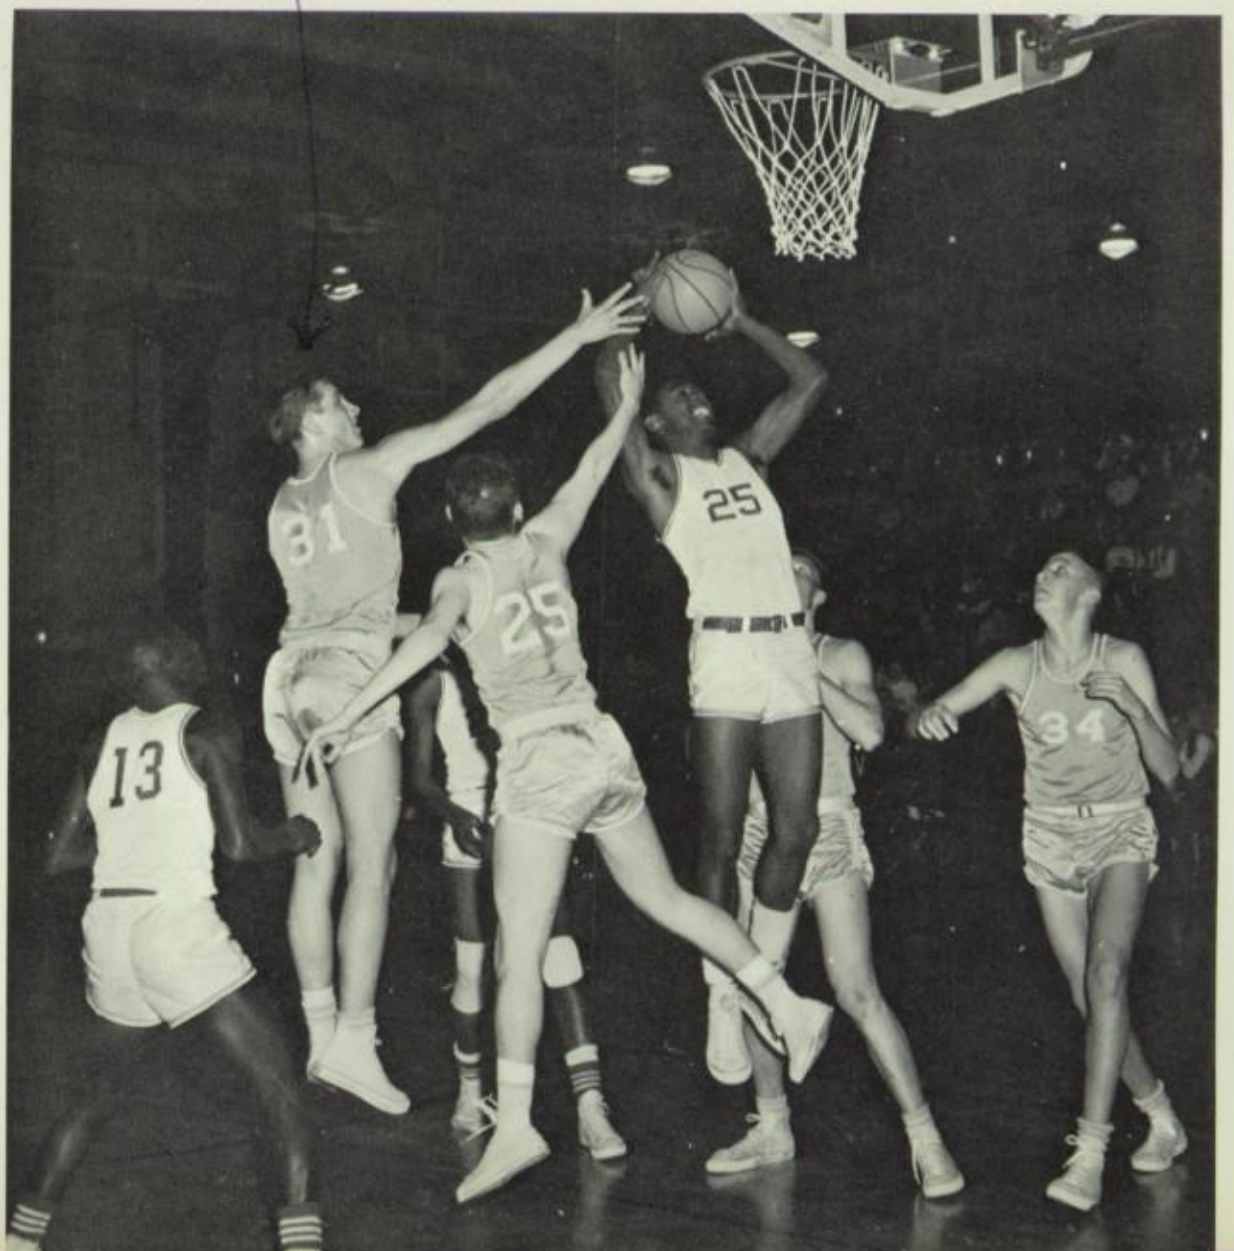

DRIVING around a Lockport defender, Dick Schmidt found himself on the way to score.

Non-Area Foes Found Falcons Tough Going

Led by five returning lettermen, the basketball team gave Thornridge audiences many exciting moments during the season. Although the team did not manage to better its league record of the previous year, it did attain seventh place in the South Suburban League, one of the state's most difficult leagues. Fouls and the lack of that final spurt of energy accounted for some of the heart-breaking losses. The Falcons, even in misfortune, managed to hold their own in contest with some of the highest state ranked competition.

In the team's initial encounter with Bloom, the Falcons staged a 14 point rally that exhibited the team's potential ability. In that game, the Trojans met a determined Falcon squad, functioning as a unit. The Falcon's encounter with Dwight D. Eisenhower revealed the team's ability under pressure. In a game that kept the crowd spellbound, the Falcons walked off the floor with a 54-52 overtime decision in their favor.

SURROUNDED by Homewood-Flossmoor players, John Wehling completed a successful lay-up shot.

CHEERS came from the sidelines as Ken Smith scored in the action-packed game with Joliet.

Varsity Team Triumphed In Holiday Tournament

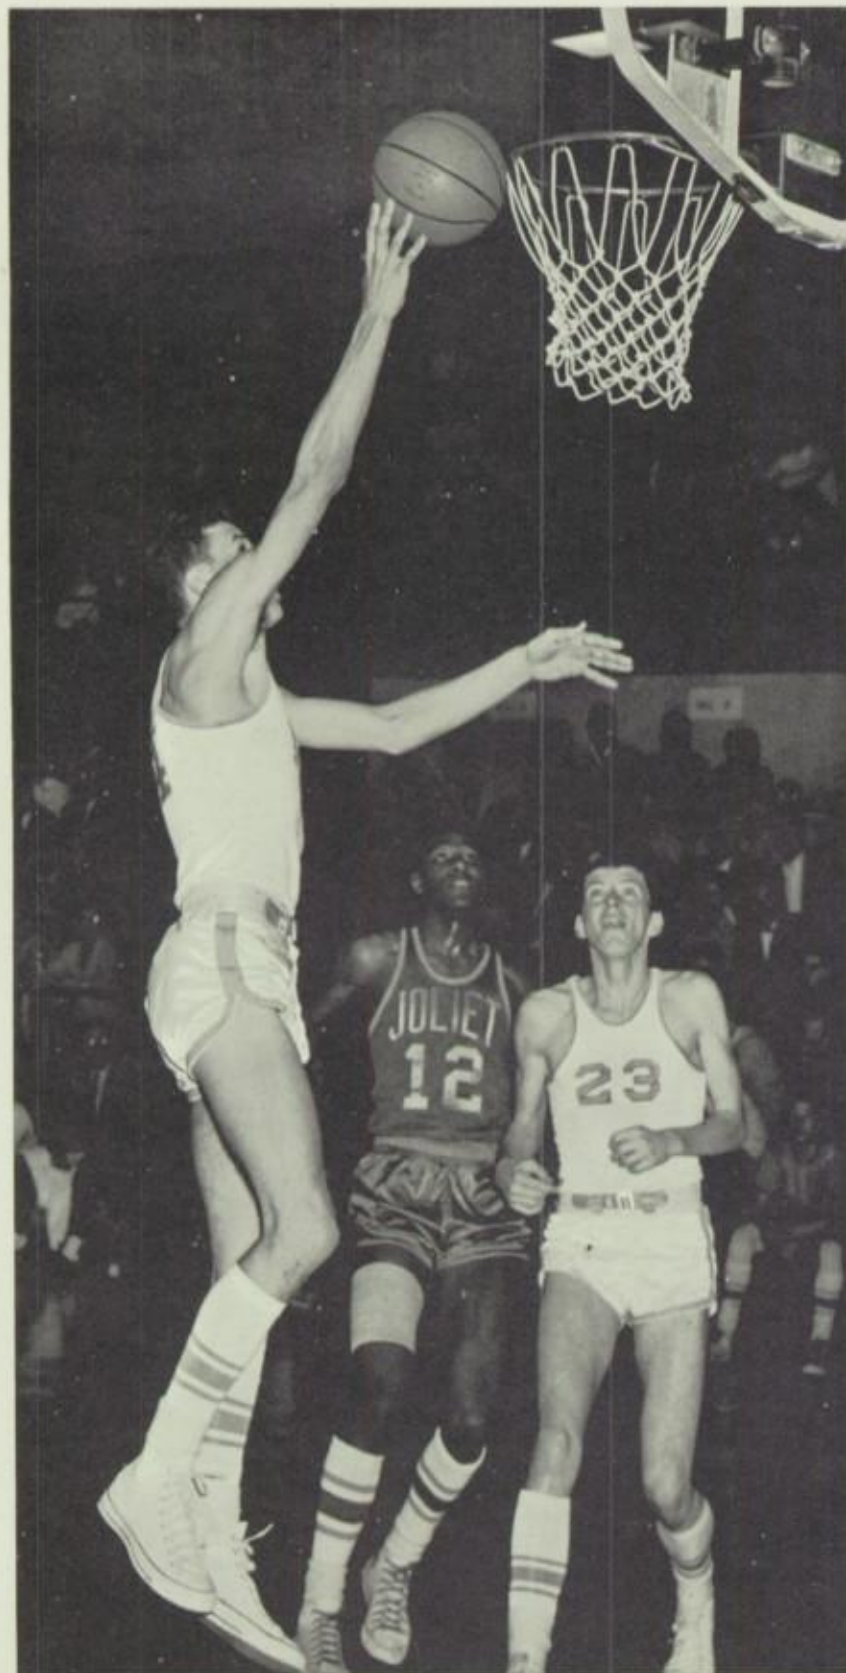

Always friendly rivals, the Thornton Wildcats provided the proverbial thorn in the side for this year's team. The Falcons had an advantage over the Cats in height, but Thornton proved more efficient ball handlers. The two encounters, in which Thornton emerged victorious, saw hard play and close competition. A record of four wins and ten losses did not put the Falcons down and out. Each encounter brought new experience; new experiences brought the chance for developing team skill and individual prowess.

Tournament play brought victory to the varsity team. Before holiday tournament crowds, the Falcons found success at the expense of Homewood-Flossmoor and Rich East. The high point of the tournament was the upset victory over the Southwest Suburban League champions, Homewood-Flossmoor. The Vikings, outclassed that night, fell to the Falcons' enthusiastic offensive play. The taste of victory spurred the team on to a triumph over Rich East the next night. In both of these games, determination proved an asset.

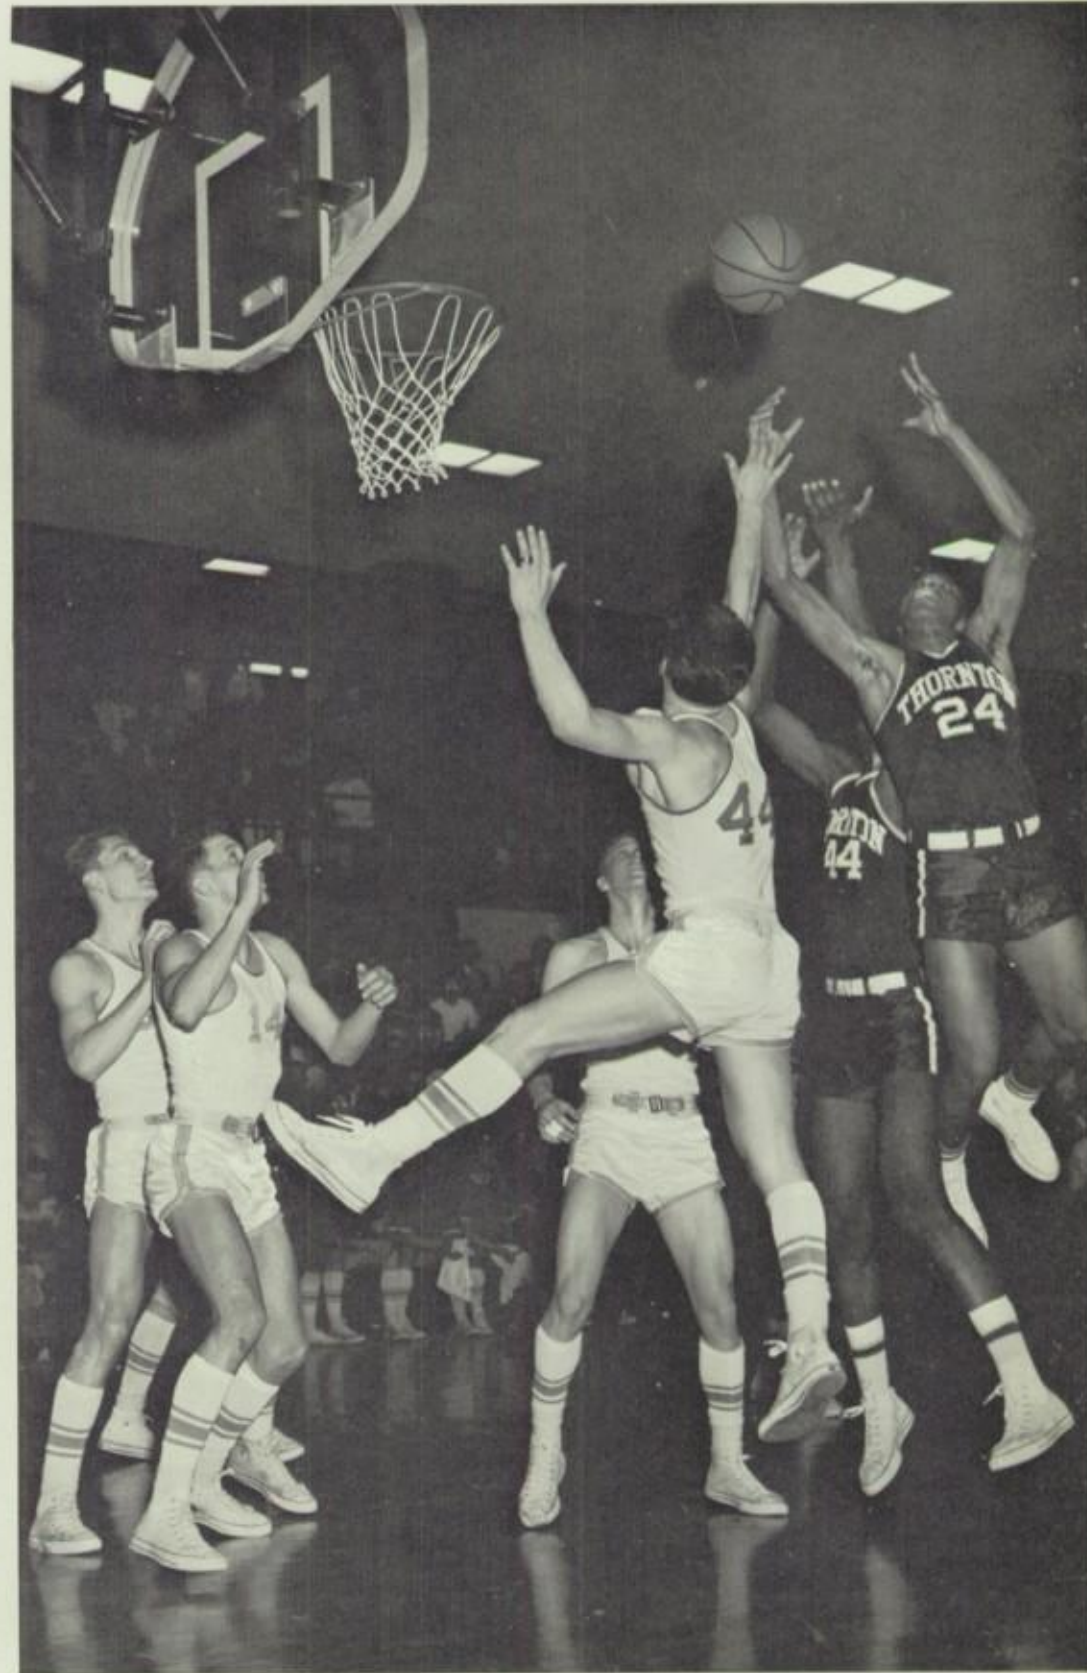

READY FOR PLAY, the varsity team agreed upon, "all for one and one for all."

REACHING the rim with ease, Ted Koch made two needed points in the Joliet game.

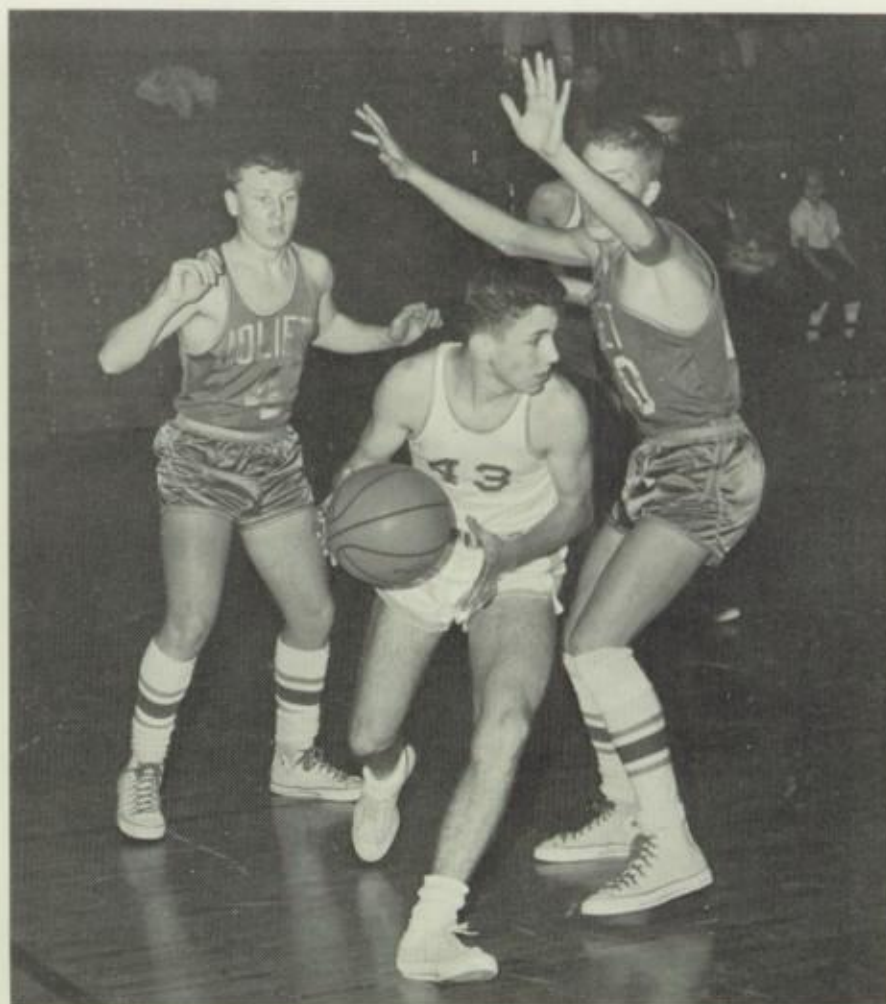

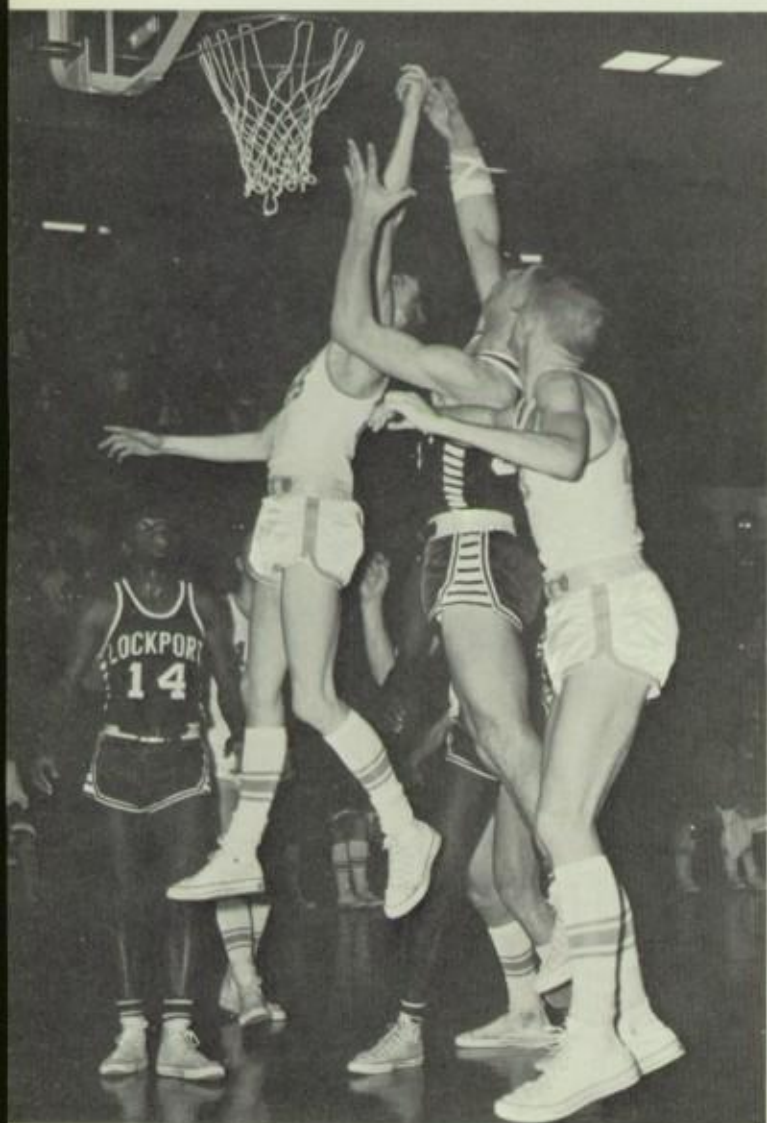

AFTER HALTING a rebound Dick Schmidt made a goal in a hard-fought game in Joliet.

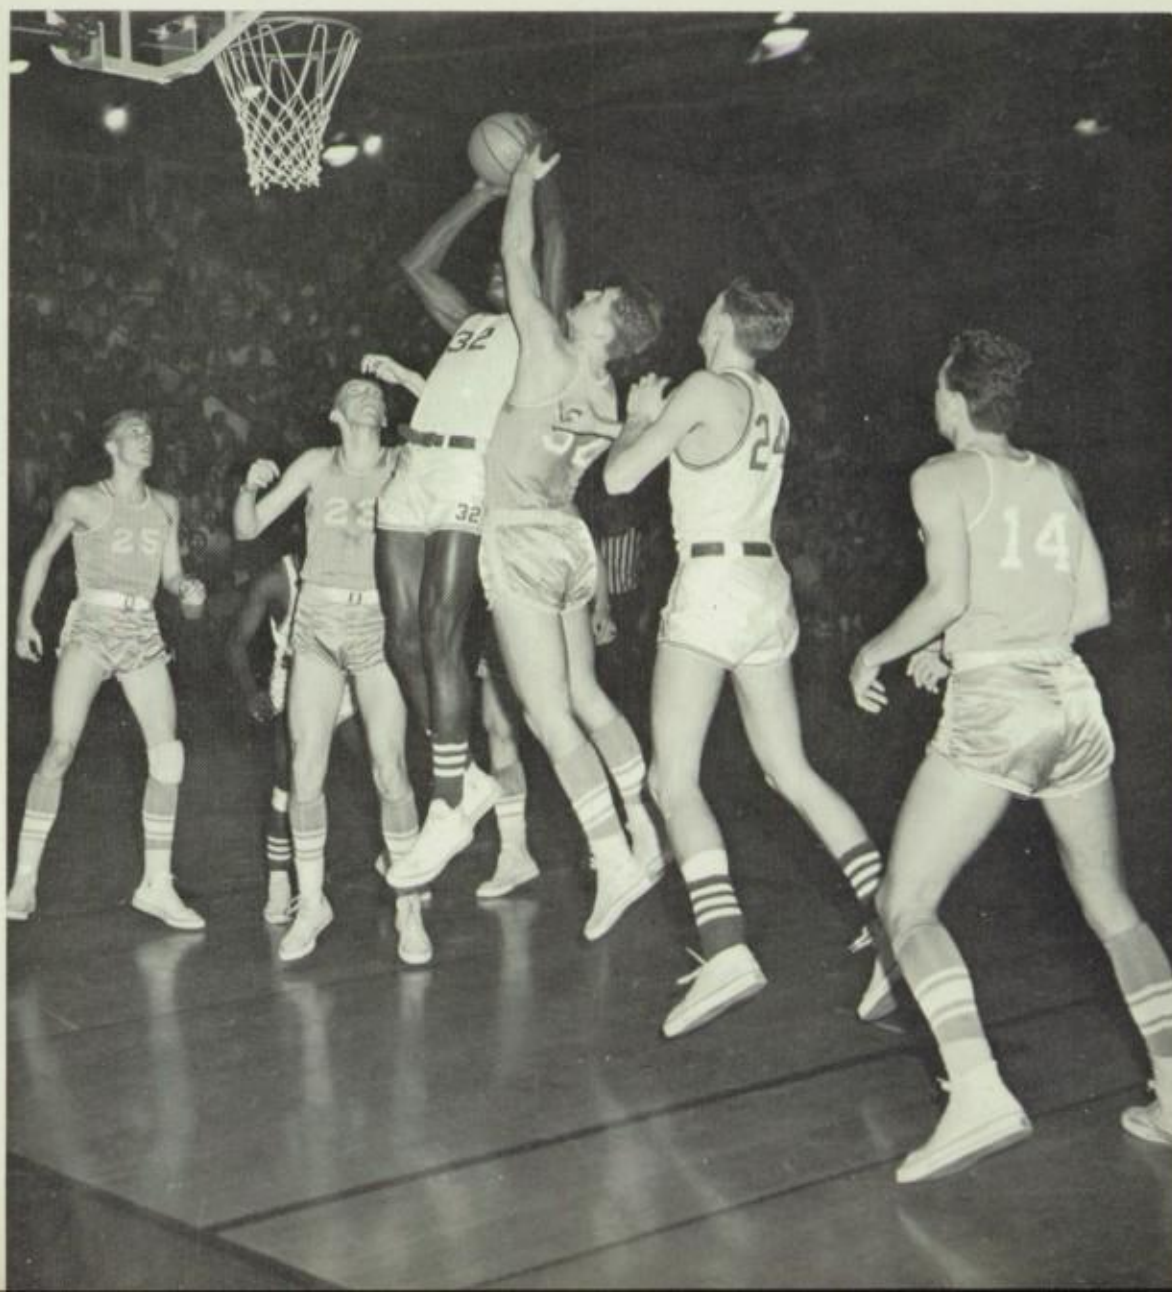

Falcons Met Strong Foes In League Battles

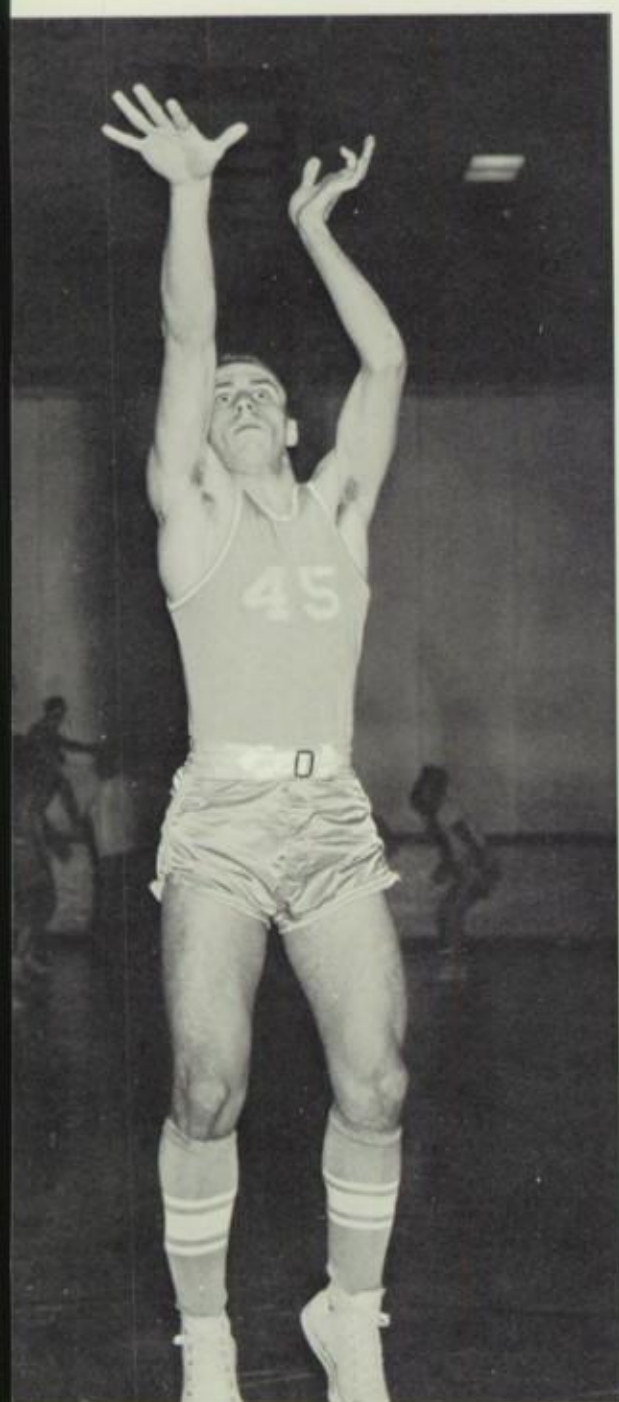

SCORING a basket, Scott Pearson contributed to the near win over Lockport.

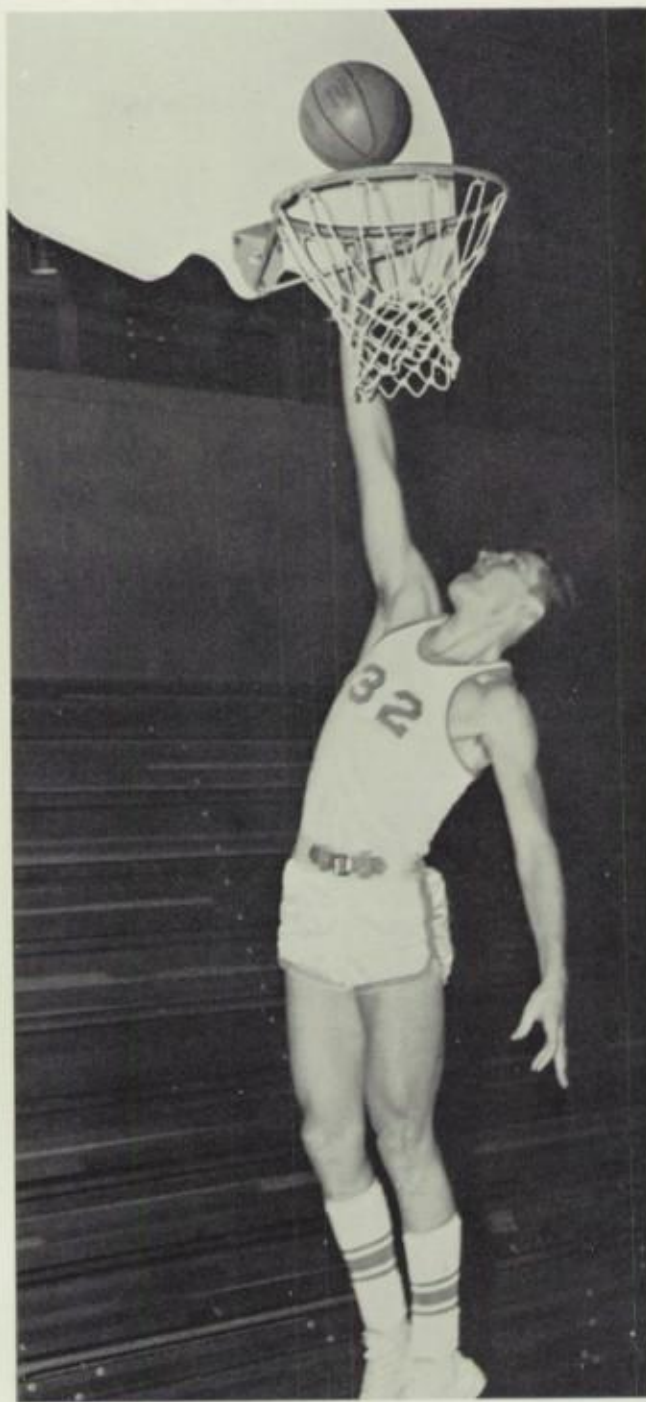

FIGHTING his way past Joliet defenders, Vic Vogel tried to get the ball downcourt to his teammates.

TEAM members were tense as Ken Smith tried to prevent Eisenhower's center from scoring.

The Falcons found themselves caught-up in one of the state's roughest leagues. Despite an excellent non-league record of 6 wins and one loss, the Falcons were on the wrong side of an 11-12 record in league play. However, despite this formidable opposition, a Falcon man, Ken Smith, was placed on the all-conference team. Dick Schmidt and Ted Koch each received an honorable mention for the same award.

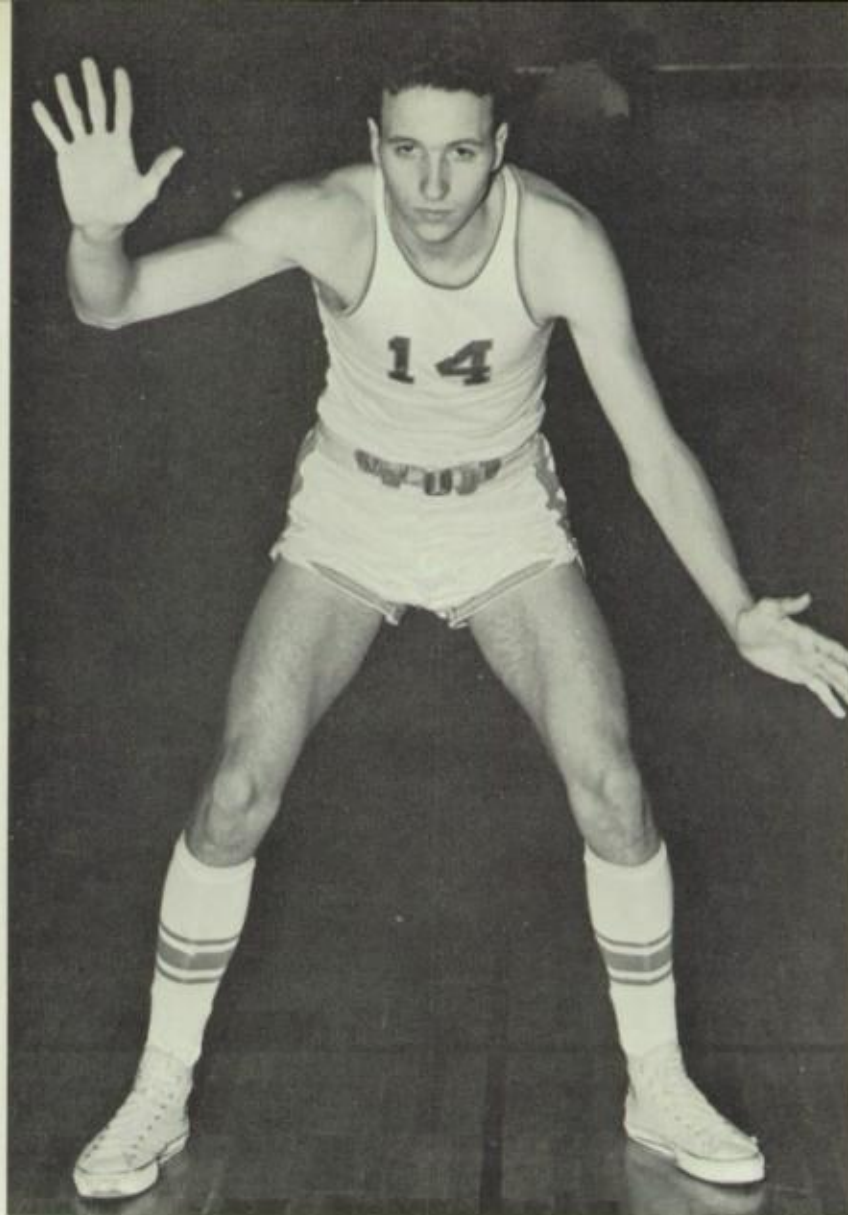

Team honors indicated the Falcons were much more than a "one man team." Top rebounder award went to Ken Smith with 216 rebounds for the season. John Wehling won top honors with 36 free throws, making a percentage of .692. Outstanding defensive player was Ted Koch. Dick Schmidt was chosen most valuable player by the team.

CLOSE-GUARDING by Fledglings, Richard Dooley and Jon Rau, frustrated Bloom attempts at scoring.

TONY HINCH, soph team captain, charged down the finishing alley for another first place.

The records of the cross country teams proved that Thornridge men have the stamina necessary for good performances in this sport. Sparked by the running of Phil Kaemerer, who set course records at Argo, Thornton, and Thornridge; Durham Monsma, who set a course record at Kankakee; and Tony Hinch, who set a course record for Thornridge; the teams ran with enthusiasm.

Cross country, a sport requiring endurance as well as speed, is scored by giving the first five runners from each team the same number of points as their place, therefore, the first place finisher receives one point and the second place finisher, two. The best score a team may accumulate is fifteen points.

Three times our "Roadrunners" received this minimum score when they defeated Argo, 15-50; St. Francis de Sales, 15-50; and Tinley Park, 15-50. They never yielded the same distinction to any other team. Their four defeats were dealt by Rich, Blue Island, Thornton, and Joliet, thus giving our varsity "Roadrunners" a won-loss ledger of 11-4. This record placed them third in the South Suburban League. They were also third in the District meet.

MIKE WITAK surged forward near the finish.

THEY'RE off! Each runner fought for position.

Seven Flying Fish Qualified for State

THE START of the 200 yard freestyle event showed Terry Kennedy and Mike Griffin sprinting against Homewood-Flossmoor swimmers.

The Flying Fish boasted new warm-up suits and swim suits at the beginning of their third season. A second pool gave the team more room to master their stroking skills. Girls were now frequently seen at meets. They timed the swimmers, and registered speed performances. By the end of the year, the Flying Fish had broken most of their previous records for speed and proficiency. They mowed down all area foes and lost only two dual meets to non-area foes. After winning the South Suburban League Championship for the third consecutive year, the Flying Fish again showed their mettle by sending seven individuals to state. This number was more than the total of swimmers sent in all previous years.

PHOTOGRAPHED at the peak of a commendable dive, Paige Pfeiffer brought in the needed points to conclude a close meet victoriously.

ENCOURAGEMENT from Holly Hemmingway gave Terry Kennedy new vigor.

CHECKING times, Mr. Sammons found team members interested in their performances.

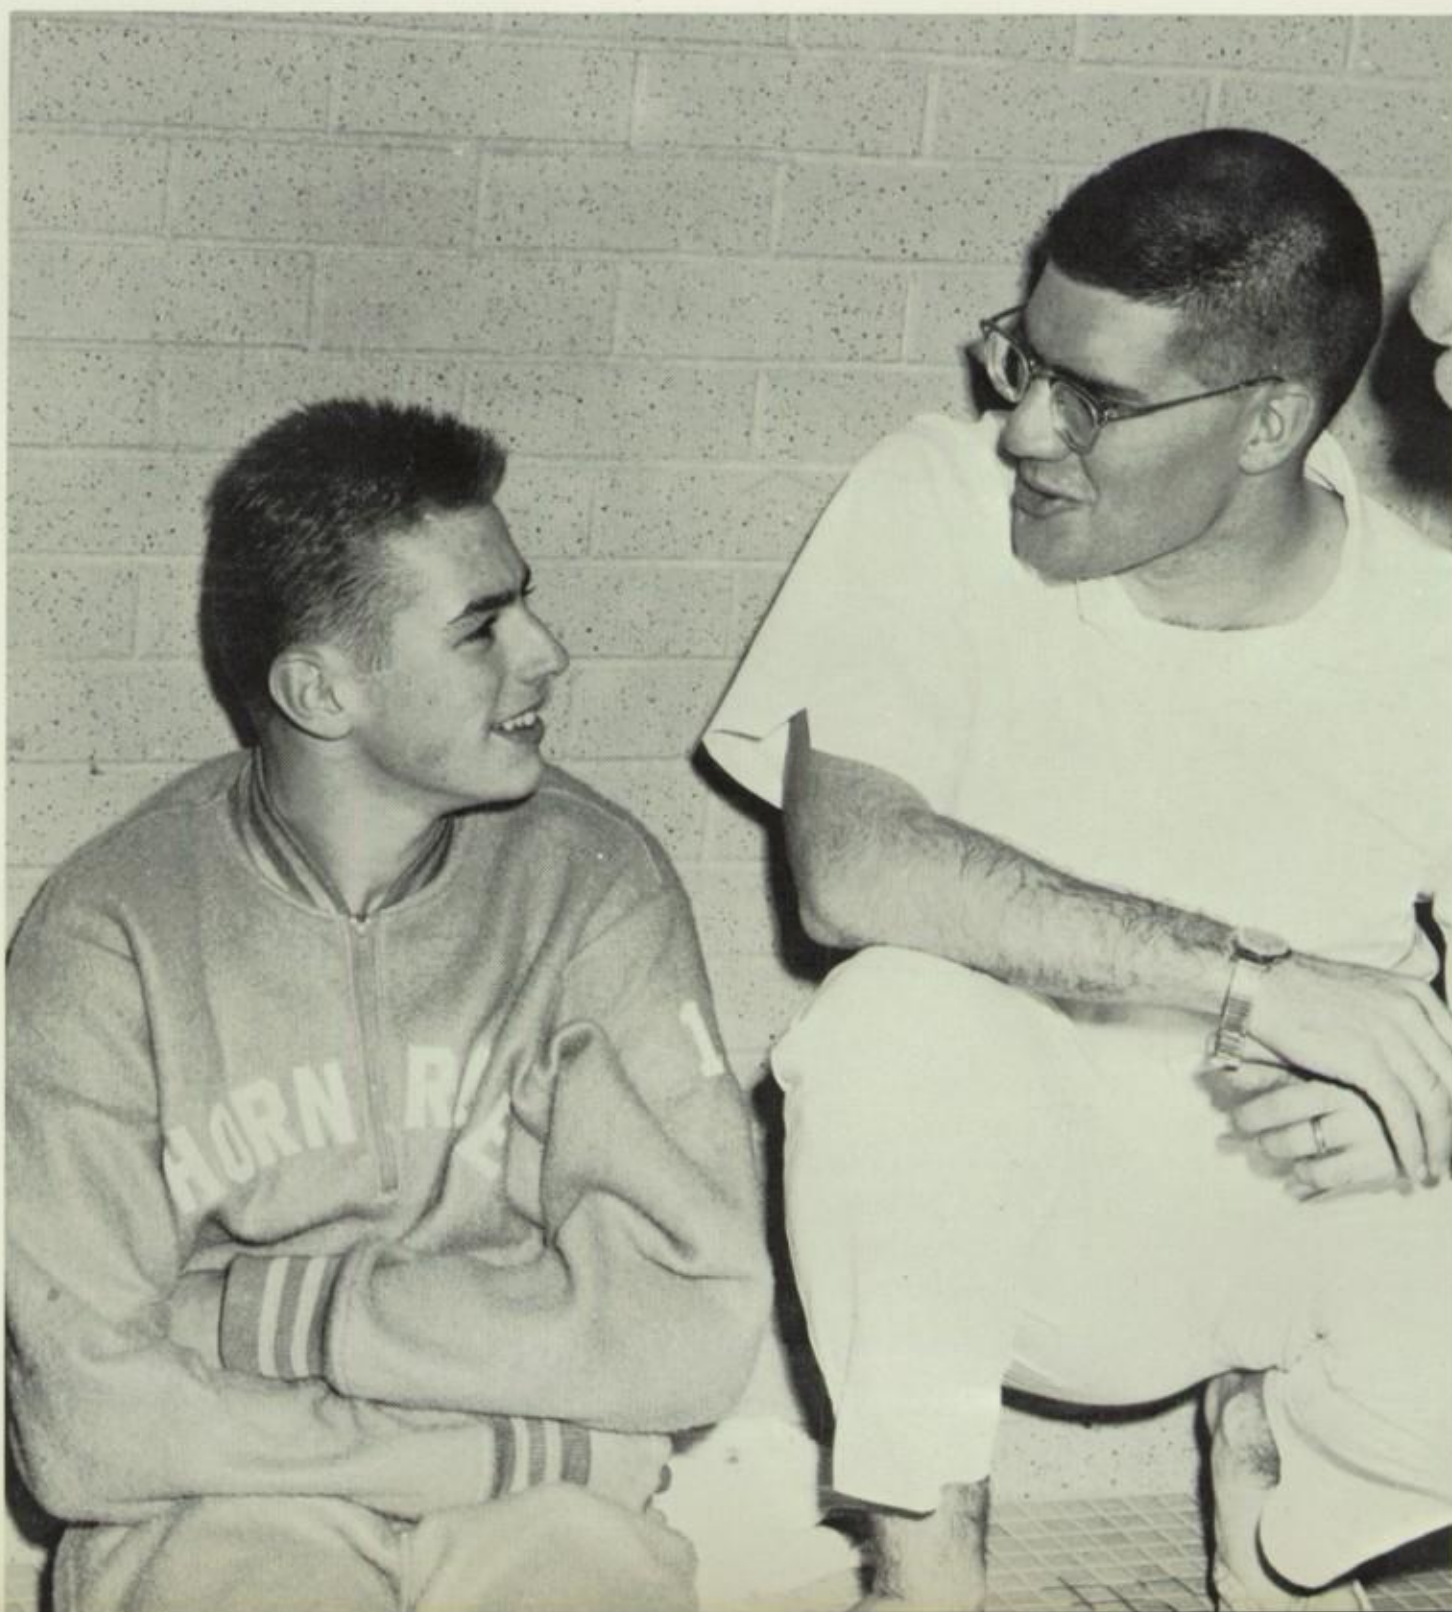

WAITING in position on the blocks, Pete Byvoets and captain Alan Johnston prepared to warm up prior to a meet with Argo.

Frosh-Soph Won First League Meet

The frosh-soph swimmers were able to accomplish a feat that had eluded them in previous years—winning the South Suburban League championship. Showing exceptional strength in the distance events, the frosh-soph Flying Fish also showed their depth by qualifying both of their relays and two swimmers from all events except the backstroke and breaststroke for the finals. The individual medley, always a strong event, held a surprise for everyone as Mike Spangler set a new team, pool, and league record at the same time.

This was the second time Thornridge fielded a freshman team in swimming. Led by captain Wally Van Dyke and swimmers Dennis Criner and Don Craig, the freshmen won all three of their dual meets. They beat the freshmen of Homewood-Flossmoor, Carl Sandburg, and Thornton, and placed eighth in the Glenbrook Freshman Invitational Meet.

MOVING like a human torpedo, back-stroker, Larry McFarlane, brought home another win for the Flying Fish.

CONFUCIOUS

Dr. J. D. Logsdon, Superintendent of District 205

Supt. Shared European Tour With Community

Dr. J. D. Logsdon, superintendent for Thornridge, Thornton, and Thornton Junior College, rendered the majority of his time to the students of District 205 by participating on various education committees during the past year. Even during the summer, Dr. Logsdon was devoted to his job. Sunny France was the scene of the meeting of the Atlantic Treaty Association where Dr. Logsdon presided as chairman of the education committee.

Dr. Logsdon has been a representative of many education organizations. With such experience to guide him, Dr. Logsdon worked diligently for the issuance of the needed school bond. This bond enabled expansion to continue at Thornton and Thornridge. The superintendent has had a busy year as usual, but he was a frequent visitor at the games, assemblies, plays, and other activities. During the school day, Dr. Logsdon was often seen in the school halls with a cheerful word and a smile for everyone.

Many of the problems of operating District 205 were solved with the passage of the bond issue, correlated and promoted by the Board of Education. Meeting monthly, the board considered difficulties met in operating District 205 schools smoothly and efficiently.

The counsels, the school attorney, Mr. Evans, and the township treasurer, Mr. Waldschmidt, added their experience to the operations of District 205. By interpreting legal matters and authorizing payments from township funds, the counsels were active in school administration activities.

COUNSELS: Mr. Burton Evans, school attorney, and Mr. A. F. Waldschmidt, township treasurer.

SCHOOL BOARD AND COUNSELS

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Mr. Robert H. Reese, Mr. Harold J. Gouwens, Mr. Louis Boudreau, Mr. Henry Vandenberg, president, Mrs. Robert Pebworth, Mr. Harold G. Griener, Mr. James T. Ozment.

Principal Saw C Building As Progress Sign

During the past year Mr. Harold C. Sutter, principal of Thornridge, attended meeting, after meeting, after meeting. Included among his activities were sessions with various school organizations to provide guidance in planning self-improvement on the part of the student. Mr. Sutter also was present at faculty meetings, Parent and Teacher Association meetings, community meetings, and scores of others.

Added to his schedule this year were plans for the construction of "C" building. With these responsibilities pressing upon him, Mr. Sutter still found time to speak to the student body on numerous occasions. He will be remembered for his heroic portrayal of Othello at a choral assembly. With dedication and devotion Mr. Sutter strove for a program coordinating academic and extra-curricular activities at Thornridge.

BUILDING DEPARTMENT, BUSINESS MANAGER

The building and grounds crews were busy keeping Thornridge clean and neat. While the grounds crew cared for our campus, the building crew kept the inside of our school in running order. Men in the boiler room "kept the home fires burning" during the long, cold winter.

Not only did the building and grounds crews keep Thornridge livable, but they also assisted the students in preparing for the many social events. Through the efforts of this able staff, Thornridge was a pleasant place in which to learn.

Making purchases and handling arrangements for all school expenditures at Thornton and Thornridge, the business manager's office was kept humming with activity. In addition to purchasing, this office handled financial statements for all school organizations and athletic events and also operated the bookstore where students purchased supplies and other educational materials. Working behind the scenes, the business office helped keep our schools on a sound financial footing, well supplied with materials necessary for learning.

SENIOR CLASS

The seniors made their year one of hard work and fulfillment. Besides carrying their extra curricular activities and school courses, the seniors took on new activities. Throughout the year various tests, including the ACT and CEB, were given to college bound students. College admissions counselors, representatives from the armed forces, and various employment services were at school to help seniors make their plans for the future.

In addition to organizing the prom with the juniors and leading clubs and activities, the seniors put on the senior assembly in January, exhibiting the talents of the senior class, and another senior assembly in the late spring, consisting of the class will and prophecy. Undoubtedly, the most important event in the lives of the seniors was the day they completed their studies and received their diplomas. This event signified the close of one phase of life, but the beginning of another, even more challenging. For the seniors this day meant good-bye high school—hello world.

COLLEGE NIGHT brought seniors and their parents into closer touch with their futures.

Seniors Devoted Talents And Time for Assemblies And Graduation

WITH EYES closed and courage high Claudia Tabernacki smashed a whipped cream pie against the face of Gwenn Dacus.

WRESTLERS, Ken Foster, Bob Paarlberg, John Bruggeman, Hal Boomsma, Dale Wheeler, and Nick Samargis, portrayed June Taylor Dancers in plaid Lassie uniforms at the senior talent assembly.

SENIORS, Bernie Kastory and Sandra Short, shared their European tour, sponsored by the American Field Service, with Thornridge by showing slides.

CONGRATULATIONS and a hearty handshake by Dr. J. D. Logsdon to George Prater signified the ending of commencement exercises.

Having earned the status of upper classmen, the juniors prepared themselves for future responsibilities by accepting posts as officers and leaders in various clubs and activities. A testing program, including Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests, National Merit Scholarship Tests, and Illinois State Wide Tests, aided juniors in realizing their abilities and planning their futures. Juniors attended college nights during the year to get an idea of prospective colleges. The juniors were challenged with new experiences as they progressed through the year.

Class rings, ordered early in the year, were eagerly awaited and immediately accepted as status symbols. Their first prom highlighted the year's activities for the juniors. Successes were measured as individuals were chosen to act as graduation ushers and were elected to National Honor Society.

One of the most important events of the sophomore year was the planning of each student's high school curriculum for the next two years. Directed closely by the guidance counselor, each student considered the courses he would take to develop his talents and interests. Each student had a personal interview with the counselor and was welcomed in the counselor's office with any problems. The sophomore class was not as intent on college preparation as were the upperclassmen, but their curiosity was kindled as they started to plan ahead.

The sophomores, eligible to hold offices in various clubs, became an integral part of high school society. The boys of the sophomore class were trained to be the nucleus of our future varsity squads. Cooperating with the freshmen, the sophomores organized the annual Frosh-Soph Party. The sophomore year was another step ahead. It was a year of anticipation and preparation.

When a freshman entered Thornridge, he found himself very much a part of a new life governed by a monotone bell that rang at intervals to announce the beginning and end of classes. With the various courses offered to them, the freshmen also faced a new challenge in learning. Confusion and mayhem composed the state most "freshies" were in for those first few days. The SCOT and Girls Club welcoming events, "Operation Freshmen" and "The Big and Little Sister Tea" acquainted them with the students, the school, and some of the activities to be found in their new environment.

In late spring, freshmen together with the sophomores organized the Frosh-Soph party. By the end of the term, the freshmen were able to look back over a successful year. No longer will they have to answer to the hated term "freshie." This first year in high school was a once in a lifetime experience for these freshmen, one to be remembered as an important step in the process of learning and maturing.

Lois,

To my favorite keeper of my money,
To a girl who is as sweet as honey,
To the girl who is the best at that our Chorus has got.

To a sweet kid that I like alot.

Love,
Leanne '99

Forget that wonderful night!
Herman Cole.

Dear Lois,
Good luck
and best wishes with future. Love,
Francine
Green

No. 1,
Good luck in Geometry and when you graduate tell me what it means.
Marilyn

Lois
Good luck for the next 3, 4, 5, 6 - well, whenever you get out of school.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Our gratitude goes to the staff members who were responsible for producing the 1963 PIPER. We would also like to thank Mr. Norb Domke and Mrs. Marge Brooks of Root Studio for providing all the numerous pictures necessary to fill a yearbook. Along with a thank you to Root Studio photographers, we thank Tom Renner and the Photographic Society of Thornridge for pictures to complete our photo essay. We are sincerely grateful to Mr. Ed Hackleman, Foote & Davies representative, for his help throughout the year. Art work on the divider pages was provided by Jim Byrne and Doug Kragness. The general layout of the book was the work of Mr. Ralph VanDyke.

Lois,
There isn't much
I can say because I've said it before. You're like a sister to me and believe me
I love it. Our friendship has gone on for a long time and I hope it goes on in the years to come. You're just great to know!
Stay sweet.

Love always,
Linda
Lois your a real good "kid" and a lot of fun. Keep flirtin with Mr. Lambert, maybe you'll get him. Lots of luck in the coming years.
Love n' stuff,
Debbie DeYoung

Lois.
Dear Alias Harry,
Oh Darn I'm speechless. Oh I guess I'll just mention the good things. See this is the 7th year
I've been stuck with
you. But don't misunderstand
I've enjoyed every second well maybe every minute

Lois
You a nice girl and I hope you have the best of luck in the remaining years at Chornridge.
Skip

P.S. This summer, to help me with hassles, I hanks
for helping me before.

Lois,
So one of the sweetest
kid I know.
(I mean) Good luck in all it you do. Love
Gorky

I've
also been real nice knowing you a long time in Chornridge hope this year. I again with you that's all
Dante a Down

Dear Chloe,
I could start
by saying how sweet
you are and what a nice kid you are, but I won't, cause you already know all this. (SAY IT ANYWAY)
You're a Sweet Kid and you better stay that way "cause
I said so. From a fellow "Lassie"
Cat
P.S. forget it. (Lubbers)

Dear Lois,
Wasn't it fun in English and Soc. Stu? Wasn't Mr.
Watkins a riot? Have fun
being a lassie next year.
Best of luck always
Love ya,
Bonnie

Dear Chlois,
Even though we haven't been in class together, we've still managed to be good friends.
So it can be done. I hope we can do the same next year. (be good buddies) Always

Always,

Jackie

Dear Lois,

I've only met you this year
but it's been so very nice knowing you. We had lunch together and I sure had a lot of laughs lets not forget those tears the last couple of school days.
Stay just as sweet as you are today. Be Good and have fun in your future years at Thornridge.

Love,
